Notes for Myndert Johannes WEMPLE: Myndert Wemple, first child of Johannes Wemple, apparently lived his early life at Schenectady. At some time he moved to Baltimore, Md. and became a sea captain. Thus far no information has surfaced about the wife he married in that area, Sarah Mills. They had four children, of whom the last was Andrew, born about 1739 in Maryland. Records seem to indicate the family returned to Schenectady about 1739. Myndert died at some time before 1748 and bequeathed his lot in Schenectady to two grandsons. He was graduated from Union College in the Class of 1816, with Phi Beta Kappa rank, and later received the degree of Master of Arts. He then entered into the profession of Counsellor-at-Law. He wrote, investigated and preserved many valuable articles on the early history of the city and county which became the foundation for their published history. It was also during this time that he was responsible for obtaining pensions for county men, who served in the Revolutionary War, representing them and writing to the necessary military entities, thereby establishing the records necessary for the application of pensions. He was very successful in this endeavor. He was an artist, painting the Old Dutch Church as well as other scenes. He designed Masonic aprons. He was an archaeologist, philosopher and adept in the occult sciences. He indicated the Masonic calendar, as we know it, establishing the dates from the Jewish calendar. He was a prolific author and poet, submitting many articles for publication to Brother Cornelius Moore for the Masonic Review. He had no equal in the science of Masonic archaeology. When he could no longer sustain himself with legal work in Schenectady, for he never married; he served the Naval Department, eventually leaving the area for New York City, where he died on December 13, 1859. http://aasrnys.blogspot.com/2010/01/giles-fonda-yates-forgotten-masonic.html] >>

Notes for Neeltje Eleanor "Lavina" BRIESE: bur. Caughnawaga Cemetery, Fonda, Montgomery Co., NY; d/o Hendrick Bries and Wyntje VanVechten; 1800 US Federal Census, Johnstown, Fulton Co., NY; Neeltje is the g-g-granddaughter of the infamous Anneke Jans (1605-1663), who emigrated to New Amsterdam with her 1st husband, Roelof Janszen, on the ship "de Eendtacht" (The Unity) in 1630. Anneke was allegedly the granddaughter of William the Silent - (William I, Prince of Orange, 1533-1584 the father of the Dutch Republic). Both Anneke and Roelof were Norwegians by birth, but may have been of Dutch ancestry. They remained in New Amsterdam for a short time and then moved to Rensselaerwyck, on the Hudson, where Jan served as a farm superintendent for the wealthy Killian VanRensselaer, a Director of the West Indies Company. In 1634, they moved back to New Amsterdam where Jan received a grant of 62 acres of land on the North (or Hudson) River, which is now Manhattan Island. After Jan's death in 1637, Anneke married the Domine Everardus Bogardus (the Latinized form of Bogaert) in 1638. Bogardus died in 1647 and in 1657, Anneke moved to Beverwyck (Albany), NY. She died in 1663 and is buried in the Middle Dutch Church Yard on Beaver Street, Albany, Albany Co., NY. Harper's Magazine in May 1885 had a very full and interesting account of Anneke Jans' farm on the Hudson (known as "Domine's Bouwery"), which became the property of Trinity Church causing a huge land dispute, finally dismissed in the 1920's.; [R002] Pearson's First Settlers of the Ancient County of Albany; [R041] Fonda Family History; [R063] Hudson-Mohawk Genealogical and Family Memoirs; [R102] Genealogical and Family History of Southern New York and the Hudson River Valley >> www.fonda.org <<

When she was part way across, she experienced some difficulty and two young men on their way to Albany with a load of furs, came to her assistance. The men were Werden and John Hammond of Utica, surveyors and merchants, they having made the first survey of Utica. Werden was so pleased with the charming lady, that he called on his way home, and after a proper, though short courtship, they were married and took up their abode in the still unfinished Jellis Fonda mansion on the hill. Werden Hammond finished the house and all the Hammond children were born in it. Jane Fonda, daughter of Mrs. Hammond and her first husband, Henry Fonda, was married to Abram A. VanHorne while she lived in this beautiful home. Mrs. VanHorne being the grandmother of Miss Hannah VanHorne and brothers, Abram and John. After the death of Werden Hammond, his widow removed to the home in Caughnawaga. Her sons C. Y. and Henry F. laid out and gave to the village the beautiful cemetery, known as the Caughnawaga Cemetery. In 1837 C. Y. Hammond was town clerk, the first one in the town. On the north side of the street just opposite the Hammond property, was the old Caughnawaga church and parsonage. The church was built in 1763 by the patronage, principally, of Sir William Johnson, the Wemple, Fonda, Veeder and Vrooman families, and the reason it was spared when Sir John Johnson raided the town, in 1780, was because the ground had been a part of the Butler grant]; [R038a] The Fonda Family; [NYG&B] Record 56:393 >> www.fonda.org <<

Mr. Waite has been in poor health for some time, being afflicted with heart trouble. He had a severe attack on Tuesday but recovered so that he was able to be around the house and yard, although very weak. The severe electrical storm Wednesday afternoon was very oppressive to him and after the rain he went out into his garden for relief in the fresh air. He returned to the house in a few minutes complaining of severe pain and before a physician could be called passed away. Charles N. Waite was born Brookfield, Madison county, Nov. 27, 1818, being one of a family of ten children. He came to Baldwinsville nearly thirty years ago and has since resided here. He was married Sept. 7, 1848, to Irena Fonda, the death of Mrs. Waite January 10, 1901, severing a home companionship of over fifty years. Mr. Waite possessed a happy disposition and was a lover of nature, his keenest pleasure being derived from roaming the woods and fields. A keen observer, his store of knowledge pertaining to woodcraft was apparently inexhaustible and was the source of sure information to all of like interests. He is survived by one daughter, Orissa Waite of this place, who has the sympathy of many in her bereavement. Funeral services will be held at his late home on Salina street Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. E. A. McMaster conducting the service. Burial will be in Riverview cemetery. i. Mercy Rice FONDA, born 15 Oct 1808, in New York, USA, died 25 Nov 1887, buried in Fairview Cemetery, Canton, St. Lawrence Co., NY. She married John Wheaton BULLIS. John Wheaton BULLIS was born 22 Jun 1807, in New York, USA, died 23 Mar 1884, buried in Fairview Cemetery, Canton, St. Lawrence Co., NY.

Notes for Mercy Rice FONDA and John Wheaton BULLIS: [Henry Bullis (son) died unexpectedly Friday night, as the result of a slight cold, aged ninety-nine years, eight months and eight days. He was very near the century mark. And thus he passed from our community, not only a very aged man, but a man who was all his business life a strong figure in Canton. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at three and the burial was in Fairview, the cemetery that Mr. Bullis took a leading part in securing for Canton. (...) Mr. Bullis was born in Plattsburg. His father was John W. Bullis and his mother Mary Ann Fonda Bullis. The family then consisted of the father and mother and three children, Fonda, Henry and Mercy Ann. It was in 1841 that the parents decided to trek through the great wilderness in New York state to the Valley of the St. Lawrence, for they had heard of its fertility and virgin soil and they had within them the souls of the pioneers, and in those days to move from Plattsburgh to this valley was literally going into the west. And so the family started, loading the household goods into a wagon that was drawn by oxen, and gathering together such stock as could stand the long trip. It was after a long and hard journey that they finally arrived at their destination. Canton, but on the way, at Malone, Mercy Ann had been taken sick and so the mother stayed at Malone, as did Henry, while his father and elder brother, Fonda, came on to their destination. When Mercy Ann had sufficiently recovered to travel the father went to Malone and brought the rest of his family here and they were reunited. (...) Some potential employers require submission of a portfolio and resume prior to the interview, depending on the nature of the open position. months. About twenty years ago Lanier and his father and brother were traveling in the Chihuahua Mountains, and camped on the reservation of the Chihuahua and Apache Indians. A member of the tribe showed the Laniers a number of gold nuggets, and directed them to the spot from which the wealth was obtained, and worked it for a few weeks, taking out several hundred dollars worth of gold with pick and shovel. The Indians one day made a raid on their camp and killed one of the brothers, and took the other brother and father prisoners. The two survivors were released upon promise to leave the reservation immediately. The father of the boys drew a diagram of the location of the mine, which he kept in his possession until a few months ago, when he died. His son immediately fitted out an expedition in Texas to search for the lost mine, and found it without any difficulty.

res. Midland, TX; [Forensic exam shows Texas woman committed suicide in Cherokee County by burning herself Updated: May 29, 2015, By Jordan Aubey, Reporter News release by CheroShannon Fondakee County Sheriff's Office - The Cherokee County Sheriff's Office and Kansas Bureau of Investigation have been investigating the death of 35 year-old Shannon Fonda since her body was discovered near Scammon on March 23rd, 2015. After identifying Ms. Fonda, investigators made contact with her family in Texas, and learned it was not uncommon for her to leave home without notice for periods of time. During the course of the investigation, detectives conducted numerous interviews documenting Ms. Fonda's departure from Midland, Texas on March 14, 2015. Based upon those interviews, surveillance video from several establishments Ms. Fonda stopped at along the way and financial records, authorities know that Ms. Fonda was traveling alone and ran out of money leaving her stranded in Cherokee County. An autopsy on Ms. Fonda was conducted in Kansas City and it was noted that while she had non-life threatening cuts, which were consistent with self-inflicted injuries, her death was caused by severe burns to 90% of her body. Crime Scene Investigators collected numerous items at the scene and DNA testing along with other forensic examinations were conducted. All testing, including DNA analysis on the gas can at the scene, showed Ms. Fonda was the only one who handled the gas can. As a result of the investigation, Ms. Fonda's death is being ruled a suicide.] >> www.fonda.org <<

The document was witnessed by Lenton Hicks and Ebenezer Fitch and Eli Smith recorded it April 6, 1813. [Couple brawl with 1-year-old in car, then crash into oncoming traffic - December 14, 2010 - Middletown, CT - A city couple was arrested Monday after a fight in their car apparently caused an accident on Washington Street. Stephanie Ramirez, 29, allegedly scratched and kicked at her boyfriend while he drove eastbound on Washington Street. As a result of the assault, he swerved into oncoming traffic and crashed into another vehicle, police said. The crash occurred near Butternut Street around 5 p.m., police said, and there were no reported injuries. Ramirez was charged with disorderly conduct and third-degree assault. She was also charged with risk of injury to a minor because the couple’s 1-year-old child was in the back of the car in a car seat, police said. Ramirez told police her live-in boyfriend, David Fonda, 27, had punched her, but police found no evidence of her having been hit, according to the arrest report. Fonda was charged with disorderly conduct and interfering with an officer after he became disruptive when he found out Ramirez was being arrested. The couple was arraigned Tuesday afternoon in Middletown Superior Court. Judge Lisa Morgan issued a partial protective order between the couple and ordered they cooperate with the Department of Children and Families. The couple has been in trouble with the law before. Ramirez was arrested on numerous counts of forgery, larceny and conspiracy charges in December of 2009. The charges stem from incidents that took place in late spring and early summer when she and Fonda cashed checks Fonda had stolen from his employer, police said. Clinton police began an investigation after the victims noticed abnormalities in their checking account and called authorities. Police were able to identify Fonda and Ramirez because they used their own IDs to cash the stolen checks, police said. Fonda was also charged and received 60 days in jail, according to court records. Ramirez’s cases are pending.

[Convicted felon charged with assault in Middletown - Friday, June 24, 2011 - Middletown, CT - A convicted felon was taken into custody Tuesday after an encounter with a woman who he is legally barred from having contact with. Police had to force their way into an apartment on William Street after a caller told police they heard a female crying and saying, "get off of me." Officers found the suspect, 27-year-old David Fonda, in a locked room along with the victim and their young child. Fonda would later tell police he attempted to keep police out of the apartment because he knew he was in violation of a protective order and would be arrested. The victim refused to give police a statement but did say Fonda had grabbed her arm and wouldn't get away from her. A witness told police he heard the victim say her arm was hurting and later heard her crying. Police said the woman's arm showed various bruises. Fonda was charged with disorderly conduct, violation of a protective order and interfering with police. Fonda was charged with third-degree assault, risk of injury to a minor and breach of peace, in May, following a disturbance outside his home. A woman told police that Fonda punched and pushed her. Fonda's girlfriend tried to break up the fight while holding a one-year-old child, police said. Fonda reportedly kept pushing his girlfriend in an attempt to get to the victim, according to the arrest report. Fonda was also arrested this past December for fighting with his girlfriend while driving as a young child was in the back of the car, police said. The suspect is free on $25,000 bond and returns to Middletown Superior Court July 13, at which time he is expected to plead to the latest charges. Fonda has more than 10 convictions for various crimes including credit card theft, reckless driving, drug possession, failure to appear in court and probation violation. He was most recently sentenced to 60 days in jail following a conviction for forgery in December of 2009, according to court records.

[New Britain, Conn. (WTNH) - Jun 1, 2021 - Missing 4-year-old boy from Middletown found safe; adults involved in police custody for unrelated charges - A missing boy from Middletown is now safe after an Amber Alert investigation Tuesday. The two adults police say are responsible for the boy's brief disappearance are now in custody, but not for charges stemming from the Amber Alert. Middletown Police were alerted around 3:20 p.m. Tuesday that 4-year-old Armel Muhammed was missing. The child had last been seen in New Britain around 9 p.m. Monday. His mother told police he is autistic and that that added to her concern. Armel was left in the care of his uncle, Mario Jenkins. Jenkins left for work and left the child in the care of a family friend, later identified as Stephanie Michelle Fonda, 39. According to police, Fonda took Jenkins’ vehicle a blue 2010 Chevy Malibu without permission. It was believed that Fonda was with her husband, David Fonda, 37. Police put out an Amber Alert for the 4-year-old boy and a 39-year-old woman a short time later. David and Stephanie Fonda are both in police custody at this time. The city of New Britain told News 8 that the New Britain police department will not be charging the Fondas at this time. Police are still determining if any illegal activity took place in the city. Stephanie Fonda is being held in Rocky Hill police custody, and David Fonda in Wethersfield police custody, both due to outstanding warrants from those towns unrelated to Tuesday’s incident.]

res. NE; age 19, father is Herbert Fonda, husband Clarence (per story below) >> www.fonda.org <<

This could be a fictional story: [The Wife's Money - By Mrs. Eva Leonard - "Oh! Herbert" was all Mrs. Fonda said as she handed her husband a letter. She was very pale, and her eyes were red. He opened it and read: "Dear Mother - I know that what I am doing will give you and father pain, but I cannot help it I have tried, God knows I have tried, to make you understand my position, but I have utterly failed, and I simply cannot live as I have been living any longer "Four years ago I wanted an allowance I wanted to be independent, but rather would not listen, and you were indifferent. I surely did my part in the home. I helped with the work and did all the children's sewing, yet I never had any money of my own. I had to ask for everything. I did all the shopping for you and the children, but my heart sank every time a shopping trip was necessary, for try as I would I could not please you, and we were sure to have a stormy scene. "You thought I paid too much for everything, and I, driven to desperation, told you to do your own buying. Why you would not I never could see. In short, your attitude on the money question made me prefer to go without anything rather than ask for it. I never had what the other girls had. If we could not have afforded those things I would have been all right, but we are not poor. "I married Clarence last night and we are on the way to our new home. I was sure you would object to the marriage on account of my youth if for no other reason, and scenes are distressing to me. So we went quietly to the minister's from Ella's house and then took the train. You may be sure of one thing. I have made it very plain to Clarence that I must have money of my own to spend unquestioned. He is going to give up part of his salary and we shall divide the expenses. I hope now that we are separated that we can better understand one another. Kiss the dear children for me and forgive... Your daughter, Clara - Mr. Fonda laid the letter on the table took off his coat and hung it in the hall then came and sat down by his wife, who was crying softly. Poor little girl, she sobbed, to think I could be so blind "I can remember her leaving the table in tears because I refused to get something she asked for when I did not think she needed it," said Mrs. Fonda I thought she was getting so much more sensible lately because she asked for so little." And now she's married and only nineteen." We have driven her from home with our stupidity and if she is unhappy in her marriage she has us to blame," added the mother. "I don't know much about Clarence. I never dreamed that she cared for him said Mr. Fonda. "That's it, we neither of us "dreamed." We were so busy with our humdrum work that we did not take time to understand our daughter. Mr. Fonda was quick to take a more cheerful view, "We will both write her a letter that will let her see we love her anyway. We'll invite them right here for New Year's and fit her out with a bride's clothes and help with the furnishing of the new home. "We'll do everything we can to make their marriage a success." "Maybe it will be all right," Mrs. Fonda said, brightening, "He seemed a nice boy. They are both only children. We must help them," and she rose to serve the dinner. The three candidates are Jeff Fonda, a sophomore international relations major, Sarah Kremer, a sophomore intending to major in sociology and Pete Healey, a 53-year-old resident of New Paltz and long-time active participant in village politics. "With only a year, it'll be hard to accomplish something, but I can get the ball rolling," said Fonda, a student senator. Some of the most important goals for Fonda are building a strong relationship between the police as the liaison, improving infrastructure and finding ways to save tax dollars within the village. While Fonda is not originally from New Paltz, he believes that the student body is an important part of the village of New Paltz. He said that his lack of time living in the village is beneficial as he will approach the position with an open mind and without ingrained ideas of how the village should be run. The main reason Fonda is running for the position, he said, is to have better student representation in local government, as there are already two non-student trustees. "Students represent half the voters, and there is no student representative," he said. He also added that he felt fellow student candidate Kremer does not properly represent the student body. (...) She visited area churches but didn't find a place she felt comfortable, and transportation was difficult since she lived on campus but had no car. Today, Fonda is taking an active role in the leadership of Black Collegiate Christian Ministries at Southeast. She leads a women's Bible study each Tuesday, attends worship on campus each Sunday and occasionally sings in the choir. “It's wonderful to have a place to go where you can identify with the people,” she said. Having the campus convenience is also a great benefit for the students, she said. Black Collegiate Christian Ministries is the first campus ministry for black students at Southeast Missouri State University. A Black Fellowship Choir affiliated with the Baptist Student Center had been meeting for about a dozen years. The black student ministry was an outgrowth of the choir.] >> www.fonda.org <<

Via Meucci, 61 - 40024 Castel San Pietro Terme - Bologna]; [ RECITAL: JEAN FONDA, PIANIST BY BERNARD HOLLAND Published: May 10, 1985 The disappointments of Jean Fonda's recital at the 92d Street Y Wednesday night did not lie in his competence as a pianist - although in Beethoven's Sonata (Op. 110) and the Schumann "Symphonic Etudes" Mr. Fonda often seemed clutching on for dear life rather than holding technical problems firmly in hand. What really disturbed was this French pianist's distance from his material. Mr. Fonda seemed to solve every problem with his head rather than his heart. The resulting music-making was admirably free of excess or extraneous gesture, but its harshness of timbre and cool problem-solving gave the impression of a man almost embarrassed by the beauty of his material. Despite the muddled pedaling both in the Bach transcription at the beginning and the Schumann at the end, the other music - two Chopin Nocturnes and another by Marcel Clairmont -were efficiently laid out. Here, however, restraint and symmetry seemed not tools toward something more important but ends in themselves. Mr. Fonda's playing had a certain amount of taste (despite those strange Luftpausen in the final Schumann variation), but taste without passion may even be more depressing than none at all.]

"This vote underscores the confidence that New Yorkers have in the direction of their local public schools," said New York State United Teachers President Dick Iannuzzi. "They set aside their very real concerns about rising property taxes and, in most places, showed they understand that education is an investment in their property values, in their schools and in their community's children." [Joseph Fonda, 40, of Catskill, was believed dying at a Glens Falls hospital Friday night as a result of a shooting the night before at Whitehall. Police said Fonda had eloped some months ago wth Mary Capute, 17, sister of Andrew Capute, who is one ot three men arrested on an assault charge for shooting Fonda. Fonda was shot while concealed under a porch of the Capute home. He had refused to come out when ordered by Guy La May, a patrolman, to do so. La May fired one shot and Capute said he fired two shots. Fonda had a gun in his possession when dragged from under the porch. Stamford NY Stamford Mirror, Thursday, June 7, 1928]

[Joseph Fonda of Catskill, who has been in the Glens Falls Hospital since May 31, on which date he was shot in the head and ribs at Whitehall, is recovering, but will be totally blind, according to Dr. Nelson R. Frasier, attending physician. Fonda lived for a time in Watervliet with a Whitehall girl, whom he married and over whom he is believed to have been shot. Andrew Capute, father of the girl; Louis Barretti and Patrolman Guy LeMay, of Whitehall, are held on charges of first degree assault in connection with the shooting, their hearing having been adjourned pending the outcome of Fonda's injuries. The man was found under the porch of the Capute home, where he had concealed himself, waiting for an opportunity to see the girl, who had been taken from him by her people. Dr. Frasier said today that the bullet which shattered Fonda's ribs had been removed and it is believed it will be used as a means of identifying the person who fired the shot. None of the men held admit connection with the shooting. Troy NY Times, June 20, 1928]

[.. Fonda is alleged to have eloped with Mary Capute, 17 years old, of Whitehall about a year ago and the couple lived in Watervliet until last Wednesday, when relatives located her and returned her to Whitehall. A child was born to the girl that night, police said. They claim Fonda has a wife and family in Italy. A 32 caliber automatic revolver, containing two empty shells, was found on Andrew Capute, brother of the girl, and he, together with Louis Barrett, brother-in-law, are being held pending investigations. Fonda had followed the girl to Whitehall and, police say, had camped under the Capute home porch for the last two days, awaiting an opportunity to see the girl... Troy NY Times, June 1, 1928]

[Blind Victim of Whitehall Shooting Opens Newsstand in South Street - Joseph Fonda, Wounded Under Porch of House in Washington County Village May 29, 1928, Able to Establish Small Business Through Generosity of Glens Falls Man - Joseph Fonda, of Catskill, blinded when shot in the head in Whitehall on May 29, 1928, has opened a cigar and news stand in a former popcorn wagon in front of the Empire hotel at 17 South street Fonda, who has been befriended by the Tri-County Association of the Blind since he left the Glens Falls hospital after the shooting, was set up in business through the generosity of a Glens Falls man who contributed the money. His stock consists of cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, newspapers and magazines. Fonda was shot in the head while under a porch in Whitehall. Three persons were arrested in connection with the shooting, but none was convicted. He was made totally blind by the bullet, which struck him in the side of the head near the left eye. The Tri-County Association of the Blind, through Miss H. Bertha Larkin, executive secretary, became interested in his case and assisted him in every way possible. The wife of a prominent Glens Falls man was a patient in the hospital while Fonda was receiving treatment there, and touched by his plight she offered to contribute $1 a week to him for a year. Her husband offered him $5 a week for the same period. The latter made his first payment in the form of a check for $100, and with this money Fonda was able to start the little business which his friends hope will be successful, as it is one of the few means by which a blind person may obtain a livelihood. This book is full of specific insights into a specific place. It possesses both truth and charm, which is a rare combination in today's world. It will both enlighten and entertain. Buy it. Read it. Think and ponder universal truths.”-Alistair MacLeod - Nick Fonda has worked as a lumberjack, farmer, carpenter, restaurateur, and raconteur. He has also squeezed in a career as a teacher, both in the UK and Canada, and as a journalist and writer. He lives in Richmond, Quebec. http://www.barakabooks.com/catalogue/roads-to-richmond/]; [Sadly, bullying is a fact of life - but most of us will survive and thrive - By Nick Fonda, The Gazette January 10, 2012 - My first memory of being bullied goes back to Grade 3. The exact details are blurred beyond recall - or perhaps purged; our bodies do much self-healing without our being at all aware of the process. All that is left of that early experience is an image of me in the middle of a class of 8-year-olds, fearful and in tears. What came before and what came after, I do not recall. (...) In the course of writing about bullying, I found that I was no more successful than the creators of Superman in coming up with a blueprint for dealing with bullies. There is no simple, universal solution. Fighting back can be as dangerous as running away. The majority of the stories I have heard about bullying have led me to believe that, with luck, most of us will outgrow our bullies. If the stories have a moral, it might be: survive today to thrive tomorrow. Nick Fonda of Richmond taught high school and elementary school in the Eastern Townships for more than a quarter of a century. He is also a journalist and author, most recently of Principals and Other Schoolyard Bullies, a book of short stories published by Baraka Books. The Lorenzo Fonda we talked to is a young director who is passionate about skateboarding and who says he owes everything to it. Much like Mike Mills and Spike Jonze a generation before him, skating has a profound influence on his life and work. All his work is simply a joy to watch as it's bursting with creative energy. So far Lorenzo's done music videos, short clips, commercials (Nike, Converse) and idents (Nickelodeon, MTV). He's now working on a documentary film 'Megunica', with street artist Blu, which looks very promising. Keep an eye out for this guy, he might very well be the next... Lorenzo Fonda, really. Then known as Frieda Fonda, she became a national sensation when she won the "Body Language" contest at the popular TV noontime show "Eat Bulaga!" In 1991, she was accepted at a dental specialty program in the United States. Arriving in August that year, she took her Master of Science in prosthodontics-a dental specialty in implants, reconstructive and aesthetic dentistry at Marquette University School of Dentistry in Milwaukee, WI. Finishing in 1994, Frieda said, "I realized that the level of education in dentistry is very different here than in our homeland, so I decided to study dentistry all over again, at Loma Linda University School of Dentistry in Southern California, from 1994 to 1995." In 1999, she established the]

Ah yes, whatever happened to Frieda, Jane and Peter's long lost sister. Me and my friends used to speculate about that. Even had an idea on doing a short film documentary entitled "In Search of Frieda Fonda". The kicker was the possibility that she ended up as some itinerant bus preacher, and if we ever did that movie and found her, we'd have to end it with Frieda giving a five minute talk about the joys of having found god and religion in her life. Grin. But seriously, whatever happened to her? Even Google is silent. (...) I never let a mystery go unsolved, even if it takes me over a year: Frieda married a foreigner. She went back to school, got her degree, and now has a very successful dental practice in New Jersey. She last visited the Philippines about two years ago. But her "Body Language" figure was allegedly a lot more full.} [http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/User:Bluemask/Filipino_actors]<<

Hong Kong, China; [46 shoppers hurt in Hong Kong acid attack - Dec 14, 2008 - HONG KONG (AFP) - Hong Kong police were investigating Sunday after dozens of Christmas shoppers were burned by bottles of acid hurled from a high-rise building on to one of the city's busiest streets, a report said. Police said 46 people were injured in a deliberate attack as two large plastic bottles of liquid crashed to the ground in the teeming Mong Kok district at about 5:00 pm on Saturday, the Sunday Morning Post reported. Witnesses said the victims screamed out and rushed to find water to wash off the liquid, which burned holes in their clothes and damaged their skin, the report said. "A bottle came down," one man told the English-language paper. "It looked like an ordinary bottle of water, and the crowd began to disperse. Then I saw people with red faces and eyes in pain." All 46 victims had been released from hospital by the end of Saturday, the report said. Police said they searched the building where the bottles appeared to be thrown from, but had not arrested any suspects. "Traces of caustic liquid were left on the ground," police superintendent Annie Fonda told the newspaper. "Judging by the traces and the positions of the two bottles, this is not an accident. We believe someone intentionally hurled them from a height." http://www.todayonline.com/articles/292461.asp]; [Mong Kok scores for efficiency and for the environment - Service Quality is also about increasing efficiency of processes. It used to take the Mong Kok District Property Office more than 50 man-hours per month to dispose of obscene VCDs. Recognising that, in addition to being a drain on resources, the dumping of discs was also a threat to the environment, Property Office staff and their supervisors Chief Inspector Annie Fonda and Senior Inspector Philip Kwok went to the Environmental Protection Department for assistance. The results were striking. A private contractor now visits the Station where, under supervision, holes are drilled in the discs to render them unusable. Then, at no cost to Government, the contractor removes the discs for recycling, saving the Force more than $10,000 every month. http://www.police.gov.hk/offbeat/765/eng/p01.htm] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Obituary: Bertha Fondy - Doll maker, mother of late union chief - March 26, 1914-Jan. 6, 2008 - January 12, 2008 - By Gary Rotstein Pittsburgh Post-Gazette - Bertha "Bernadette" Fondy, a doll maker and the mother of one of Pittsburgh's major union figures, died Sunday at St. Anne Home in Greensburg. The former Brookline resident, who was 93, had spent the past decade in nursing homes. Mrs. Fondy was a strong-willed woman who made a business out of her doll-making abilities for half a century, starting in the 1940s, a decade when she wore slacks regularly long before it was common for women. She raised three children as a single mother after splitting from her husband. She also worked hard as a cook and cafeteria manager to support them. Her oldest child, Albert Fondy, was a forceful personality himself; he died in 2005 after serving 15 terms as president of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers. Originally from a large Italian family in Overbrook, Mrs. Fondy first put her seamstress abilities to use making school uniforms, doing business as Fondy Blouse Co. in Greenfield during World War II. After changing to the doll industry in locations on the South Side and from her Brookline home, she operated as Bernadette Creations and Fondy's Doll Hospital. She made her own dolls and dolls' wardrobes -- many of them in ethnic styles representing various nationalities -- for wholesale distribution and for sale at craft fairs throughout the region. Mrs. Fondy also become well-known for repairing dolls in her 10th Street store and in her neighborhood. Her second son, Tom Fondy of Syracuse, N.Y., said his mother's "interesting and unusual type of job skill" made her popular for news media interviews during holidays. Her LaRose Street home was full of dolls missing limbs, eyes or other parts that she would re-create. One room featured a display of injuries that spooked her granddaughter, Lynn Acquafondata of Mt. Lebanon, as a young girl. But Ms. Acquafondata said she also was fascinated in watching Mrs. Fondy manufacture dolls using a kiln in her basement, and she obtained a special visit to the set of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" because Mrs. Fondy sewed some of the puppets' clothes for the TV program. Mrs. Fondy also is survived by a daughter, Bernadette Fondy of Greensburg, three other grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren. The funeral was yesterday. Memorial contributions may be made to the Albert and Thomas Fondy Experimental Cancer Chemotherapy Fund, Department of Biology, Syracuse University, Syracuse, NY 13224.]

i. Christine Marie FONDA, born 21 Dec 1957, in Elgin, IL, died 21 Dec 2020, in Milton, WV, buried in White Chapel Memorial Gardens, Barboursville, WV.

[Christine Marie Fonda, 63, of Milton, passed away December 21, 2020, at home. She was born December 21, 1957, in Elgin, Illinois, a daughter of the late Frank Fonda and Grace Desantis Dwyer. She was an employee of US Army Corps of Engineers for 45 years and a member of River Cities Church. She never met a stranger, striking up a conversation with anybody, anytime, with a big smile. Even the Governor of West Virginia (John D. Rockefeller IV) was not a stranger as she met him, too. She rubbed elbows with Generals of the Corps of Engineers as well. She loved watching and going to Marshall University sporting events, bowling and playing marbles with her family. She saw the world through a child's eye, accepting you as you are. The world was a much better place with her in it. She is survived by her stepmother, Wilma Fonda of Huntington; two sisters and brother-in-law, Theresa and Gary Chapman of Kenova and Lisa Dwyer of Algonquin, Illinois; two brothers and sister-in-law, Jeffrey and Brenda Fonda of Charlotte and David Fonda of Winchester, Ky.; two nephews, Jack Fonda of Austin, TX, and Eric Vahovick of Ceredo; one great-niece, Scarlett Vahovick; and one great-nephew, Zeke Workman. Services were private. Burial was in White Chapel Memorial Gardens, Barboursville. Wallace Funeral Home, Barboursville, assisted the family with arrangements.]

The couple also pays the salary of two part-time handicraft teachers and the factory’s rent is paid by the Australian-based Pratt Family Foundation. Almost a year into its operation, Mosek says that the initial seed money from the “social investors” has yet to be recouped, as is the case of many small businesses in their early stages. “We see ourselves as a start-up,” says Mosek. “The growth strategy for 2005 is to be less dependent on the social investors by increasing sales and reducing expenses.”] [Founder of http://www.recyclingisfun.com.au] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Delegate to Democratic National Convention from PA, 2000 &2004. Al Fondy is president of the 4000-member Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers (PFT) and has been since May 1967. He has been elected fifteen times by the PFT membership over a span now of 37 years. He taught high school mathematics for 8 years, all but one of those years at Carrick High School in Pittsburgh]

[Obituary: Al Fondy - Teachers union president - Headed both city, state organizations - Thursday, May 19, 2005 - Al Fondy, president of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers for 38 years, died yesterday of cancer at ManorCare Health Services in Green Tree after a lengthy illness. He was 69. In February 2003 Al Fondy participated in an extended recorded interview with reporter Carmen Lee as part of the Post-Gazette's Legacy Project, an initiative designed to give prominent Pittsburghers the opportunity to recount the past in their own voice. Here are excerpts from that interview: (...) One of the reasons he kept working as union president for so long, Fondy says, is the importance of continuity for strong union leadership. He had spent most of his final months between his Banksville home and West Penn Hospital. Mr. Fondy, who also was president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Teachers, believed in public education as a way to unify society. (...) He attended St. Joseph Academy Elementary School of Pittsburgh, Central Catholic High School and Duquesne University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in 1958 and an education certificate in 1959. Mr. Fondy didn't grow up wanting to be a teacher. He switched from a pre-med program to a math major and earned a teaching certificate after graduation. In college, he started working at Mesta Machine Co. in West Homestead in the same job his father had, a layout man in the machine shop. When he was laid off at Mesta and playing golf, his mother, Bertha, now of Monroeville, said, "You think you're going to sit around here. You're not. You're going to take a job." So in the fall of 1959, he took his first teaching job -- math for seventh through 12th grades -- in Trafford for $4,200 a year. At the end of the year, he asked for a raise. He didn't get it. (..) Mr. Fondy lost the first time he ran for union president in 1965 but won in 1967 and had served steadily ever since. The union was small at first -- about 300 members -- but grew to about 1,000 of the district's more than 3,800 teachers by the time of its first strike in 1968. That strike was to win the right for representation. The union now has more than 3,900 members. Mr. Fondy credited former state House Speaker K. Leroy Irvis for helping school board members realize they had to talk with the new union. The union and the city school district reached their first agreement in 1969. Mr. Fondy was the chief negotiator for 28 labor agreements for the teachers as well as for paraprofessionals, technical-clerical workers and the Pittsburgh Intermediate Unit. (..) Mr. Fondy's ability to win respect was noted by James Weaver, president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, who called Mr. Fondy "an icon of labor unions in Pennsylvania public education." "Al made many friends throughout his career," Weaver said, "but even those he didn't win over respected his determination and his skill as a negotiator, a lobbyist and above all a spokesman for public schools and the men and women who work there." Mr. Fondy was already ill during the 2003 negotiations, but Campbell said he showed "incredible energy." Mr. Fondy's brother, Thomas of Syracuse, N.Y., later donated stem cells, and Mr. Fondy improved for a period of time. Last year, he marched in the Labor Day parade before his health worsened. A booster of stem cells from his brother was unsuccessful in reversing his illness. Mr. Fondy and his wife, Vivian, were married for 36 years. He spoke proudly of the accomplishments of their now-grown daughter, Jessica, of the Arlington section of Pittsburgh, a valedictorian of Brashear High School and graduate of Wesleyan University. Mr. Fondy traveled to meetings -- he was a vice president of the American Federation of Teachers and vice president of the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO -- but he typically didn't go on vacations. (..) In addition to his wife, daughter, mother and brother, Mr. Fondy is survived by a sister, Bernadette, of Greensburg. Friends will be received from 2 to 5 and 6 to 9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the William Slater II Funeral Home, 1650 Greentree Road, Scott. The funeral service and burial will be private. A public memorial service will be announced at a later date. The family suggests contributions to the union's QuEST Scholarship Fund -- which stands for Quality Education Standards in Teaching and is for city students planning to become teachers -- at union headquarters, 10 S. 19th St., Pittsburgh 15203. Published in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette from 5/19/2005 - 5/23/2005.

each serious injury fall adds about $15,000 to a patient's costs, with the annual cost topping $2 billion nationally.

Emily Fonda - What do you think is the biggest problem our environment faces today? An unsustainable future. - The impact the past century has had on the environment is irreversible. With carbon emissions and fossil fuels constantly being pumped into the atmosphere and with little being done about it, it's no wonder we are destroying our own planet. If people were more aware of the smaller things that individuals could do to improve the environment, then we would be one step closer to a cleaner, more sustainable future. It's a mammoth task that not one person can do alone; it's a collective duty the entire human race should be endeavouring to be part of.; [Emily Fonda was born in Sydney, Australia. She earned a Bachelor of Communications from Griffith University in Australia, and intended to pursue a career in Journalism. After a brief stint in London, England, where she performed with the Thieving Dingo Theatre Company, a move to Vancouver, Canada reignited her dreams of a dedicated career as an actress. Since arriving in Hollywood North, she has appeared in television series’ “Supernatural”, “Citizen”, “Witches of East End”, “Girlfriends Guide to Divorce” and “The Tomorrow People”. In 2013, she made her feature film debut in Tim Burton’s “Big Eyes”. Emily will next appear as ‘Martina’ in the highly anticipated "Fifty Shades of Grey". - IMDb Mini Biography http://www.imdb.com/name/nm4350371/]

Real Estate Developer [PZC using workshops to flesh out development details - By: Jeff Mill, Press staff - The Middletown Press 7/28/2007 - Portland - The Planning and Zoning Commission is relying on a little-used but much-admired approach to help flesh out the details of a multimillion dollar mixed-use development. The commercial/residential Portland Town Center project has been proposed for the former Elmcrest property by developer Anthony Fonda. The commission has appointed a subcommittee to work with representatives of Fonda on the project. The sides are meeting in informal workshops to discuss details and various options for the proposed project, which, by some estimates, could cost as much as $40 million. Fonda has proposed building a complex of stores, small shops and mixed types of housing on the 10-acre site on the southeast corner of Main and Marlborough streets. In June, the commission approved an amendment to the zoning regulations that would allow construction of mixed-use developments like the Town Center in certain specified areas. Fonda has not presented a formal plan to the commission; instead, his representatives are meeting with the subcommittee in two scheduled workshops to discuss their options before they submit a formal plan. The first workshop was held this week.} >> www.fonda.org
