Preface

Greetings to fellow Fonda Family members who are exploring their lineage... and to others who are doing genealogy research, or are just browsing for information. The Fonda Family in America has a rich heritage and there are many fascinating stories of perseverance, integrity and achievement... a truly great American legacy which is still unfolding. I hope you find this report useful and that the database continues to grow as more people contribute.

This project is limited to just the Fonda surname (and its spelling variants), which includes those born with the Fonda surname and their spouses; wife's parents and daughter's children are not included.

There are currently about 3600 Fondas in the Main Family Line (5100 including spouses) over a 400-year time span. There are another 1600 Fondas identified, but not yet placed (Strays, for the lack of a better term).

There are separate sections broken out for Allied Early Families (about 450 ancestors of pre-1800 marriages) and Other European Immigrants (over 1200 Fonda immigrants not in the main family line).

There are also about 120 African-American Fonda's in the Strays section, with some links back to their likely slave owners prior to the Civil War. There is good evidence of at least four family lines of former slaves who retained the Fonda family name.

As of 2005, there are approximately 900 households world-wide with Fonda surnames listed... about 500 in America, 200 in Italy, followed distantly by France, Slovenia and Canada. The entire American line is descendant from Jellis Douw Fonda (1615-1659) who migrated from Holland to American in 1651. Currently the lineage can only be traced back to 1632 in Holland. Legend has it that the family originated in Italy but the link has not yet been found.

Recent additions include the 1940 Federal Census records, all United States military records, many new immigration and ship passenger records, all available court, land & probate records, all available Canadian phone & address listings, many historical newspapers, city directories, the British and Irish Census, all available info from classmates.com and correspondence with dozens of distant cousins.

Future work will concentrate on more research into Italian/Slovenian roots and current Rest-of-World branches. I am seeking gravestone photos and pre-1950 family photos.

I have enjoyed putting this project together, and I was gratified to find so much information... thanks to some excellent previous work, collaboration with other researchers, some great library resources and the ever-expanding Internet mass of information.

The Rootsweb on-line database does not display people born after 1940, but the GNO, GED and PDF files linked above all have everything included. Although this is all public information, please respect other people’s privacy.

The latest update of the database files are posted at www.fonda.org and www. ancestry.com (subscription required).

A. Main Family Line

1. Jellis Douw FONDA, born 1615, in Eagum, Friesland, Netherlands, died 1659, in Beverwyck (now Albany), NY. He married Hester Douw JANS 10 Feb 1641, in Diemen, Noord-Holland, Netherlands. She was the daughter of Douw Janszoon VANARENTSVELT and Maria JANS. Hester Douw JANS was born 1616, in Leiden, South-Holland, Netherlands, died 1690, in Albany Co., NY.

[R038a] The Dutch Settlers Society of Albany Yearbook: "The Fonda Family. 1. Jellis Douwes Fonda first appears in the Rensselaerwyck records on October 19, 1651 when he requested permission to distill liquor in the Green Bos, in the house belonging to Evert Pels, next to the brewery. The date of his arrival in the colony or on what vessel he arrived is not in the records. According to the publication of the banns for his marriage to Hester Douwess on Jan. 19, 1641, he was from Agum or Eagum, a small village in the present municipality of Idaarderadeel in the Province of Friesland, the Netherlands. He was at that time 25 years old and his parents were deceased. Hester was from Amsterdam and 24 years old. Her stepmother Elsgen Douwes assisted her at the banns. They were married at Diemen, on February 10, 1641. Diemen is a place close to Amsterdam."

[R048a] Old Dutch Families: Fonda Family (De Halve Maen Quarterly): "The Fondas were important in up-state New York during the Colonial period and in the early development of the State. Presumably the family is of Frisian origin and one genealogist has outlined European background for the Fondas giving them a really illustrious descent. However, these stories apparently come from tradition rather than substance. The emigrant ancestor of this family was Jillis (Jellis, Gillis) Douwese Fonda whose name first appears in Albany records in 1651 and last in 1654. His only son, Douw Jillise, became the ancestor of all Fondas in this country."

[R100b] A History of the Schenectady patent in the Dutch and English times - The first settler of this name, Jillis Douwse Fonda, was in Beverwyck as early as 1654, with his wife Hester. In 1666 she was the widow of Barent Gerritse. Douwe Jillise, son of Jillis Douwese Fonda, married Rebecca --. He owned land at Lubberde's landt [Troy], in 1676; and died Nov. 24 (27), 1700. Besides other children he had a son Jillis, who married Rachel, daughter of Pieter Winne of Albany, Dec. 11, 1695, and about 1700, removed to Schenectady. He was by trade a gunstocker. At the date of his will made Sept. 8, 1737, his wife and eight of his eleven children were living. Of his sons, Douw removed to Caughnawaga where he was slain by Sir John Johnson's Indians in 1780; Pieter was a shoemaker and tanner and lived upon the south corner of State street and Mill lane (now the site of the Young Men's Christian Association building), and had his tan vats in the rear; Abraham was a carpenter and in 1752, built and occupied the house No. 27 Front, now owned by his great-grandson Mr. Nicholas Yates. Jillis Fonda's farm was next west of the "poor pasture" and his house at the easterly end of Front street was within the memory of many persons marked by two huge elms, which throw their arms across the whole breadth of the street. This lot commenced at the centre line of Mohawk street and extended easterly along the street 480 feet to the Arme wey and north to the Mohawk river, comprising latterly 6.43 acres; the land opposite this lot on the south side of Updated October 2022 the street extending easterly as far as the canal culvert and southerly across the canal and Fonda street, likewise belonged to this farm. He also owned a farm of kreupelbos land on the north side of the river about a mile north of Freeman's bridge, now in possession of Mr. Charles Ellis. Besides this he owned the island called "Fonda's island," next west of Van Slynck's island, containing seven morgens, which he bought about 1736 of Philip Livingston, and devised in his will of date Sept. 8, 1737, to his three sons,—to Pieter two morgens,—to Abraham four morgens,—and to Jacob one morgen. This island originally belonged to Symon Symonse Groot, and was patented to him in 1694. For a hofstede to this island farm he had two morgens of land on the mainland near Claas Graves' hoek, which in his will was devised to his son Douwe. In addition to this, Reyer Schermerhorn [trustee] conveyed to him 10th April 1702, Kruisbessen (gooseberry) island, containing one morgen, more or less, by virtue of the Dougan Patent of 1684, which island he sold to Hendrick Vrooman and Arent Danielse Van Antwerpen, 22d Sept., 1706,-two morgens, more or less. Jillis Fonda also owned a village lot on the north side of State street, extending from the canal to the centre of Wall street, at present owned by Messrs. Robert Ellis and Vandebogart brothers. On the 6th April, 1709, he sold this lot to Arent Danielse Van Antwerpen for L48 [$120]; it was "then bounded on the east by the house and lot of said Arent Danielse [now Given's hotel lot], west, by the lot of Willem Appel [what was not taken by the canal now belonging to the estate of the late Peter Rowe], north, by the lot of Gysbert Gerritse [Van Brake1] and south, by the [State] street; -length on the east side, 393 feet, -and on the west side, 348 feet, -breadth on the south, 80 feet, behind on the north, 83 feet, wood measure."

[Minutes of the Court of Rensselaerswyck, 1648-1652 - Court Proceedings, October 19, 1651 - [91] Gillis Fonda earnestly requests permission to support himself by distilling liquor in the Greenen Bos, in the house belonging to Evert Pels, next to the brewery. His request is granted on condition that he enters into a contract in regard to the duties to be paid to the honorable masters.]

[R038a] The Dutch Settlers Society of Albany Yearbook: "2. Douwe Jellis Fonda, bp. 24 Nov. 1641 in Amsterdam probably came with his parents to Rensselaerwyck about 1651. He first appears in records on October 1, 1661, when his stepfather, Barent Gerritse, acknowledged a debt to him. He was not quite 20 at the time and was living with Jan Tyse Goes. In 1664 he assisted his mother at the sale of some distiller's kettles to Jan Costersen Van Aken. On October 24, 1672, he purchased "a house, barn, hay rick, orchard and 3 morgans of land" from Margarita Schuyler, widow of Philip Schuyler. In March 1675 he was sued by Geertruydt Barendtse and ordered to fense his land at Lubberden Landt. Therefore, his land was on the East side of the Hudson river in what is now Rensselaer County."

[R048a] Old Dutch Families: Fonda Family (De Halve Maen Quarterly): "Douw Jillesz Fonda was born about 1643 and died in 1700. His father apparently died when he was a boy and a record shows that Douw was dwelling with Jan Tyse (Jan Tyse Goes of Kinderhook) in the Colony of Rensselaerwyck in 1661 and that his step-father, Barent Gerritse, owed him 33 beavers. There are few records to illustrate the activities of Douw Fonda but in 1676 his land at "Lubberden Landt" within the area of the present city of Troy) is mentioned and in 1684 he was nominated for magistrate at Albany. Douw Fonda (1643) had four sons leaving male progeny, Jan, Jillis, Isaac and Nicholas, but the male line in Nicholas' family died out early so the descendants of Jan, Jillis and Isaac are those who carried the name down to later generations. The Fonda family was one of decided influence in the upper Hudson River districts and the Mohawk Valley. Fondas occupied important positions in the governmental affairs of the up-State settlements in Albany, Schenectady, and the Mohawk Valley. They were early settlers in what is now the Troy district, as well as Hoosic, Albany and Schenectady. One branch of the family maintained a substantial shipping business between Columbia County and New York. In Dutchess County there were persons of importance from this branch of the family."

[Note from [NYG&B] records of Innes Getty: "In printed genealogies, other than [Williams], Douw Jellis Fonda's wife is given as Rebecca Conyn of Leendert Philipse Conyn, but in no instance is any reference cited, nor any circumstantial evidence adduced to justify the assumption. In the list of nine children of Douw Jellis Fonda, of whom we have records, not one bears a Conyn name; Philip; Leendert; Caspar; Agniet; nor is a member of the Conyn family a sponsor at any of the three baptisms recorded in the Church at Albany. Furthermore, in the list of sixty three grandchildren of Douw Jellis Fonda, not one bears a Conyn name, and in no instance is a member of the Conyn family a sponsor. Rebecca is not a Conyn name. There is nothing of record to prove the parentage of Rebecca, wife of Douw Jellise Fonda, and the records of the Conyn family prove beyond a reasonable doubt, that she was not the daughter of Phillipse Conyn and Agneietie Caspers. The sole clue, ever so slight, is found in the Schenectady Church records. i.e.- Douw of Jellis Fonda and Rachel Winne bapt. September 1, 1700. Wit. Douw Fonda. Rebecka Janse (Rebecka, dau of Jan ---?)"; [The confusion could be the result of a baptism record where Douw Fonda and Rebecca Conyne were listed together as sponsors for the baptism of Benjamin Romeyn on 8/4/1774 at the Caughnawaga DRC (parents Thomas Romeyn & Susanna Van Campen). However, these two witnesses were not husband and wife, just co-sponsors. Rebecca Conyne (nee Wemple) was the wife of Peter Conyne married on 10/23/1741. Thomas Romeyn was the first pastor of the Caughnawaga DRC, where Douw Jellis Fonda (1700-1780) and his second wife, Debora (Peggy) Wemple Veeder (Fonda) as well as Peter and Rebecca (Wemple) Conyne attended. The Douw Jellis Fonda (1641-1700) who has been attributed to have married Rebecca Conyne was the grandfather. However, his wife's name was Rebecca Janse as established in the Innes Getty Collection (see above).

[A painting of COL Johannes Knickerbocker Jr. and his wife, Rebecca Fonda, appeared in from Harper's Magazine, Vol. 54 (Dec. 1876), p.42; reproduced from a painting in the east room of the old Knickerbocker Mansion at Schaghticoke; [Johannes Sr. built the Knickerbocker Mansion (25 miles northeast of Albany) after 1709 with boards from his own sawmill; Johannes Jr. is in the SAR Patriot Index Edition III; he is the younger brother of Wouter Johannes Knickerbocker b. 1712, who married Elizabeth Fonda (Rebecca's cousin) in 1735; Johannes was a COL, commanding the 14th Albany Co. Regiment of NY Militia, Gen. Ten Broeck's Brigade; he was wounded at Saratoga, 16-Oct-1777 and he died in 1802; This is J. F. Knickerbacker's account of his great grandfather: "He was engaged in several of the Indian wars of the Colony and was attached to the staff of Lord Howe in the expedition against Ticonderoga in 1758. He was Commissioned COL October 20, 1775, and fought under General Arnold at the Battle of Saratoga where he was wounded in the right arm. He was a member of the State Legislature in 1792 and died August 16th, 1802." The present register of the Dutch Church at Schaghticoke begins with the date of marriage of Col. Knickerbacker taken from some older book saying that he was married by Rev. Theo. Frielinghuysen and that his wife was the daughter of Col. Claes Fonda. No military record higher than that of sergeant seems attached to the name of Claes Fonda, but he was Constable in Albany in 1706 and High Constable the following year, so perhaps "Col." should read "Con." Of Rebecca Fonda, the church record states that her life was full of "good works and almsdeeds which she did." The stones of both these excellent people are in good order over their graves in the family graveyard at Schaghticoke, close to a quiet road which is too far from the center of things to be much of a thoroughfare.]

[Douw moved from Schenectady to Caughnawaga in 1751. He was an aged widower and resided in a large stone dwelling which stood on the flats between the present turnpike and the Mohawk River. The cellar of this dwelling, which had wings on each side, can be seen at the present race track of the Montgomery Co. Agric. Assoc. in Fonda; Douw was killed by Sir John Johnson's Indians on 22 May 1780. His house was plundered & burned, sons John & Adam were made prisoners and taken to Canada and held for two years. Douw Fonda had been a close personal friend of Sir Wm. Johnson and had always been on good terms with the Indians, but his life was taken as "heartlessly" as though he were an active enemy. He was 79 yrs. old; at the time of Douw's death, another house, in the center of town, on Cayadutta Street, was being built; it was completed after his death (1781) and occupied by son John and family.]

Gysbert Fonda was born in 1720. He was the eldest son of Albany residents Claas and Anna Marselis Fonda. Growing up in Albany's second ward, he learned the ins and outs of the fur trade and then followed his father in business and in community service. Appointed firemaster in 1747, he was elected assistant alderman for the second ward four times - first in 1761. In October 1753, he married skipper's daughter Elsie Douw. Over the next two decades, the marriage produced seven children who were baptized in the Albany Dutch church where both parents were pewholders and baptism sponsors. These Fondas settled into "a good house" on Pearl Street. In 1759, he was one of the managers of the city lottery. Gysbert prospered in business - being counted among the wealthiest Albanians during the 1760s. In 1766, he stood with his neighbors in opposition to the Stamp Act. However, ten years later, this cautious merchant was identified by the same neighbors as opposed to the American cause, refused to sign the non Importation association, and was ordered disarmed. In 1778, he refused to swear allegiance to the United States and was threatened with deportabanishment to the British. With much to lose, Fonda then took the oath! Those reservations aside, Gysbert Fonda survived the war and even was granted a bounty right in conjunction with the Albany regiment of the county militia. The end of the war found him back to business, supporting his church, petitioning the city government, and standing with other Albanians in opposition to the proposed Federal Constitution. However, the resurgance would be short-lived as Gysbert Fonda died in August 1788. He had lived sixty-eight years. On September 8, he was buried in the Dutch Church cemetery plot. Later, his remains were moved to Albany Rural Cemetery where his grave is today! His will probated in December 1788 named his wife, son Nicholas and daughter, Lyntie Lush as heirs.

["The Livingston Republic" of July 30, 1874, pg 3, col. 2 reads as follows; "Death of a Centenarian - Three score year and ten is the allotted period of a man's life, but occasionally persons are permitted to live long beyond this period and their lives become full of interest not only to their immediate friends and relatives, but to the world at large. Such a person was Mrs. Jane Whitbeck, who died at the residence of Franklin Carter, in Lima, on Saturday evening last, in her 99th year. Mrs. Whitbeck was born on the 9th day of July 1776, 5 days after the Declaration of Independence by the American colonies. Her history is therefore contemporary with that of our country, and it's interesting to reflect on the progress which the republic has made during her life time, the advancement it has made in arts and science, its growth in intelligence, its accumulation of material wealth, and influence it has exerted in civilizing and Christianizing the world. During her lifetime genius has wrought out some of the greatest problems of life, and the world has emerged into the full light of the highest civilization. The steam engine had been perfected, the steam cars, the magnetic telegraph, ocean cables, and steamships have been invented, and the deepest mysteries of the heavens and the earth and boundless wastes of the ocean have been read by the light of science. Such a life, covering a century of progress, as well as of existence, is full of material for thought and speculation, which we can only suggest without discussing at length. Mrs.
Whitbeck, in company with her husband, and family, came to western New York forty-nine years ago, from Herkimer County. Her husband Peter Whitbeck died twenty-five years ago, and since then she has walked life's pathway alone, save for the watchful care of her children, among whom are Mrs. Franklin Carter, Dr. J. P. Whitbeck and J. B. Whitbeck of Rochester, and V. P. Whitbeck of Groveland. The late L. P. Whitbeck of Pittsford was also one of her sons. Mrs. Whitbeck was a kind, loving and dutiful mother, and no unkind act of hers embitters her memory in the hearts of her children. She retained her mental faculties to the last, and though for years ready to pass to that incomparable rest beyond the grave, she never murmured because of her suffering, or grew impatient. Thus illustrating what a true life should be, she never outgrew her usefulness, but continued always to exert a sweet, refining influence over those about her. If patience, fortitude, sweetness of temper and true Christian character are ever rewarded, hers is a happy lot in that eternal home prepared by the hand of the Father."

The document was witnessed by Lenton Hicks and Ebenezer Fitch and Eli Smith recorded it April 6, 1813. He was the first Mohawk Valley merchant west of Schenectady and the period immediately previous to the Revolution. He was one of the outstanding figures in that sector. He was a close friend and associate of Sir William Johnson and accompanied him on his military expeditions as commissary. He served in the French and Indian War under Sir William Johnson in command of Scouts (Lieutenant in 1755 and Captain in 1756) and was commissioned Major in 176? spending much of his time during this period in Indian country. Jellis was one of the four assistant judges of Tryon Court, elected 1773; State Senator, Western District, 1777-81 and 1788-91; Fulton County Judge 22-Mar-1784 and Commissioner of Indian Affairs. He was one of the executors of the will of Sir William Johnson and designated as guardian of the latter's children. The following is an interesting story of her life, written about ten years ago by John Giles Fonda of Los Angeles, Calif. - Angelica Hansen Fonda. Born January 23, 1750: died January 30, 1846. Buried in the old cemetery at carthage, Ill. Married John Fonda 1768. She was a daughter of Captain Henry Hanson, who was an American captain and was murdered by the Indians and Tories during the raid by Sir John Johnson through the Mohawk Valley. May 21, 1780. John Fonda, born 1739, married Angelica Hansen 1768, died 1814. He was a private soldier in Colonel Fisher's regiment, Tyron Co., N. Y. militia. On account of this service his wife, Angelica was granted a pension by act of congress of July 4, 1836. John Fonda had a son, Giles Fonda, born June 13, 1789. Married Mariah Dockstader Dec. 1, 1811. May 21, 1780, (Douw) Fonda, father of John Fonda, and Henry Hanson, father of Angelica Hanson, were murdered by Tories and Indians during a raid through the Mohawk Valley by Sir John Johnson. At the same time, John Fonda and others were made prisoners. After this party had started for Canada, a part of the prisoner, among them John Fonda, were paroled. The evidence of this is found in the public papers of Governor Clinton, first Governor of New York, Vol. 5, page 738, 1901, edited ny Hugh Hastings, state librarian, Albany, N.Y. Other evidence can be found in the Revolution, published by James A. Roberts, comptroller state of New York. The parole permitting two of the prisoners to return home is as follows: "I do certify that Messrs. Sampson Sammons and John Fonda are permitted to return to their respective homes at their own request, having first engaged to protect loyalists in the county of Tryon peaceable possession of their property. For the performance of which the remainder of the prisoners will be held hostages. Given under my hand at Kingsborough this 23rd day of May, 1780. John Johnson." [Jellis J. Fonda, RWPA #S49266: born in Schenectady County, New York on January 13, 1751. He died in 1839 and is buried in his family's Cemetery in Glenville Township, Schenectady County, New York (HSDRW). An October 20, 1833 deposition states Fonda was found to be incompetent and unable to make a viable declaration for his pension by reasons of old age and loss of memory. In 1833 he was the only surviving officer of the unit known as the Greens. In June of 1780, he was in command of Captain Van Vorst's Company at Fort Plank. He was also stationed at Forts Plank and Plain for 21 days when the Fort Plank Settlements were burnt in August of 1780. He fought in the Battle of Johnstown. His captain's commission, which is contained in his file, calls him Jellis Ja. Fonda. His file contains depositions by Adam Vrooman, James H. Peek, Jacob Van Vechten]
and Jellis A. Fonda]

[Jellis was appointed Captain of a company of Associated Exempts (Minute Men) on 27-May-1775, which came to be known as "the Greens" because of the color of their uniforms; in January, 1776, and again in June he went to Johnstown; in the fall of the same year, he marched with his company to Stillwater where they were in camp for some time; from Stillwater they marched to Fort Ann, thence down Wood Creek to Skenesborough as guards for boats; he served with particular distinction in the campaign against Burgoyne and at the Battle of Bemis Heights; he served in many expeditions and on various garrison duties during the succeeding years of the war, being especially zealous in the discharge of his offices; while on guard duty at Schenectady he was spoken of as "attending roll call and giving orders every morning at daybreak, sometimes 2 hours before day." In 1777, when Sir John Johnson, with his Scotch retainers, had fortified themselves in Johnson Hall, Generals Schuyler, Ten Broeck and Herkimer, with a large body of militia, went there to reduce them. When, out of the whole number, General Schuyler selected Captain Fonda, from his known fearlessness of character, to command a forlorn hope of 200 men for the assault, of which his company of minute men formed one-half. the assailing forces were without cannon. But when this brave officer in the lead, under the eye and direction of the noble Schuyler, shouted on his column to the assault, with undaunted dash (for Fonda was in deadly earnest), Sir John immediately lowered his flag and surrendered without firing a gun. Fonda was ever afterwards called, wherever known, one of the most fearless of men; he was actively engaged in the battle of Johnstown in October 1781, and in the pursuit of the enemy, and on this occasion he "so highly distinguished himself that COL Willett addressed him a letter of thanks for his services and praising him for his intrepidity."; he was reappointed Captain on June 20, 1778, the commission being signed by Governor Clinton; he was a pensioner under the Act of June 7, 1832.]

[Derrick V. Leversee was born in the year 1814 in the town of Brunswick, Rensselaer Co., NY, on the farm where he now resides. The family of Leversee have occupied the farm since Jan. 8, 1773 - this being the date of the deed given by King George III, to his great-grandfather, William Leversee, the first settler. The business of the four generations who have occupied this farm has been strictly as farmers, and a view of the residence on another page of this work shows the result of industry, economy, and thrift. His father, Jacob Leversee, died in 1851. His mother died in 1861. Mr. Leversee was married in 1856 to Mary Fonda, of Saratoga, N. Y. While still in his teens, John joined the crusade for American liberties as an ENS in the 2nd Albany Rangers in June 1781; then as a QM in COL Marinus Willet's regiment of the 1st NY troops until 1783; records refer to his militia unit as "Fondey's Party", designating respect and affection of his troops; in 1779, his name first appeared on a city assessment roll; in 1780, he began to take his place in Albany society when he was appointed firemaster in the Second Ward; with the end of the war, he entered business (selling imported glass and ceramics) and began to acquire real estate along Foxes Creek; his name may have been misspelled by the Army and he decided to continue to spell his name Fondy to claim his many land grants given to him by the US Government as Revolutionary War bounty lands; John's brother, Douw J. Fondey (1759-) also had changed his name from Fonda, probably to differentiate himself from the Famous Patriot Douw Fonda, for whom the town of Fonda, NY is named, as well as several other men in the Mohawk Valley area named Douw Fonda; Fondey, John, ENS 2d New York, 29th June, 1781; transferred to 1st New York, 1st January, 1783, and served to 3d June, 1783 as QM.]

[1794 - The original military township of Cicero, No. 6, comprising the present civil town of Cicero and Clay, formed the extreme northeast corner of the great Military Tract, and like similar subdivisions of that vast territory was surveyed into 100 lots, which were reserved or drawn by soldiers for services in the Revolutionary war as follows: ... 35, Ensign John Fondy; ... The Town of Clay is advantageously situated in the center of the north part of Onondaga county, and originally formed a portion of military township No. 6, Cicero, whcih comprised one hundred lots of six hundred acres each. These lots, as described in a previous chapter, were drawn as bounty lands by veterans of the Revolutionary war, and like nearly all survey divisions of that great tract, passed again and again into the possession of non-residents or actual settlers, often for ridiculous remuneration, until many of the titles became involved in protracted and costly litigation. Few of the original grantees ever occupied their claims; few indeed ever saw them. This then unbroken wilderness, inhabited by wild beasts and more or less by Indians, had no charms to lure those veteran soldires from eastern homes. Actual settlement, therefore, remained largely for that class of resolute men and women who are characteristic of pioneer communities. The present limits of Clay comprise fifty lots of the old military township of Cicero. These were drawn as follows: ... 35, Ensign John Fondy; ... Out of every one hundred lots six were reserved for gospel and school purposes, and is a noteworthy fact that all thus designated in the military township of Cicero fell within the limits of the present town of Clay, which left for this territory but forty-four grantees.]

[An Old Man Dies Where He Was Born - From the Daily Times, June 7 - Our Cohoes correspondent writes: Abram Lansing, who was more than eighty years old, died suddenly at 7 o’clock last night. Mr. Lansing was born in the house in which he died. The building is an antiquated structure, and has sheltered that branch of the Lansing family for many generations. Once a country farm house, the encroachments of the corporation have divided the acres into city lots, and the mansion is now hemmed in by Simmons avenue on the east and Columbia street on the south. Years ago Mr. Lansing sold milk in the then village, and was known to every inhabitant. Gradually his daily routes grew shorter, until finally he disposed of his dairy and became a recluse. A shrewd financier, Mr. Lansing accumulated a competency. One daughter has been an invalid for fifteen years. There are three surviving heirs, and no division of the property is probable.]

[from Kelsey Ref: John Lawrence Fonda, husband of Helen (Kelsey) Fonda, was captain of a sailing vessel, residing at Poughkeepsie, NY. It has been stated by some of the descendants that his residence was at one time in San Francisco, Calif. As the husband died in 1842, it does not seem probable that the statement applies to him, so it is assumed that his wife survived him and lived with her son, William Thomas, who migrated to California.]

[An Historical Address Delivered before the Dutchess County Medical Society at its Centennial Meeting, at Vassar Institute January 10th, 1906 - The first evidence of real public spirit was shown by the society in 1812, when a committee of three was appointed to publish such information as it may be able to obtain in regard to the nature and methods of treatment of the prevailing epidemic... This epidemic was one of Cerebro-spinal Meningitis, or Spotted Fever. In a letter written by Captain Fonda (John L.), the grandfather of the present Cashier of the Merchants' Bank (Walter C. Fonda), to Dr. William Thomas, then in the army and stationed at Baton Rouge, he describes the scourge, and says that there has been forty deaths a ready from it in the town. Poughkeepsie at that time had less than three thousand inhabitants, and forty deaths was a high percentage of mortality.]

Abraham John "Brommy" FONDA (Johannes Abraham, Abraham Janse, Jan Douw, Douw Jellis, Jellis Douw), born 31 Jul 1776, in Ulster Co., NY, died 6 Mar 1847, buried in Catskill Village Cemetery, Catskill, Greene Co., NY. He married Margaret BEST. Margaret BEST was born 1 Jul 1779, in Hoosick, Rensselaer Co., NY, bapt. 12 Nov 1773, in Dutch Reformed Church, Schaghticoke, Rensselaer Co., NY, died 25 Jul 1861, buried in Catskill Village Cemetery, Catskill, Greene Co., NY.

[Harmony Lodge Papers - No. 6 - January 15, 1863 - Transcribed by Arlene Goodwin - There are but few more among, the signers of the by-laws of Harmony Lodge, whom I knew so well as to enable me to frame from their histories and sketch which would be interesting to the readers of the Recorder. Yet, I still recur to the time-stained package with mixed emotions of pleasure and sadness - that pleasure which we all have in the remembrance of earlier and happier days - that sadness which we all feel as the records bring home to our hearts the realization that the years have passed over us, and that we are old. (...) There was old Captain Drake - we used to call him Admiral - who became blind, and died in the Alms-house. Abram J. Fonda, Captains, Campbell, Britton, Ben. Hyde, and a host of others. These four were good story-tellers, the three last named being renowned for veracity, and they kept their reputations bright by the frequent recital of the wonders they had seen on the great deep, and in the far-off islands of the sea. (...) Brommy Fonda dealt less in the Gulliverean line, though he could tell some good stories. I remember an incident in the early life of Thurlow Weed, which he related, but which I would not repeat here it if probability had not been confirmed by a recent letter of Mr. Weed's, declining a public reception in New York in which he mentions having first visited that city as a cabin boy of a Catskill sloop. Fonda, who was sailing-master or skipper of the vessel, was one morning engaged in conversation with some of the passengers, when Thurlow, intent - as he even now is - upon acquiring useful information, stood listening with curious visage and tea-kettle in hand, to the colloquy. Being observed by Fonda, he was sharply rebuked, and ordered to duty. - Frightened and disconcerted by the reprimand, instead of filling his tea-kettle, he incontinently threw it overboard - a feat which, about these days, he seems desirous to perform for the Abolition branch of the Republican party.]

[An Old Man Dies Where He Was Born - From the Daily Times, June 7 - Our Cohoes correspondent writes: Abram Lansing, who was more than eighty years old, died suddenly at 7 o’clock last night. Mr. Lansing was born in the house in which he died. The building is an antiquated structure, and has sheltered that branch of the Lansing family for many generations. Once a country farm house, the encroachments of the corporation have divided...] the acres into city lots, and the mansion is now hemmed in by Simmons avenue on the east and Columbia street on the south. Years ago Mr. Lansing sold milk in the then village, and was known to every inhabitant. Gradually his daily routes grew shorter, until finally he disposed of his dairy and became a recluse. A shrewd financier, Mr. Lansing accumulated a competency. One daughter has been an invalid for fifteen years. There are three surviving heirs, and no division of the property is probable.]

i. Giles Fonda YATES, born 9 Nov 1798, in Schenectady, NY, died 13 Dec 1859.

110. Henry Vrooman FONDA (Jellis Douw, Douw Jellis, Jellis Adam, Douw Jellis, Jellis Douw), born 6 Nov 1769, in East Greenbush, Rensselaer Co., NY, bapt. 10 May 1768, died 23 Apr 1799, in Caughnawaga, Montgomery Co., NY, buried in Caughnawaga Cemetery, Fonda, Montgomery Co., NY. He married Catalina Lansing YATES 13 Feb 1792, in Dutch Reformed Church, Greenbush, East Greenbush, Rensselaer Co., NY. She was the daughter of Christopher Johannes YATES and Catharina Cooper LANSING. Catalina Lansing YATES was born 28 Oct 1771, in Albany, NY, died 29 May 1862, buried in Caughnawaga Cemetery, Fonda, Montgomery Co., NY.

[According to the 'Centennial Address Relating to the Early History of Schenectady and Its First Settlers', "Major Fonda died June 23d, 1791, leaving a son, Douw, who died at Albany, September 11th, 1838, without issue, aged 90 years; also a son Henry, who died at Caughnawaga, April 4th, 1815, aged 49 years, leaving a son and daughter.” However, [NYG&B] Record 56:146,393 lists Henry's death date as 23-Apr-1799, which is consistent with the 1800 Johnstown census showing only his wife Catalina as a widow, and the account of her courtship and marriage to Werden Hammond (see Catalina comments), having three more children from 1802-1808.; also his gravestone shows 1769-1799]; [R038a] The Fonda Family; [R044] Innes Getty Collection: Jellis Douwse Fonda

[A Long Law-Suit - At the Supreme Court circuit on Thursday held at Fonda by Hon. A. B. James, a suit was tried in relation to some real estate which has been almost a constant source of litigation since 1824. In the early part of the present century, the whole of the real estate now comprised in the villages of Fonda and Caughnawauaga belonged to Henry V. Fonda. He had two children, a son and daughter, the name of the former being Giles and that of the latter Jane. While these children were yet young their father died, and his brother Douw Fonda was appointed guardian of the children. Douw Fonda, it seems, allowed debts and executions to accumulate against the estate of his wards until finally the land including the old Caughnawaga farm was sold by the sheriff of Montgomery county. Douw Fonda who lived on Pearl street in this city, bought the property in his own name, and so apparently secured an easy possession of about 1,800 acres of land belonging to his wards. In 1824, however, two eminent Albany lawyers commenced suit against him, and filed a bill in Chancery, the result of which was that in 1825 a decree was made compelling Douw Fonda to convey to his wards the whole of the Caughnawaga farm, and Mr. Lansing was authorized to survey the farm and divide the land between the brother and sister. By this time the sister Jane had married a Mr. Van Horne, a tanner, residing near the estates, and they under the decree took possession of the mansion home and farm, and resided there for two years. In the year 1836 Giles Fonda died without issue, and left his estates to his sister, but in consequence of Mr. Van Horne becoming embarrassed, a receiver was appointed, and finally the whole of his life interest was sold out of the property. Three years ago Mr. Van Horne died, leaving Jane, his widow, the only surviving heir to the estates, and she now, at the age of 82, brings suits of ejectment against persons occupying portions of the farm. The case was ably argued by Mr. Fish of counsel for the plaintiff, and Mr. McMartin of counsel for the defendants and after a protracted trial the court held that the plaintiff's counsel had not sufficiently proved the title in Henry V. Fonda, notwithstanding the decree, and non-suit her. The case will be carried up to the general term. The lawyers say that over $20,000 has been spent already in law over this farm. Albany Times, Saturday, June 13, 1874.]

[One of the first signs of modern commerce in the Mohawk Valley was a cotton-mill, carried on for about five years by a company organized in 1811, consisting of John and Simon Veeder, G. VanDeusen, Henry Fonda and Myndert Wemple. A woolen-mill and carding-machine for custom-work was attached. Simon I. Veeder rented the building, and started a satinet factory in 1825, which he continued till 1830, when he sold to John Booth. The water-power afforded by Cayadutta Creek led, at a very early day, to the establishment of grist-mills at this point. One is said to have stood, previous to the Revolution, half a mile above the site of the Cayadutta, or "Upper" mill. Cayadutta Creek begins as a trickle in the hills some three miles north of Gloversville. It flows southward for more than 17 miles to the Mohawk River/Erie Canal, passing through the communities of Gloversville, Johnstown, Sammonsville, Berryville and Fonda]

[It is believed by the family that Andre Fonde came to America from France, but that the family originally came from the Lombardy area of Italy, and that Fonde was originally spelled Fondi. There is a town in Italy called Fondi, located on the west coast about halfway between Rome and Naples. David Fonde quotes the Chambers Encyclopedia, published in England, as describing Fondi this way: "A small town in Italy on the Appian Way between Rome and Naples, located near a pestiferous swamp and noted during the Middle Ages for its brigands and horse thieves." The family story is that during some political disturbance it became necessary for an early Fondi to escape from his own country if he could. This may have been when Napoleon overcame Venice and gave Northern Italy into Austrian (German) control. There is a poem written in Italian among the Fonde papers which lends some credence to this theory. According to a letter written by his great-granddaughter Elizabeth Fonde, Andre relocated in France, where he served as a scrivener, writing documents beautifully in more than one language. Later (between 1790 and 1794) he removed to America, probably to Philadelphia, where records of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania document that he either made a Declaration of Intention (to become a citizen) or an Oath of Allegiance on February 16, 1798. (Philadelphia Naturalization Records, edited by Wm. Filby, Gale Research Co., Detroit, MI, 1982, page 197). His nationality is given as French. We have copies of letters that Andre Fonde wrote, one from New Orleans to his wife in Philadelphia, and another (1818) from Philadelphia to his son, John P. Fonde, who had recently moved to Washington, D.C. It is believed that Andre and Sarah Fonde moved to New Orleans before 1830 and that they are buried there. Although their marriage in 1794 and the baptisms and burials of several Fondi/Fondy children are recorded at Christ Church (Episcopal), Philadelphia, not all their known children are in these records. (Henry and John Philip are not recorded, nor is the birth of two Fondy children who were buried at Christ Church -- Calipso in 1803 and Andrew in 1801). I have made some estimates about the birth order of these children and their dates of birth. Ref: Ancestors of Charles Henry Fonde website http://familytreemaker.genealogy.com/users/b/i/s/Rebecca-A-Bishop/GENE1-0005.html]

[Esling, the maiden name of Sarah Fonde, was found in the marriage records of Christ Church, (now known as St. Peter’s, Episcopal) Philadelphia. We have copies of a letter written to Sarah by Andre after he had arrived in New Orleans while she was still in Philadelphia. The letter was written in French which leads me to believe that Sarah spoke French even though her name appears likely to be German. This may mean that she was Swiss (where both German and French is spoken) or Belgian (where Flemish and French are spoken). She may also have been married before and Esling could be the name of her first husband. Until I know otherwise, however, I will consider it her maiden name. The information from Christ Church was sent to me by my cousin David Fonde and is also found in "Record of Pennsylvania Marriages, Prior to 1810, Vol. 1, p. 92 and p. 83" originally published in volume VIII of the second series of the Pennsylvania Archives. b. Philadelphia, PA; d. New Orleans, LA; [Henry Fonde, youngest son of Andrew Fonde, Sr., aged 19 years, died at New Orleans 6 Apr. The National Intelligencer, 12-May-1827]; [Among the Fonde papers gathered by Dorothy Fonde there is a handwritten poem "On the Death of Henry Fonde". It may have been written by John Philip Fonde (or another Fonde sibling) on the death of this younger brother Henry. The year of birth for Henry was not known (his baptism is not recorded at Christ Church) until the newspaper record of his death was found. This gives his age as 19 when he died in 1827, so he would have been born in 1808. We knew there was a son named Henry from the evidence of the poem on his death, and from silhouettes of the Fonde children which Aunt Dot copied. One is labeled Henry, one Charles, one Harriet, and one Andrew. The silhouette labeled Henry looked older than the one for Andrew or Harriet so I had guessed that he was born in 1802. The poem on his death indicated that Henry died and was buried in New Orleans. If the poem is written by John P. Fonde as supposed, we estimated that Henry's death was before December 1831, when John P. died. Ref: Ancestors of Charles Henry Fonde website] >> www.fonda.org <<

Notes for family of Alexander Glen FONDA and Hannah Edgar CARY: m. St. George’s (Episcopal) Church, Schenectady Co., NY

Note: These are just a few of the pertinent facts as regards the site of the county building: On May 1, 1838, the county purchased from Alexander G. Fonda and Hannah Edgar Fonda of Rotterdam some property next to the Mohawk Bank (later to become the Mohawk Club at the northwest corner of Union and Church streets.) The lot was 60 by 33 feet. The first mention of a "wood building" was in a deed of March 15, 1855 between Annabella Fonda and Chuncey Vibbard concerning a property transaction. It read, in part... “the northwesterly corner of the wood house, at present used as a county clerk and surrogates office.” On May 25, 1869, the County of Schenectady purchased from Miss Annabella E. Fonda another portion of property adjacent to the west of the county site for the sum of $5,000. Schenectady Gazette, March 26, 1965]

Fonda. The President, Dr. N. I. Snow, in calling the meeting to order, said it is my duty, sad though it be, to announce to the society the death of one of its members. Dr. David E. Fonda died Friday, Jan. 12th. He had been a member of this society for thirty-two years, having joined it in 1851. He was well known to all of you, although of late his interest in the society has not been as great as in former years. He was born in the year 1817, in the city of Schenectady, where his father was a lifelong and highly esteemed physician, and at one time a member of this society. Dr. Fonda's first diploma was granted him Jan. 31st, 1837, by the Schenectady County Medical Society. The following year he graduated and received the degree of M. D. from the Fairfield Medical College. He practiced in the city of Schenectady eleven years. In 1848 he came to Albany, and here spent the remainder of his days in the pursuit of his profession. He never married. For years his familiar face has been seen moving about our streets ia his unassuming manner. Although for months he appeared somewhat enfeebled in health, his death finally seemed sudden. He was unpretentious, sincere and manly. It is suitable the society should take action comerning his death. Dr. C. H. Porter moved that a committee of five be appointed to draft suitable resolutions, and accordingly Drs. C. H. Porter, Henry March, S. H. Freeman, William H. Bailey and C. Devol were selected.]

[A very elaborate obituary of Alexander was in an unknown newspaper dated Saturday 9 Aug. 1873. A copy was given me by Mr. Clark Galloway. It read: Alexander P. Fonda “Acquackanonk township never held a better hearted man than the bearer of the name printed above. We remember an incident recalled to our mind and which happened years ago, illustrative of the character of him now no more. It occurred in a convention called to make a nomination, when there was little hope of success but when a good and strong man was needed to head the ticket. The president objected to several names and said some man with a good name and unquestioned integrity and against whom no objection could be raised, must be selected, and he must come from the township of Acquackanonk. Each coterie pressed forward its man until someone named Alexander P. Fonda as an honest...]

man without an enemy in the world.’ Instantly all the other names were withdrawn and a universal acclaim completed the nomination, and Mr. Fonda was admitted to be ‘the man without an enemy.’ we doubt if the like could have been said of another in the good old township of Acquackanok and possibly of not another in the county. He was long a resident of our county and lived in the old township until it became a part of Paterson and his place had passed into the hands of the good sisters. Only a few months ago he referred to his beautiful grounds and to the trees and shrubbery which he had planted. ‘I could hardly part from them’ said he, ‘but I knew the shady garden was going to give pleasure to the suffering, and the trees I planted would shelter the poor humanity gathered into the grounds of a hospital which for all time would be a place of refuge for the sick and the destitute, and this satisfied me to leave for plainer and less comfortable quarters in town.’ Mr. Fonda passed away like Col. Rafferty, in the quiet of a calm and holy Sunday evening. And as he died another old landmark of humanity in this vicinity is blotted out. He was born in New York, 80 years ago, we believe, on the corneT of Greenwich and Chambers streets. If we mistake not, the house stood where Stuarts' sugar refinery now stands. At one time Mr. Fonda was in the Hudson River freighting business; afterwards he was Auditor of the Hudson River R.R. Co., and still had the silver service, presented to him by the company on retiring from that position after honorably filling it for years. He was a grocer of Paterson cotemporaneous with Col. Rafferty, and like him amassed a fortune. He was six years a member of the Freeholder Board from his township and for four years was its Director. He was afterwards Collector of the County. In each position of trust in which he was weighed he was not found wanting but in every instance retired of his own accord, refusing to act longer. He was a candidate of the Republicans against Big Sam Pope, and although the District at the time was heavily against his politics, Sam beat him by only 792 against 708, which was considered equal to a victory at the time. He was a veteran of the war of 1812 and either as a soldier or citizen, always did his duty to the fullest measure. For nearly sixty years he had been a free mason, and he was buried at his especial request entirely and in 'ancient ample form' by the brethren. His interment took place at Cedar Lawn, and a large concourse participated in the beautiful ceremonies. And thus passes from earth Alexander P. Fonda, whom none knew but to respect, to reverence and love. He leaves two children, William, a law student, and Mrs. Dr. McIntosh, the latter a regularly educated and licensed Physician of more than ordinary skill. He leaves the wife whom he so greatly loved to mourn his irreparable loss as only the true wife can; but there are friends without number who will never pass his last resting place with out thinking of the honest worth of the manly spirit which once quickened the earth of all that remains of Alexander P. Fonda.”

[Maj. W. Aug. Fonda was arrested in Bismarck, ND in 1888 on charges of counterfeiting and aiding the escape of a felon, but was later acquitted. Reported he was a Major in the Regular Army, but this is unsubstantiated. He was struck by a train on 10/9 and died on 10/13]; [Died of His Injuries - We are pained to say that W. Aug. Fonda, is dead. His death occurred at half past one o'clock today. From information received it appears that dangerous symptoms set in last night, and Mr. Fonda grew rapidly worse until death came to end his sufferings. There seems to be no doubt that his death was caused by injuries received by being struck by the L & N passenger train. As we write, an inquest is being held. (Biloxi Herald, The (MS) 1888-10-13, p.: 8)]; [W. Aug. Fonda - The following clipped from the Paterson, New Jersey, Guardian, will be read with interest by those who were acquainted with the late W. Aug. Fonda: Mr. Fonda was the son of the late Alexander P. Fonda, one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of Paterson. The latter owned and resided in the building which now forms the central portion of St. Joseph's hospital. He also owned the corner of Main and Market streets, where Tynan's store is now located, and up Main street past where the Vreeland building is now situated. He was at the time of his death one of the largest property owners in Paterson. His only surviving child is Mrs. Dr. Sarah F. Mackintosh, the wife of Dr. J. Mackintosh. The latter is at present largely engaged in big enterprises in Alabama, but he still retains his residence here. The deceased was brought up in Paterson and was well-known here. He was educated as a lawyer, and he passed one of the most successful examinations ever known in New Jersey. For awhile he had considerable practice but, having a large income from his father's estate, was not anxious to retain it. He was an eager student and frequently sat up all night at his books, so that in time his brain was affected and he became somewhat erratic and unsettled. Some years ago he went West and became prominent in Dakota. He was one of the members of the commission from that Territory which came to Washington and urged its admission as a State. Owing to his corpulence and the hot weather prevailing in Mississippi, interment will be made for the present at the place where he died. Later, when the weather is colder, his remains will be brought to Paterson and laid to rest in Cedar Lawn cemetery. Biloxi Ms Daily Herald 1888-10-27]

This farm was also the site of the ferry used by Earl Loudon in 1755 as a military crossing, to replace the dangerous ford at Waterford, where the sprouts of the Mohawk River made it unsafe. The ferry was later known as the Halfmoon ferry or ford and was in use by the Continental army during the campaign of 1777, when Generals Arnold, Poor and others, with Colonel Daniel Morgan's riflemen were here stationed to protect it from Tories and British irregulars. This ferry was used by General Knox and is a part of what is called the "Knox Trail;" Loudonville, a hamlet on the Loudon road between Albany and Latham, perpetuates the name of Earl Loudon. Some of the timbers of the old Halfmoon fort were used in the construction of the homestead of Cornelius Fonda.

[New York: A. Lloyd, 1873 - ...on October 2d, 1818, the (New Brunswick RDC) church called Rev. Jesse Fonda. He was called from Nassau, Rensselaer County, New York. His pastorate was brief. He resigned on the 3d July, 1819, and accepted a call from Montgomery, Orange County, where he continued until May 22d, 1827, when he died and entered into his rest. Jesse Fonda, says Dr. Forsyth, was born at Watervliet, Albany County, N. Y., April 27th, 1786; he graduated at Union College, 1806. He was the subject of religious expressions from his youth, and very early formed the desire to preach the Gospel. He studied theology in a desultory way with neighboring clergymen, and received his licensure from the Congregationalists, but in 1805 united with the Classis of Albany, and received a call from the church of Nassau and Schodack, where he continued to labor with great acceptance until he went to New-Brunswick. He bound himself by resolution to a course of regular, systematic study, and rose to eminence. His book on Sacraments evinces maturity of mind and a fullness of knowledge on the subject of which it treats. His physical man was very fine, and his social qualities companionable and interesting. His ministry, at Montgomery particularly, was eminently successful. Three hundred were added to the church on profession of faith in ten years, while the spiritual life of the church was greatly quickened, and the whole moral aspect of that region changed. His remains were followed to the grave by an immense crowd of weeping parishioners and friends, at the head of which walked nine ministers of the Gospel. The funeral sermon was preached by his friend and neighbor, Rev. James B. Ten Eyck, of Berea, assisted by Dr. Fisk, of Goshen, Rev. Samuel Van Veghten and Rev. Mr. Arbuckle, of Blooming Grove, and Dr. Wallace, of Little Britain.]

[Death of Peter Fonda - Under our obituary head will be observed an announcement of the death of Peter Fonda, one of our oldest citizens. He died yesterday, aged 63 years. Mr. F. was born in Troy, in the old house near the Catholic Burial Ground, on Ida Hill, now occupied by Mr. Seneca. He was the oldest butcher here, having kept a stall in our markets over forty years. Mr. Fonda was an upright citizen; he possessed a noble, generous heart, and in his time has done much in helping the poor, and in alleviating the distresses of the unfortunate. Many have been helped by his kindly hand to business positions from which they have derived a competence. Much good, many acts of true charity, have been performed by Peter Fonda in his quiet way, and with a free and liberal heart. He was always industrious - always at work. Contented in his humble station, Peter Fonda had smiles for all, a good word and a blessing for every one with whom he came in contact. A good citizen and an honest man is gone. Blessed be his memory. Troy Daily Times. December 7, 1857]; [Died - In this city, on Sunday, Dec. 6th, Peter Fonda, in the 63d year of his age. [Elizabeth Cipperly, widow of Levi Cipperly, died Wednesday evening at the family residence, 131 Second Street. Mrs. Cipperly's death was anticipated, as she had been in feeble health for more than a year. The deceased was the daughter of Peter Fonda, as she was born in New Scotland eighty-two years ago. At the age of four she came to this city with her family and she had resided here since. The deceased was a woman of strong Christian character, always ready to assist in any work for the cause of charity or religion, and during her entire life she was a devout member of the Park Presbyterian Church. 157. Isaac V. FONDY (Douw Isaac⁶, Isaac Douw⁵, Douw Janse⁴, Jan Douw³, Douw Jellis², Jellis Douw¹), born 1804, in Albany, NY, died Jun 1852. He married (1) Mary Jane STUBBLEFIELD 14 Jan 1840, in Bond Co., IL. Mary Jane STUBBLEFIELD was born 1818, in Lincoln Co., TN, died 1842. He married (2) Mary Ann "Polly" DAVIS 8 Dec 1844, in Goreville, Johnson Co., IL. Mary Ann "Polly" DAVIS was born 30 Apr 1827, in Indiana, died 30 Dec 1889.

[It is probable that Isaac V. Fondy and Vrooman Fondy are the same person, but the parents and place of birth (of either name) are not known. The residence of Vrooman Fondy was listed as Middleburgh, Schoharie Co., NY in his 1829 military enlistment and his age indicates a birthdate of about 1804. Neither name appears in any census records although prior to 1860 only heads of household are listed, with no ages or dates of birth. There are many Isaac Fondas found in New York around that time and none show a middle initial of V. Gertrude Hager Vrooman was born in Vroomansland (now Fulton), Schoharie Co., NY in 1769. She married Douw Isaac Fonda of Schagticoke, Rensselear Co., NY; although no children are found as issued from that marriage, Isaac V. could be their (undocumented) son; possibly named after Isaac Pieter Vrooman (b.1722), who was killed on October 24, 1781 in a Torie/Indian Raid at Vroomansland (now Fulton, Schoharie Co.), NY. Gertrude is the daughter of Jonas Adam Vrooman (b.1735, Vroomansland), a nephew of this Isaac Vrooman. Isaac V. Fondey (Fondy) is recorded as married to Mary Jane Stubblefield in Bond Co., IL on 14-Jan-1840. Although no records indicate any children issued, it is believed that Mary Jane died in the childbirth of George W. Fondy in 1840. Isaac remarried on 8-Dec-1844 in Goreville, Johnson Co., IL to Polly (Mary) Davis. Isaac V. Fondy had probate papers filed by her in June of 1852. Mary appears in the 1860 US Federal Census for Vienna, Johnson Co., IL, as wife of James P. Burns (2nd husband) with daughters Mary Ann and Delia Fonda, ages 14 and 10. Delia Hager is the mother of Gertrude Hager Vrooman, which would make her (possibly) the g-grandmother of these children. According to military records (per Joe Fondy, Redlands, CA), Vrooman Fondy lived in Schoharie Co., NY, Philadelphia, PA, St. Louis, MO, and Perry Co., IL. A record of his enlistment at Schoharie Co., NY in 1829 lists his age as 25 years old. He served at Fort Winnebago in 1829-1830 and his Certificate for Pension filled out by Horatio Newhall and Jefferson Davis dated 1830 lists his age as 26 years old. Other documents obtained from the National Archives show him signing his last name "Fondey." He was at Fort Winnebago when John H. Fonda was there. John H. Fonda enlisted about 7 weeks before Vrooman and they both were enlisted by LT Elias Phillips at Albany. Vrooman Fondy moved West in late 1837 or early 1838, and there are two applications of his transfer of pension dated 1838 and 1849. According to National Archives records roll T718, he collected his pension in MO until September 1847 and in IL until September 1851.]

Cornelius Fonda is 98 Years Old - Former Town of Amsterdam Resident Near Century Mark. Venerable Gloversvillian Has Feast in Celebration of Birthday Anniversary - For Over Quarter of Century Was Engaged In Tilling of Soil on Farm In This Vicinity. Cornelius Fonda, who boasts a family tree that gave a flourishing little village in this section its name, celebrated his ninety-eighth birthday Tuesday, and is just two years from having lived an entire century. The old gentleman, although infirm, hardly able to speak or hear, and always in an invalid's chair or on his bed, hopes to defy the inevitable for another two years at least. Mrs. H. P. Shutts, his daughter, of 25 West Fulton street, Gloversville, with whom he has made his residence ever since he moved there from Johnstown, three years ago, held a feast Tuesday night in honor of the occasion. The affair was given for a small army of immediate relatives, the direct descendants of the aged guest of honor. Mrs. Cornelius Fonda died about 12 Years ago at the age of 85 years. Thirty years back, Mr. Fonda was a Farmer, but since that time neither the hoe nor the plow have ever been approached by him for his physical incapacity dates back just that far. Mr. Fonda is a native of the town of Mayfield, being a son of Mr. And Mrs. Peter Fonda, born February 5, 1820. His parents were farmers and he was brought up to this life, remaining during his early boyhood in the town of Mayfield. Early in his life, he moved to the town of Amsterdam, where, on January 1, 1839, at the age of 19 years, he was married to Sarah Gunsolus. This union was not broken until long after forty years of wedded life. Mr. Fonda ran the farm in the town of Amsterdam for a quarter of a century, finally giving up when his health failed. Amsterdam Evening Recorder, Wednesday, February 6, 1918

[The Gloversville Mystery - Nothing has been discovered thus far in explanation of the supposed self-poisoning of the Misses Fonda, three sisters, of the village of Gloversville, as reported by our correspondent several days ago. It will be remembered that they were unjustly accused of a dishonest act, and that shortly afterward all of them were found insensible. Two are dead, but the cause is not explained. The Gloversville Intelligencer says: At the post mortem examination held over the body of Miss Caroline Fonda, whose death we announced last week, the stomach was found considerably inflamed and other organs appeared to be in a normal condition. The stomach was sent to Prof. Perkins, of Schenectady, for chemical analysis. A telegram has been received from the professor saying, "Nothing found." Monday afternoon another of the sisters died. The post mortem examination in her case was neld Tuesday. The symptoms were very similar to those of the one who died first, but less marked. She had seemed to be improving until Saturday, when she began to sink - her pulse became feeble, and her eyes and countenance expressionless. It had been the general opinion for some time past, that this one had the consumption, but her lungs were found, to be in a healthy condition. Her stomach, heart, liver and spleen have been forwarded to Schenectady for examination. The surviving sister and Mr. Vincent, who has been a frequent visitor at the house of these ladies, have been examined, but no material facts have been elicited. Nothing has been developed that can satisfactorily clear up the mystery. No verdict has been rendered; the case is held over for further evidence. [Fear of a great disgrace led three sisters - Lydia, Caroline and Lina Fonda - residing at Gloversville, New York, to seek death on Sunday last. They had been arrested on a charge of stealing articles belonging to a tenant who occupied a part of their house, and they had given bail to appear for trial. A friend, upon entering the house Sunday night, found the three women apparently dead; one lying insensible upon a bed, another upon a lounge and a third upon the floor. A physician was instantly summoned, who, upon coming, declared that the women had taken poison. Antidotes were given them, which restored all to consciousness, but, in the opinion of the physician, one of the women cannot recover, and the other two have an even chance of living or dying. 1877-10-27 - Lowell Daily Citizen and News]

In 1848, Isaac Merritt Singer became a client of Ambrose & Clark in New York, and when he invented the sewing machine, Clark dropped his legal career for a 50 percent stake in I.M. Singer & Company, eventually becoming its head. Clark had a flare for marketing. He gave machines at half-price to influential persons, such as ministers' wives, and apparently developed the idea of the installment plan to let families pay over time for the machines. Revenues tripled in a year. Cooperstown, New York: America's Village www.baseballhalloffame.org/news/download/americas_village.PDF; [A corollary to the family tradition insists that James Fenimore Cooper sought out his father's killer and "damn near killed him." This twist on the tradition also seems to be a distortion spun around a germ of truth. There is no evidence that the novelist ever attacked Farrand Stranahan, but in 1815 Cooper did assault Stranahan's law partner, Ambrose Jordan. In 1815 Jordan was a lieutenant in Cooperstown's militia company of light infantry and his captain was James Cooper (who had not yet added "Fenimore" to his name). passed her entire life, having for more than half a century been a member Of the Presbyterian Church, and when it is said that she was a good woman it implies every worthy attribute that could be enumerated in columns of space. She had been particularly happy this Christmas time, due to the fact that her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Lemos, and children, of Greenwich, Conn., were to have their homecoming on the morning she died, bringing with them the family Christmas tree and trimmings, that the little ones might give their grandparents a cheerful holiday. her ability not only to interest, but to aid the temperance movement. At the conclusion of Mrs. Fonda's address on Sunday evening last, a resolution of thanks was proposed commending her to the confidence of the friends of temperance in this state, as an efficient laborer in case. The resolution was carried with aranimity by the rising vote of the large assembly. Kenosha Telegraph 10-21-1853

[The above quotations show Aunt Esther at her best. As she wrote once, when she was out lecturing she seemed to be "on wings." She was a born public speaker. She never had more than half a life, being a born dyspeptic; but during a few years in public speaking she showed what, with full health, she might have been. She was of the Jane G. Swisshelm type of women, who do not so much advocate women's rights, as to go right ahead and exercise what rights they now have. Hence I doubt if she ever appeared on a woman's rights platform, but in behalf of temperance and anti-slavery, especially on the political side, she was a ready, apt, effective speaker. In one campaign she followed Stephen A. Douglas about in Illinois, speaking right after him, scoring him thoroughly, and drawing, it is said, audiences nearly as large as his. During the period of these labors she earned net, as I used to hear it said, some twelve to fifteen hundred dollars, which was almost a fortune to her. After a time the family moved to Wheaton, Illinois, that her son, Jesse Lawrence, might go through the college there. She died October 21, 1872. [William Thomas Fonda. California and Californians, Vol. Four. Chicago: Lewis Publishing, 1932, Hunt, Rockwell D., ed. William Thomas Fonda,who died at his home at 3011 Sacramento Street, San Francisco, in 1912, at the age of eighty-one, was a California forty-niner, and a man whose career brought him in touch with many of the interesting phases of California's early life. He was born at Poughkeepsie, New York, in 1830. He had a public school education and as a boy went to work for an uncle, Charles Kelsey, who lived in New York City, a man of wealth and business prominence, the builder of the first grain elevator in New York and owner of a fleet of freight carrying ships. William Thomas Fonda early earned the confidence of his uncle by his evident business ability, and in 1849 his uncle showed his great trust by putting him in command of one of his ships, the George S. Emory, and sending it with a cargo to San Francisco. The boat arrived in San Francisco Bay August 1, 1849, after a voyage of 190 days around Cape Horn. Mr. Fonda first pitched his tent back of the present site of the Palace

Hotel, in what was then known as Pleasant Valley. Leaving the boat in charge of one of the officers, he went to the Mokelumne Hills. He then found that the officer whom he had left in charge had sold the cargo and had also gone to the mines. Being relieved of his responsibility, he decided to stay in San Francisco. He bought a restaurant at the foot of Telegraph Hill, but this business was not to his liking and he then went to the mines of the Yuba district. In 1852 he and Joseph DeBell opened a jewelry store in Marysville. The business was completely wiped out by fire in 1854. He and his partner then opened another store at Downieville, and in 1859 reestablished himself in business at Marysville, where he remained until another fire, in 1861, destroyed his business. He then returned to San Francisco, acquired the property at 3011 Sacramento Street, and lived there for nearly half a century. He was for many years president of the Golden Gate Advertising Company. At the time of his death he was a director of the Society of California Pioneers. He was one of the earliest Master Masons of California, having been elected master of Marysville Lodge No. 7 in 1856. For many years he had his membership in California Lodge No. 1, A. F. and A. M., California Chapter No. 5, Royal Arch Masons, Golden Gate Commandery No. 16, Knights Templar, of which he was recorder for sixteen years. This Commandery had charge of his funeral.

Mr. Fonda married in 1853 Eleanor Middleton, who had come to California the year before. She survived him. There were six children, one of whom, William Middleton Fonda, died before the death of the father. Charles Patterson Fonda is associated with the Anglo London and Paris Bank of San Francisco and married Mabel Emmons, of that city. Anna Elizabeth is Mrs. Lewis V. Hentrich. Harry Stuart Fonda, widely known as a western artist, married in Paris, May McCloud, of Worcester, Massachusetts, who died, leaving him two daughters, Helen, who died in infancy, and Elizabeth Ledger. Walter Gibbs Fonda married Elizabeth Park, of San Francisco, and their children are Marjorie, Julie and Eleanor. The daughter Helen Kelsey Fonda is the widow of William Adolph Walker. Mr. Walker was a merchant in Reno, Nevada. Mrs. Walker, of 730 Sacramento Street, was for eleven years treasurer of the Woman's Auxiliary of the California Pioneers and for eight years treasurer of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She is an active member of the Woman's Club.

Fonda and his wife of Glasco, have begun in the Supreme Court an action against their son, Henry I. According to the allegations in the complaint he and his wife owned a house a lot in Glasco which they deeded to their son on March 7, 1888, at his request. The consideration named in the deed was $1,500, but the money was not paid, the actual consideration being instead that the son was to care for and support his parents during the balance of their lives, allowing them to have for their private use whatever rooms they should select in the house, furnish them a washer-woman, clothing, medicines and medical attendance. All of this they allege the defendant refuses and has refused to do. Therefore, the plaintiffs asks that the property be reconveyed to them. Brinnier & Newcomb are their attorneys. i. Abraham George FONDA, born 6 Oct 1845, in Harrisonville, MO, died 11 Jul 1919, in Brooklyn, Kings Co., NY, buried in Cave Hill Cemetery, Louisville, KY. He married (1) Octavia Mary Alice Ives SEYMOUR 2 Jun 1888, in Louisville, KY. Octavia Mary Alice Ives SEYMOUR was born 21 Oct 1837, in New York, USA, died 12 May 1897, in Louisville, KY, buried in Cave Hill Cemetery, Louisville, KY. [He Left Fortune To His Bride - Now Niece Would Break The Will in New York Courts - New York, May 21 (1920) - The suit of Miss Florence Durant, of Saratoga, to break the will of her uncle, Abraham G. Fonda, who died July 11 in Brooklyn, two weeks after his marriage to Mrs.
Rhoda Hunt, opened in the Brooklyn Supreme Court Thursday. In her affidavit, Miss Durant says that her uncle was 76 years old when he died; that he was a cigar manufacturer in Brooklyn, where he accumulated a fortune of $100,000. Mrs. Fonda is just 40. The affidavit alleges that the wedding took place June 28, 1919, and that immediately afterwards Fonda was assisted by two men to the Terminal Building, just across the street, where in a lawyer's office a will was drawn up leaving his entire estate consisting of $50,000 in cash and $50,000 in bonds to his bride. At the time of his death two weeks later Fonda's relatives asked District Attorney Lewis to investigate, and Medical Examiner Wuerst; after an autopsy, certified that death was due to heart disease. The first witness was Miss Mary Phelan, of Passaic, N. J., who testified that some months before Mrs. Fonda married, she assisted the witness at the latter's apartment, in Brooklyn. At that time, Miss Phelan said Mrs. Fonda, then Mrs. Hunt, said: "I know a nice old man who wants to make love to me. He has lots of money. If he does it will cost him all he has. I will introduce you to him and maybe you can get some also." Miss Phelan said she declined the introduction. Gettysburg Times, 1920-05-21

[Kindness Termed A Fraud - Court Intimates He Will Decide for Plaintiffs In Fonda Will Suit - At the conclusion of the suit brought by the relatives of Abraham Fonda, the 77-year-old Civil War veteran, to annul his marriage to Mrs. Rhoda Hunt Fonda and set aside his will made on the day of his marriage. Justice Stephen Callaghan, in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn yesterday, intimated that he would give a decision for the plaintiffs. "It seems to me," said the Justice, "that Fonda was unduly influenced, by indirection, and that the defendant, now his widow, entered into what was a clever scheme to gain possession of his property. I believe Fonda at all times was in his right mind, but I think also that this woman, in her relations to him, was not actuated entirely by love, but that her kindness really constituted a fraud." Justice Callaghan ordered both sides to submit briefs. Published: May 22, 1920, The New York Times]

Fonda, a descendant of the New York Fonda Family, whose ancestor Major Jelles Fonda had purchased the Mohawk Valley land ... where the town of Fonda now stands." (Seymour's dates are - or appear to be - 1837-1897.) - Additionally, in correspondence in the archives at Notre Dame, Seymour mentions being married on June 2, 1888. Although Mary Alice Seymour was Catholic and had planned to be married by a priest, the marriage date was moved up because Abraham Fonda's sister was ill and the couple wanted to go to Saratoga; consequently, they were married in his church. (She was hoping to convert him to Catholicism, but there's no additional information on that aspect.) per Deidre Johnson]

[Dallas Belle of 90's Dies in California - Mrs. J. E. Schneider Founded Cultural Institutions in City - Mrs. Jules Edouard Schneider, 85, Dallas belle of Gay Nineties and mother of Jules E. Schneider and Mrs. Edward H. Cary, died of a chronic heart ailment in Los Angeles Sunday. Dallas friends learned of her death Monday morning. Founder of half a dozen Dallas cultural institutions, including the Dallas Art Association and the Public Library, she lived at Melrose Court. She was visiting Mrs. J. L. Wortham of Los Angeles at the time of her death. Her husband, the late Jules Edouard Schneider, came to Dallas ahead of the railroads and set up a wholesale grocery store. The site of his first business is now included in the Sanger Bros. structure. Husband Helped Found Bank - He helped organize the first volunteer fire department here in the early 70's and served as its first president. He was an early-day president of the State Fair. One of the organizers of the old City national Bank, which became the present-day First National Bank, he served as its vice-president. He was one of the men who brought electric lights to Dallas, and one of the early presidents of the Dallas Gas Company. They were married in 1879, Mrs. Schneider coming from Louisville, Ky., where she was born Florence Belle Fonda on Feb. 22, 1854. Their old home, three acres at Ross and Akard, was one of the society centers of Dallas during the Nineties. It stood directly at the head of Akard; that street runs across a part of their former site yard. Mrs. Schneider at that time was known as one of the most beautiful women in Texas. By the standards of pioneer women, she was also a city builder. She organized an early day nursery and served as its finest president. She was a charter member of the Dallas Woman's Club, and organizer and long-time president of the Old Ladies Musical Club, charter member of the Shakespeare Club, member of the Dallas Pen Women and an early chairman of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra Society. Placed Memorial in Library - A marble fountain which stands in the lobby of the Public Library she gave as a memorial to her husband after his death. She was one of the founders of the library. She had been a member of the St. Matthews Cathedral for half a century, and she was once assistant director of the choir there. Funeral services for Mrs. Schneider will be held in Dallas, probably Saturday. Survivors are four children, Mrs. Cary and Mr. Schneider, Mrs. Leon Blum of New York City, and Mrs. Bruce Morgan of Seattle; ten grand-children and a great-grandchild. 1939-02-28 Dallas Morning News]

Fonda, who came from Plattsburg, N.Y., in October, 1832, and entered the west half of the southwest quarter of section 32, and still occupies this ground with the additions he has made to it. He arrived first at Detroit in the old steamer "Superior," and from there walked to Ann Arbor, where he remained five years. At the expiration of that time he removed to his land, having in 1834 erected upon it a frame house, said to have been the first in the county, which was at the time regarded as a dwelling of considerable pretension. The timber with which it was built was drawn from Ann Arbor, a distance of eighteen miles, with ox-teams. At the time that Mr. Fonda entered his land, the only near neighbor he had was a man named Cornish, who had preceded him and entered 160 acres across the lake in the township of Green Oak, which was subsequently owned by George W. Walker. The government road had previously been surveyed, and caused much excitement among lookers for land, who discovered in the forests lying adjacent to the road a fine opportunity for speculation. Mr. Fonda on his arrival enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Stephen Lee, who had previously located in Green Oak. The country was then almost entirely unbroken, and numerous Indian wigwams dotted the banks of the lake now known as Fonda's Lake. In 1833 a man was placed upon the farm to split rails, and the house having been built the following year, the family of Mr. Fonda, on their arrival in 1835, found the place in something like a habitable condition, though it was not until two years later that they made it a permanent home, meanwhile residing in Ann Arbor.]

Charles Augustus Thorp was the husband of Susan Avery, sister of Laurette and Mary. Susan was the oldest sister and was married in 1829, well before her sisters had their children. Daily Journal of Friday, Sept. 29th, contains the following: At 5 o'clock last evening at the old homestead at the end of South Street, which she and her husband have occupied since 1850, there passed away one of the early and honored pioneers of this city. Mrs. Cornelius Fonda, in her eightieth year, from old age, hastened by an attack of fever. The deceased whose maiden name was Esther Moe, was born at Pleasant Valley, N. Y., in November, 1814, where, at the age of scarce sixteen, she was united in marriage to Cornelius Fonda, born at Kinderhook, N. Y., in 1809, and who was then working at his trade, blacksmithing at Pleasant Valley. They continued to reside in Dutchess County, where four sons were born to them, until the spring of 1838, when with their two surviving sons, John M., and William H. Fonda, they removed to this city, and have continuously resided here since. On their first arrival here they moved into a house located on the present site of the Independent Congregational Church, Main Street, and in 1850 moved in the present homestead, a farm, which was recently platted in city lots. Of the family circle, this is the first link broken since their coming to this city, and the long and happy wedded life of this aged couple is a marked evidence against the theory held by some that early marriages are not advisable. Though for several years past the deceased has been a confirmed invalid, it is with sincere regret and sorrow the family accept the inevitable parting. Her memory will be remembered and revered by all of our older residents, many of whom have known the true qualities of heart and hand shown in the years past, when the early pioneer days called constantly for a helping hand, in sickness and other trials. [Jeremiah D. Fonda, 89, died yesterday morning at 8:10 o'clock at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Sue Fonda Scholze, at 1017 St. Elmo Ave. St. Elmo. Mr Fonda leaves two daughters, Mrs Sue Fonda Scholze, and Mrs. Lottie I. Boyce, both of Chattanooga, and one son, Henry J. Fonda. Mrs. Vernie Spencer, of Chattanooga, and Leonard T. Boyce, of Macon GA and other grandchildren, and three great grandchildren. Mr. Fonda was born in Fonda, NY, but moved with his parents to Burlington, VT in his boyhood days, and spent his young manhood there. He was of a hardy, rugged disposition, and in the early fifties went to the Cripple Creek gold mining regions, where he spent two years. About the year 1875, Mr. Fonda, together with his family, moved to Chattanooga and entered the contracting and building business, which he followed up to the time his strength failed, and was well known to the contractors and builders of the early days of the city. Mr. Fonda was a loving husband and father, a splendid citizen, and won the love and respect of a large circle of friends. Funeral services will be held at the funeral parlors of the Jack O'Donohue company, Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, Dr. J. W. Bachman officiating. The following are requested to act as pallbearers: Ernest Spencer, Herbert Spencer, Rov Blevins, Richard Fry, David Jones, and Edward Birdsell. Note - Sandra Stuart wrote, on 3/3/2010: I will attach a copy of Jeremiah D's obit. There are some questionable items in it. I think the family had moved to Chattanooga by 1873, instead of 1876, because the youngest child is listed in the 1880 census as being born in 1873 in TN. Also the Cripple Creek gold rush didn't happen until the 1890s! Perhaps fifties is a typo. I find it strange that Charlotte is not mentioned but, since she died in 1888, I guess not many people would have remembered her. Chattanooga Times, June 10, 1922]

The funeral was held from the home yesterday at 2 o'clock. Interment in Evergreen cemetery, Fonda, N. Y. Ellen Fonda Argersinger was born September 3, 1849, and has passed to the other life. We, her neighbors, friends and relatives, feel that she still lives for we have the assurance that God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeth on him should not perish but have everlasting life. She spent her years almost entirely on the farm, situated two and a half miles north of the village which bears the name of her paternal ancestor, Douw Fonda, “A Patriot,” from whom she was descended through Lieut-Col. Adam Fonda and Brig. Gen. Henry Fonda, her grandfather. Her parents, Henry Douw Fonda and Phoebe Dillenbeck, the former a grandson of Marx Dockstader, one of the early Palatinates and a Revolutionary hero. She was indeed worthy of such parentage for she was diligent, courageous and loyal, giving her life in unceasing devotion to her church, home and family. Her absence will be keenly felt by not only her immediate relatives but by her neighbors and a large circle of friends. Gloversville NY Morning Herald, Wednesday, January 19, 1927

224. Douw Henry⁷ FONDA (Henry Adam⁶, Adam Douw⁵, Douw Jellis⁴, Jellis Adam³, Douw Jellis², Jellis Douw¹), born 21 Jul 1809, in Caughnawaga, Montgomery Co., NY, died 11 Nov 1895, in Fonda, NY, buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Fonda, NY. He married Ann Ecker VEEDER 20 Oct 1832, in Dutch Reformed Church, Caughnawaga, Fonda, Montgomery Co., NY. She was the daughter of Albert Abrahamse VEEDER and Annatje Adamse "Nancy"
EACKER. Ann Ecker VEEDER was born 16 Jan 1810, in New York, USA, died 5 Oct 1890, in Fonda, NY, buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Fonda, NY.

[Douw Henry and Henry Douw Fonda were twins; prior to Henry Douw's death in 1891, they had the distinction of being the oldest male twins in the country (81 yrs)]; [On September 13, 1833, Douw Henry Fonda was appointed a "Sergeant," under the command of Daniel Moore, in the 34th Regiment, 11th Brigade, 14th Division of the NY State Militia. As such he served seven years. He was exempted from military duty on November 10, 1840; his Certification was signed by his older brother, Brigadier-General Peter Henry Fonda (1802-1874)]

[The Albert Fonda Farm, originally 233 acres on Fonda-Johnstown Road (Rt. 30A), 1 mi. NW of Fonda, was occupied by several Fonda generations, ending with Albert Dow Fonda's death in 1962; Douw Henry Fonda (1809-95) soon after his marriage (1832) to Ann Veeder (1810-90), daughter of Albert Veeder, son of Col. Abraham Veeder, took up residence in the small stone house then standing on the farm willed to him by his father, becoming the third successive owner since his patentee great grandfather, Douw Fonda "The Patriot" to whom it had been granted in 1748. His family grew rapidly and the stone house became the foundation of the second home, a frame structure which Douw and Ann began to replace by a still larger one in 1848, which was completed in 1856. All the timbers used in the building on this farm except those used in the four-story laying-house, built in 1935, and in the remodeling of the homestead, in 1936, came from trees grown there; all the foundation stones were gathered in the fields, except those cut from the limestone outcrop at Stone Arabia. These were hauled to the Fonda Farm on home-made wagons drawn by teams of oxen and were loaded and unloaded manually. The huge stones forming the front porch and the smaller ones in the wall along the highway were secured in the same area. All the first fences were of stone gathered in the fields and carefully piled, one upon another to a height of about three feet! Trees were cut and stumps were removed by hand; seed was planted; crops were harvested by hand and stored without the aid of machines. It was during the earliest years of Douw Henry's grandchildren that machines began to replace the endless back breaking hours of labor on farms in the Mohawk Valley. When, in 1848, the present farm home was begun, the first frame house was moved to a site, south, and became "The Tenant House;" it was burned during the summer of 1898, and replaced before the fall.]

[In 1852, when the Fonda-Johnston Road became a two-lane highway (one lane plank, and the other dirt) Douw Henry lost the sight of his left eye by the same dynamite blast which killed his brother Adam, and which widened the roadbed through the slate outcrop between his home and the lands south of it. The present road was built on the former during 1910 and 1911]; [In Memory of Douw H. Fonda, who died at his home in Fonda, Nov. 11th (1895), aged 86 years. At the death of this most estimable gentleman there has passed away the last one of his generation and an honored member of one of the oldest families in the state. Mr. Fonda was born where the hotel Roy now stands, in the village of Fonda, July 21st 1809. He was the twin brother of the late Henry Fonda, who died Mar. 12th, 1891, and the son of General Henry Fonda, an officer in the war of 1812. He was truly a child of Nature--"His frame had ne'er been bent, by wasting pain, 'till time and toil, his iron strength had spent." Maintaining up to the last few weeks of his life a remarkably healthy appearance, and despite his age had never used glasses. His habits were strictly temperate, his principles beyond reproach. He died in the home where more than 60 years of his life had been spent, ministered to by those of his loved and loving children who were able to be with him. Her death was due to a cancerous growth in the stomach. Mrs. Davis was conscious of all about her until the last and bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude. Her age was 72 years. Mr. Davis, and her life was spent in the village of Fonda with but few intermissions, surrounded by her interesting family, and friends, to whom she was devoted. It was her principal aim in life to do for her family, and to be surrounded by them, and she was fully rewarded for her faithful care by their deep affection and highest regard and esteem. Her counsel to them was golden. Mrs. Davis was an excellent Christian woman, and was prominent in all good works and in social circles as well. She possessed marked force of character and firm principles, and enjoyed a large circle of friends. Mrs. Davis will be much missed in the village in which she resided, for she was a woman of energy and executive force. The funeral took place from the family home on Broadway, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and was attended by a large concourse of friends several being unable to gain admittance to the house. The Rev. Dr. DeBaun, pastor of the Reformed church, which Mrs. Davis joined early in life, officiated. His remarks were appropriate and comforting to the friends. The Rev. Washington Frothingham, an old friend of the family, assisted, making brief but most excellent remarks and the closing prayer. The floral tributes were very handsome and there was a large number of them. The Industrial School, of Fonda, sent choice roses. The interment took place at Evergreen cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Davis celebrated quietly last year their golden wedding. Mrs. Davis was a prominent member and one of the vice-presidents of the Starin Benevolent and Industrial Association, and a prominent worker in the Industrial School. She is survived by her husband, five daughters, Mrs. George F. Mills, Mrs. J. C. Boyd, Mrs. Everett Kennedy, Mrs. Emmet Noxon, Miss Marion Davis, and one son. E. Corning Davis. Two children, one daughter and one young son, died some years ago. The bearers at the funeral were members of the family, J. C. Boyd, Emmet Noxon, Everett Kennedy, E. [G. T. B. Fonda died yesterday after along illness in his 72d year. He was a native of Fonda where the family has flourished for six generations. He became engaged in the Utica Hudson railroad at its very inception, and remained in its service until a few years ago, when ill-health required his retirement. His term of service extended more than 40 years, and hence he has long been included among the railway veterans. Troy Daily Times, Tuesday Afternoon, August 10, 1880]; [Death Of An Old Central Man - G. T. B. Fonda died yesterday evening of heart disease, from which he has suffered for seven years. He was 73, and had been connected with the Central railroad since its organization until that time when he resigned. When the first rail was laid he had charge of the gravel train at this place, and when the company received its charter to carry freight he had charge of the freight department here. He was a colonel in the old militia and a member of Fultonville lodge, F. and A. M. Hospitality and kindness have always been among the characteristics of Colonel Fonda, and he will be greatly missed. D. H. Canajoharie, Feb. 26 - The remains of Douw H. Fonda of Albany were brought to this village today for interment in the Fonda vault, in Prospect Hill cemetery. Mr. Fonda was one of Albany's best known druggists and at one time was a resident of this village. Mr. Fonda was ill but a few months, and only a few weeks ago was carried in a helpless condition from a burning building. Mr. Fonda was born at Fonda, September 10, 1831. He received a common school education and then engaged in the railroad business. He soon went to New York as a clerk, but again took up railroading and was for a time ticket agent at Palatine Bridge under the late Webster Wagner. In 1853 he became teller at the Spraker Bank, in this village, and two years latter, became its cashier. He held this position until 1865, when he went to Albany and formed the Wholesale drug firm of Fonda & Gagley. Mr. Fonda became sole proprietor in 1877, and in 1879 he established the firm of D. H. Fonda & Co. In 1899 the D. H. Fonda Drug Company was incorporated and Mr. Fonda has been its president ever since. He has not been active in business for a year. Mr. Fonda was a member of the Holland Society of New York. He served two terms as school commissioner. Mr. Fonda was a member of Temple Lodge. No. 14, F. and A. M. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Mary A. French of this village, and his second wife was Miss Ellen A. Barker of Barre, Vt. Johnstown NY Fulton County Republican, Thursday, March 12, 1908

[1915 Yearbook of the Holland Society of NY List of Deceased Members; President of the D. H. Fonda Drug Company, Albany. Engaged in the railroad business, he was a ticket agent at Palatine Bridge under the late Hon. Webster Wagner. In September 1853, he became teller of the Spraker Bank, Canajoharie, and two years later was made cashier. In 1885, D. H. Fonda presented a pass from the Mount McGregor Railroad to NY Governor (future US President) Grover Cleveland. The pass was graciously returned with appreciation; from "Albany Illustrated": Douw H. Fonda Drug Co. - Wholesale drug business conducted by the above-named corporation is the outgrowth of that inaugurated in 1809 by Joseph and Thomas Russell, making this one of the oldest trade landmarks, as it is one of the most important commercial enterprises of Albany. In 1841 the business passed into the hands of Abram Puling, who, in 1865, was succeeded by Fonda & Bagley, and in 1879, the firm composed of Messrs. Douw H. Fonda, William B. French and Henry R. Wright became proprietors, and conducted the business on a scale of large proportions until January 21, 1889, when the company was organized and incorporated under the laws of New York. Mr. Fonda, the President of the company, was, for twelve years previous to his embarking in the drug business in 1865, the cashier of the Spraker Bank at Canajoharie, and his associates are among the most influential and successful business men of Albany. The premises comprise the large four-story brick building, 35 x 167 feet in dimensions, at Nos. 70 and 72 State street, extending through to Norton street in the rear, affording excellent facilities for receipt and shipment of merchandise, and the establishment is the largest and most complete wholesale depot for the supply of drugs, physicians and surgeons' requisites, perfumers and painters' stock, in New York, outside the metropolis. The trade of the house, which is exclusively wholesale, extends to all parts of Western and Northern New York, Eastern Massachusetts and Vermont, and is especially heavy among the retail druggists of Albany and vicinity, the sales aggregating a large amount and requiring the employment of twenty-five salesmen, clerks, porters, etc. The leading specialties include complete lines of pure and reliable drugs and medicines, and proprietary remedies, carefully selected in the best markets by the company's own buyers, besides chemicals, fluid extracts, wines and liquors for medicinal purposes, special pharmaceutical preparations, perfumeries, toilet goods, druggists' sundries, paints, oils, varnishes and painters' supplies generally. The company, under the present style and title, was organized in 1889 to succeed the firm of Douw H. Fonda & Company, and was, the same year, incorporated. With adequate facilities for their extensive trade, and with its affairs under the able management of some of the most progressive, representative business men of Albany, the old-time prestige of the house has been steadily maintained, and the trade is rapidly increasing and extending, and the concern is recognized in trade circles as one of the principal commercial enterprises of the capital city.

A. M. Prevost, from -- when last mustered, to January 8, 1815. Roll of Pennsylvania Volunteers in the War of 1812.)]

[Fonde, John P., age 37, late of this city, died 13 Jan 1832, at sea while on a passage from Baltimore to New Orleans. He leaves a w. and 2 small child. National Intelligencer 18-Jan-1832]

[John Philip Fonde had beautiful handwriting. He seems to have invented some form of short-hand and was skilled as a record keeper. He lived in Alexandria and went into Washington to work, recording the proceedings of Congress (according to a letter from his granddaughter, Elizabeth Fonde, to her niece Lydia Kilvborn). He sometimes took his young son Charles Henry with him so that he heard the voices of Clay, Calhoun and Webster. John P. Fonde was an officer in the Columbia Guards. C.H. Fonde remembered him all dressed up with a sword clanking and remembered seeing him acting as a guard of honor on gala occasions. He died quite suddenly on board a ship going from Baltimore to New Orleans. There is a letter from his brother Charles to his wife Elizabeth telling of the sad news that the ship arrived without him. Family legend has it that he died in a duel. The letter from Charles to Elizabeth only says that he died after a very short illness and was buried at sea. Ref: Ancestors of Charles Henry Fonde website] [Who Is J.P. Fonde? by Lita Solis-Cohen (...) At a Butterfields auction on December 3, 2001, in San Francisco, Stuart Feld of Hirschl & Adler Galleries, New York City, bought lot 1502, a Classical klismos-form side chair with painted decoration and an upholstered tablet and seat. It was incorrectly listed as Baltimore. Feld asked his daughter, Liz, to research it. "We knew the chair was from a set...that Jimmy Biddle acquired in the 1960's from the Keene House in Bristol, Pennsylvania," said Liz Feld on the phone. Of the ten chairs, Biddle kept five; four are now on display at Andalusia, the Biddle family estate on the Delaware that is now a house museum. "Between 1963 and 1985 Biddle gave some away: one to the Met, one to Winterthur, one to the Chicago Art Institute, one to the Philadelphia Museum of Art, and one to the San Francisco Museum of Art." (...) When deMuzio turned the chair over he found a signature that Kirtley identified as J.P Fonde in a neat, sure hand in red ink on a green-gray primer coat on the front seat rail. "Do you realize this is only the second piece of Classical furniture known with the signature of the chair ornamenter?" asked Kirtley. "There is one settee at the Baltimore Museum of Art signed by Thomas Renshaw, the maker, and John Barnhart, the ornamenter." (...) Armed with a name, Kirtley searched Philadelphia directories and found John P. Fonde listed as a sign painter at 47 Chestnut Street between Front and 2nd in 1819. His brother, Andre, was a drayman in Philadelphia as early as 1814 and ran a boarding house. A call to the Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts (MESDA), the rich archives of southern craftsmen, added the facts that John P. Fonde was working as a sign and ornamental painter on Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington, D.C., from 1818 to 1822 and was advertising for chair painters, gilders, and japanners in Washington newspapers. He also "polished mahogany with an Italian polish." MESDA's research indicated that according to the American and Commercial Daily Advertiser of Baltimore, in March 1820 John P. Fonde married Miss Eliza Stewart of Washington. Fonde did not stay in the nation's capital for the rest of his life. He appears in the Baltimore directories for 1833 and 1834 at Lexington and Charles Street. This ornamental painter appears to have moved from city to city, suggesting that construction and design, rather than painted ornament, may be the surer way to identify the place of manufacture of painted Classical furniture. "More research must be done," said Alexandra Kirtley. She seems determined to get on with it. By publicizing Fonde's name, Kirtley hopes others will find signatures on painted furniture. Her study of painted furniture in the Middle Atlantic states will in time be published in the Chipstone American Furniture journal. Stay tuned. 2002 by Maine Antique Digest http://www.maineantiquedigest.com/articles/jun02/jpfo0602.htm]

Fonde and Lydia Wragg), Elizabeth Stewart is described as coming from a Scotch-Irish family of sea-faring men. They claimed to be related to the royal Stuarts but we have no hard evidence of that connection. She was supposed to have received a heavy gold chain from one of her sea-faring brothers. Her only son Charles Henry was devoted to her and often referred to her fine, intelligent eyes (according to the letter by his daughter Elizabeth). When her husband died she was left with two young children to raise in Washington so she turned to needlework and keeping boarders. Charles, her son, recorded her death in his Bible as October 2, 1856, age 70. I believe the age was miscalculated and that she was only 60 at her death. Otherwise, she would have been about 10 years older than her husband (who I estimate was born about 1795). Ref: Ancestors of Charles Henry Fonde website] >> www.fonda.org <<

[R016c] A memorial and biographical history of the counties of Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo and Ventura, California: J. W. Hendricks, a farmer of Lompoe, was among the first settlers there. He was born in Dayton, Ohio. In 1823, his father, Aaron M. Hendricks, was by trade a carpenter, and a native of Tennessee. In 1812 he was in the battle of New Orleans as Sergeant, under General Jackson. In 1837 he emigrated to Indiana, where he followed his trade. The subject of this sketch lived at home until twenty-two years of age, and worked at farming. In 1846 he was married, at West Point, Tippecanoe County, to Esther A. Wagner, a native of Ohio. Mr. Hendricks then rented a farm of about 150 acres and followed farming up to 1865, when he crossed the plains for California. P. W. Fondy was in command of the train, which was very large, and there was much sickness in the company. They were five months on the way, and came to California by Truckee. Mr. Hendricks then went to Marysville, where he bought 120 acres and farmed for four years, then going to Hollister, where he rented 600 acres, and carried on general farming up to the fall of 1874; when he came to Lompoe and bought sixty-eight acres where he now resides. Land was then covered with brush, and they could shoot wild-cats, deer end coyotes from the house. The land is now nicely cleared and under a high state of cultivation; mustard, beans and barley are now his chief crops, and he also raises a fine grade of horses. He has three children, all married. After many years of hardship Mr. Hendricks fully enjoys his present comfortable home.]; [Oakland Tribune - Monday, May 04, 1896 - Oakland, California - Forcible Arguments - P. W. Fonda Places His Fist Over A. D. Spearman's Optics. The Wrangle Arose During a Row Over Some Attached Goods - P. W. Fonda of 1728 and 1732 Seventh street was in fighting humor this morning, and, according to the story told by Chief Deputy District Attorney Church, left the impress of his knuckles above the left eye of a salesman named A. D. Spearman. The informant was Spearman himself, who stated that Fonda was about to cover him with a shotgun when the later's son interfered and perhaps averted bloodshed. The cause of this trouble was an attachment which was issued in San Francisco against some goods which were sold to Joseph Feld by the Provo Cotton Mills, which Spearman represents. The goods are valued at over $200 and have not been paid for. They are now in one of Fonda's stores on Seventh street, and, despite the attachment, Fonda declares they belong to him. He says he traded some property for them with Feld in a certain part of the State. The attachment, therefore, was decidedly displeasing to Fonda. When Spearman appeared on the scene this morning, he found that the store in which the goods were stored was closed, while the other one was opened. Some words passed between Spearman and Fonda, and, according to Spearman's story, without provocation, Fonda struck Spearman over the left temple with his fist. He then seized a shotgun. It is alleged, for the purpose of using it on the salesman, but Fonda's son interfered. The angry man attempted to push his son aside, stating at the same time that he knew how to use the gun. The weapon, however, was taken away before he could do any harm, whereupon Spearman hastened to the District Attorney's office, where he lodged a complaint against Fonda. Joseph Feld, who, Spearman says, owns the goods in controversy, formerly resides in Alameda and more recently in this city. He is now in jail in San Francisco, having been committed for contempt of court for neglecting to pay alimony to his wife. It is said that he owes $400 in this way, and that at the expiration of a five days sentence he is liable to be again arrested on refusal to satisfy his wife's claims.

[Frank M. Fonda, Superintendent of the main stem of the Georgia Central Railroad, was shot yesterday on board a tug by J. J. Abrams, a prominent lawyer of Savannah. A party had gone to Tybe Beach on the tug. While crossing the sound Fonda left the party in the pilot-house and went back to the cabin. Half an hour later be returned. As he started up the ladder leading from the deck to the pilot-house he called to Abrams, who was leaning out of the window, "Jack, I'm coming." Abrams laughed and replied, "No, you're not." "Yes, I am," Fonda said, and climbed up to the window. Abrams picked up a Winchester rifle which lay on the seat of the pilot-house, pointed it at Fonda, not knowing that it was loaded, and pulled the trigger. The weapon was discharged, and Fonda fell back on the deck dead. The rifle had been loaded by Fonda soon after the tug left the city. The Evening Post, New York NY, Monday, April 17, 1887.]

Catherine Fonda Harris, wife of Thomas E. Harris, died here yesterday at 80 East Second North street, of old age and general debility. Mrs. Harris was born in Augusta, Ill., on September 25, 1844. She was a niece of the late Brigadier General John Fonda, one of the pioneer families of America. The Fonda family settled in New York state long before the Revolutionary war and came from Holland to America. When the Revolutionary war broke out sixty-one members of the Fonda family enlisted and nineteen of them were commissioned officers. They established the town of Fonda, New York, and this city still bears that name. Catherine Fonda and Thomas E. Harris were married in Augusta, Ill., July 4, 1865. Shortly after their marriage they moved West and settled in Boulder, Colorado. They lived there for about twenty years and then moved to Salt Lake City in 1889 and engaged in the undertaking business. Mr. Harris was a partner of E. G. O'Donnell and C. J. Ross. He was also elected coroner by the Liberal party for several terms in Salt Lake City. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary five years ago with a host of their friends on Salt Lake City. Mr. and Mrs. Harris had lived together for fifty-five years. About four years ago they moved to Provo and settled in a little home at the corner of Eighth North and Seventh East streets. Here they raised chickens and a fine garden until early this year, when they moved to the present home on East Second North street. Mrs. Harris is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Corrinne Harris Masters, and four brothers and two sisters. Another daughter, Genevieve Smith, died several years ago in Edmonton, Canada. Mrs. Harris was a member of the Episcopal church and a lover of animals and pets. The funeral will be held Wednesday in the Episcopal church church at 10:30 a.m. and the remains may be viewed at the residence from 9 until 10:15 the day of the funeral. John G. Fonda was born on the Mohawk river, in Montgomery County, New York, March 8, 1822. His parents were Giles Fonda and Maria, nee Dockstader. The Fonda family are of Low Dutch descent and the Dockstader, of German. The subject of this sketch came to Hancock county with his parents in 1835, and has regarded this as his home most of the time since. In 1840 he commenced the practice of surveying with J. Wilson Williams, and the greater portion of his life has been spent as a surveyor and civil engineer, in which profession he is engaged at the present time. From 1841 to 1843 he acted as Deputy County Surveyor under J. Wilson Williams. In 1844, in company with Alanson Lyon, he visited the island of Cuba. In 1847 he enlisted as a private in Capt. Stapp's company of Illinois Mounted Volunteers, and went to Mexico; did service between Vera Cruz and the city of Mexico. At the close of the war, the following year, he was discharged as a Lieutenant. In 1849 he was married to Mary McConnell, and the same year was elected County Surveyor, and settled in Carthage; lived there until 1854, when he moved to Warsaw and was appointed an assistant engineer on the Warsaw & Rockford Railroad. In 1860 he spent the summer in Colorado and New Mexico. In July, 1861, he entered the United States Volunteer Service as a Lieutenant in Capt. B. F. Marsh's Company of 2d Illinois Cavalry. In January, 1862, he was appointed Major of the 12th Illinois Cavalry, and soon after placed in command of Camp Butler, near Springfield. In October he was made Colonel of the 118th Vol. Inf., and in December went with his regiment to Louisiana, where he served most of the time in command of a brigade until the close of the war. With his regiment he participated in all the battles about Vicksburg. After the fall of Vicksburg he had command of a cavalry brigade, and was breveted Brigadier-General. After the close of the war, in 1866, he settled on a farm near Fountain Green, and lives there yet. In July, 1877, he was appointed a Commissioner of the Southern Illinois Penitentiary, and still holds the position. In September, 1879, he was appointed Chief Engineer to construct levees between Warsaw and Quincy, to protect the low lands from overflow. This work is still in progress.

Deaths - Fonda - At 321 South Thomas street, December 10, 1910, Gen. John G. Fonda, a native of New York, aged 88 years. Funeral services at Evergreen chapel, Monday, 2 p.m. Late member of Stanton Post, G.A.R. Friends invited to attend. Remains at John R. Paul chappel, 2031 North Broadway. Los Angeles Times, December 12, 1910

Col. John G. Fonda died at his home in Los Angeles, Cal., December 10th. Mr. Fonda, who was in his 88th year, suffered a stroke of paralysis three years ago and has been in declining health since that time. He was a son of Giles Fonda, residing in the house formerly occupied by the Rev. Washington Frothingham at Fonda many years. In 1835 the family removed to Illinois but in the following year returned to Caughnawaga. In the spring of 1837 the family removed to Johnstown and there the deceased attended the old Johnstown academy and was a member of a Sunday school class taught by Daniel Cady. A few years later the family removed to the west and in his latter years, Mr. Fonda was a successful business man of Los Angeles. Col. Fonda had a brilliant military career. He was brevetted brigadier general, United States volunteers to date from June 28, 1865, for meritorious services. Amsterdam NY Evening Recorder and Daily Democrat, December 31, 1910

Death of Gen. John G. Fonda - A postal from Major M. W. McClaughey, of Leavenworth, Kan., brings this information of the death of a former distinguished resident of Hancock County. "Died - At 321 South Thomas street, Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 10, 1910, Gen. John G. Fonda, a native of New York, aged 88 years. Late member of Stanton Post G. A. R. Funeral services at Evergreen chapel Monday 2 p.m. Friends invited to attend." John G. Fonda was born on the Mohawk river, in Montgomery county, New York, March 8, 1822, and came to Hancock county with his parents in 1835, locating in Fountain Green township. In 1840 he took up his study and practice of civil engineering under J. Wilson Williams, surveyor of Hancock county from 1829 to 1840, served for a period from 1842 to 1843, as deputy surveror, and succeeded Mr. Williams in the office in 1839, serving four years. He was again elected in 1840 and served a term. In 1844 he visited the island of Cuba, and in 1847 enlisted as a private in Capt. Stapp's company of Illinois mounted volunteers and did service between Vera Cruz and the City of Mexico during the Mexican war, being mustered out as a lieutenant. After his election as county surveyor he moved to Carthage and resided there until 1854, when he took up his residence in Warsaw, erecting in that year what is known as the L. Stracko place in the south part of the city. The summer of 1860 he spent in Colorado.
and New Mexico. In July, 1861, he was made first lieutenant of Co. G, 2d Illinois Cav., of which Col. B. F. Marsh was captain. In January, 1862, he was appointed major of the 12th Illinois cavalry, and was soon after in charge of Camp Butler, near Springfield. In October he was appointed Colonel of the 118th Illinois, and with his regiment went to Louisiana, serving in the southwest the greater time of the war and participated in all the battles around Vicksburg. He was almost continuously in command of the brigade, and after the fall of Vicksburg he was brevetted a brigadier general and placed in command of a brigade, serving with it until 1866, when he was mustered out of the service. On his return to private life he again took up his residence in Fountain Green township and there resided until his removal to Kansas more than 20 years ago. From Kansas he went to California, where he made his home until his death. On May 30, 1907, he suffered a stroke of paralysis which so disabled him that he was not able to walk thereafter, and yet with the splendid optimism characteristic of him, in a letter to the writer hereof, written April 26 last, conveying the foregoing information, he said, "I am, however, slowly recovering and hope to be on my feet again." But friends who saw him about that time gave it as their opinion that he was gradually failing and yet did not realize it. Perhaps the last Engineering work done by Gen. Fonda in Illinois was that in connection with the drainage districts between here and Quincy. Hw was appointed a commissioner of the Southern Illinois penetentiary at Chester in 1877 and held the office for several years. In 1855 he was elected the the city council of Warsaw as an alderman from the third ward and in 1856 he was elected mayor. He always had a warm regard for Warsaw and only a few years ago presented to Arthur W. Marsh Post G. A. R. a brass cannon captured during the Mexican war, and which did service here for years, on the 4th of July and in celebrating political victories. His period of official life in Illinois, embracing city, county and state offices, extended over forty years, and his service in the two wars, beginning as a private and ending as a brigadier generalhoist him to rank as Hancock county's most distinguished soldier. A place of honor should be made this week to be reserved in memorial hall in the county's house to perpetuate his memory. Gen. Fonda was married in 1849 to Miss Mary McConnell, of Fountain Green, but she and their only son long since passed away.

Practically the whole of the six business streets, with almost every building on them, are gone; and the money loss is above $1,000,000. The fire started at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the lumber yard of W. B Fonda. From the lumber yard the fire made a jump of more than 500 yards to a great warehouse, and from that went to a nest of rookeries, the block bounded by Lake, Foundry, Kingman and Main streets. The handsome new government building, not yet completed, was the next to fall and then went the furniture emporium of E. A. Morton. From this point on Main street flames swept into and up Kingman street, which was almost at once like a roaring furnace from end to end. The handsome new building and plant of the St. Albans Messenger, daily and weekly, was wiped out, and with it the state printing establishment. Then Fuller's livery stable and a large number of horses and wagons went down. The Fort Wayne Sentinel, Fort Wayne, IN 20 May 1895

[William Beecher Fonda started his lumber yard with lumber, wood and coal. At one point he sold sewer pipe when the sewer lines were going in. He later made a planning yard to build just about anything. Later he sold roofing material and electric wood floors. He built some houses in St. Albans, the St. Albans Library, and the Bellevue Theater. He was involved with the roads being paved, bringing electricity and sewers to St. Albans. He signed people up for the first telephones. He had a place in one of businesses downtown so people could order their coal or wood over the phone! He helped get the trolley car running. He helped set a boat schedule to stop at St. Albans Bay and connect with trolley cars that carried people, freight and mail to St. Albans and Swanton, VT. He was on the board of directors for the Welden Bank, the People's Bank, the National Car Co.(trolley car), the Electric Light Co., and for a short time the Missisquoi Valley Railroad and the St. Albans Furniture Co. [D.B. Fonda, M.D., physician and surgeon, was proprietor of Dr. Fonda's medicines, and a gifted speaker and writer; he took a full classical course at the Lisha's Kill Academy in Albany, and after graduating removed to central NY, where he engaged in teaching some four years, at the same time pursuing advanced studies in mental and moral philosophy under Professor F.D. Pierce. He subsequently took the agency in Chicago of the West Elgin Flour Company, a position he retained until the stoppage of the mills in the spring of 1858. He then engaged in teaching at Rose Hill (Academy, Versailles, KY) until 1862, when he enlisted in Civil War Co.C, 89th Regiment IL Volunteer Infantry. After the battle of Perryville, KY he was placed in charge of an ambulance train and shortly afterward appointed to one of the hospitals at Bardstown, KY. In July, 1863, he was honorably discharged and, returning to Rose Hill, shortly afterward entered Rush Medical College in Chicago, attending lectures from 1863-1866. The breaking out of the cholera epidemic and consequent death of Dr. Brainard (founder of RMC) and other members of the faculty caused him to quit the college. In 1867 he engaged in medical practice, at the same time being appointed Cook County physician, a position he retained until 1871. During this time he attended lectures at the Bennett Medical College in Chicago, from which he graduated. He was elected a member of the Board of Trustees for Jefferson Township in 1874, a position he retained until 1877, being president of the board during the entire period. He then graduated from the Bennett College of Eclectic Medicine and Surgery in 1878. He was elected health officer when the tire ordinance passed in 1880, and elected a member of the school board in the spring of 1883, still filling both of these latter offices. In 1885 he removed to Cook County, IL, where he engaged in railroading for a time, his health necessitating outdoor employment.

[Fight With Knife and Gun: Result of Family Quarrel - Dr. William Jackson Has an Encounter with Negro Servant of His Father-in-Law, Dr. David Fonda - A knife and revolver fight between Dr. William Jackson and Wilson Hawkins early yesterday morning resulted in serious injury to Hawkins and the arrest of both men. Mrs. Jackson also was taken in custody. Later all were released on bonds. The fight is said to have followed a quarrel between Dr. Jackson and his father-in-law, Dr. David Fonda. The Jacksons live with Fonda at 4171 Milwaukee avenue. Hawkins, who is a negro, has been employed by Fonda as a servant. Dr. Fonda returned home shortly after midnight Sunday night and retired. It was about two hours later that the fight began between Hawkins and Jackson. During the fight Hawkins sustained four cuts on the scalp and Jackson was the target for two shots from a revolver, but neither of the bullets took effect. Hawkins was taken to the Dunning hospital, where his wounds were dressed. The quarrel between Fonda and Jackson is said to have been over money matters. Dr. Fonda is said to be well to do. Leesville Cemetery, Sharon, NY; [As stated in yesterday's Saratogian, Coroner Noxon of Ballston went to Galway yesterday and held an inquest into the cause of the death of the man Fonda, who was found insensible by the road side, and who died Monday morning. The result of the inquest is strongly in favor of dismissing the theory of murder in the case. Coroner Noxon took the testimony of a large number of witnesses, relatives of the deceased and others. The name of the deceased was Sanford V. Fonda. It appears that he was on his way to visit a cousin, Jacob H. Fonda, instead of a brother. His father is Sebastian F. Fonda of Sharon Springs. (...) The testimony of these witnesses elicited the fact that deceased was for seven years in the employ of Daniel Klock, Jr., in Troy, as clerk. About the first of July last Fonda left his place in Troy on account, it seems, of dissipated habits. Since July he had no special occupation but had lived with his father and other relatives, His father had supplied him with what little money he might want, the last contribution amounting to only $10, having been given him in December. (..) The testimony of Dr. VonAllen went to show that the wound on the face of deceased which was at first reported to have been made by a club in the hands of an assassin, was caused by a fall upon the icy road. The theory of the witness was that he had fallen and hurt himself thus badly, that he was unable to rise and that his low condition when found and his subsequent death were caused by the night's exposure. The rumor that deceased had a valuable gold watch on his person was contradicted by evidence. The time-keeper proves to be oride and of little value. (..) After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict to the effect that Sanvord V. Fonda came to his death in consequence of convulsions and exposure to cold on the night of January 22, 1876, on the road near the Christian church in Galway, Saratoga county, N. Y. 298. John H. FONDA (William Cooper, William Johannes, Johannes Peter, Pieter Jansse, Jan Douw, Douw Jellis, Jellis Douw), born Nov 1827, in New York, USA, died 11 Feb 1915, in Manhattan, New York City, NY, buried in Brookside Cemetery, Watertown, NY. He married Mary Amelia GURNEE 1852, in Iowa. Mary Amelia GURNEE was born 17 Dec 1831, in Watertown, NY, died 22 May 1923, in Watertown, NY, buried in Brookside Cemetery, Watertown, NY.

In 1896, John H. Fonda of New York City, incorporated under the laws of the state, an association known as the "Union Association of Heirs of Harlem, Anneke Jans Bogardus, Edwards and Webber Estates," and in April 1909, Mary A. Fonda, as one of the Bogardus heirs, and presumably in the interest of the Union Association of Heirs, began a suit against the Trinity Church Corporation to recover possession of one hundredth part of the property at 65 Vandam street. Her bill of complaint was filed by Elmer E. Good, of No. 3 Stafford Building, Buffalo, N.Y., who was also the Attorney for the Union Association of Heirs. Mrs. Fonda asked the court to decide that she was the owner in fee simple of an undivided one-hundredth part of the Vandam street lot, and she also asked that she be entitled to her share of the property and $10,000 damages for being kept out of possession. Jay and Chandler, as attorneys for Trinity, filed an amended answer, and referred therein to the charter of 1697, and the Queen Anne grant of 1705, and that one hundred and sixty years thereafter, Trinity Corporation, by deed, conveyed the Vandam street property to Benjamin Cooper, and subsequently Cooper and his wife Ann Elizabeth, mortgaged the lot to the Bowery Savings Bank for $4,000. The mortgage was foreclosed, and in 1897 the lot was sold by order of the court to H. H. Camman for $13,800 and he transferred it to the Trinity Corporation, so that 192 years after it first acquired the land from Queen Anne, Trinity once more became its owner. The plaintiff filed a reply setting forth pretensions made by former litigants regarding the "King's Farm," and the "Queen's Farm," and she plead ignorance of the pretended deed of Queen Anne, and she asserted her title under the Dutch patent, which ante-dated the Queen Anne charter by 53 years. Justice Dowling, in special term of the Supreme Court, granted the application of Trinity for an order directing the plaintiff to file a reply to the first specific defense to the answer which set up the Queen Anne grant, its validity and the purchase of the property under the foreclosure sale of 1897. The plaintiff failed to file the reply, and early in 1913 warrants were issued for the arrest of both Mr. Fonda and Mr. Good, on the grounds that they had been using the mails with intent to defraud, and on November 6th, 1913, the case was brought to trial in the Federal District Court. After evidence had been introduced by the prosecution, and evidence of various sorts had been presented to the Court, the case was decided, and the New York Times, in its issue of November 17th 1913, reported the case, or rather the decision as follows: "After John H. Fonda, 86 years old, had told of the twenty years fight of the Anneke Jans heirs to recover Trinity Church property, Judge Hand in the United States Court yesterday, said he would dismiss the fraud indictment against Fonda. He said it was evident that Fonda had been prompted by an obsession from childhood of enormous wealth to be gathered by the Jans heirs and not by any criminal motives in seeking subscriptions to prosecute his claims." Attorney Good was also tried in the same case, and on November 14th the New York Times reported the result of the trial of Good as follows: "Elmer E. Good, indicted for alleged fraudulent use of the mails in promoting collections of money from heirs of Anneke Jans and others, was acquitted yesterday in the United States District Court." Mr. Fonda died on February 15th, 1915, and after which Willis T. Gridley, Attorney, located at 170 Broadway, New York City, at that time, took up the matter to look after the interests of the claimants in the future.

[R095d - History of Rochester and Monroe County, NY - William T. Fonda, treasurer of the Mandeville & King Company, seedsmen, is one who throughout his entire business life has recognized the fact that the present and not the future hold the opportunity and thus he has advanced until he is a force in commercial circles, especially active in the financial management of various enterprises. His life record began in Rochester in 1849. His father, Jacob Fonda, as a native of Schenectady, New York, and on removing to this city, engaged in the fur, hat and cap business in the old "hatters' row" on State street. He married Maria Tufts. Their son, William T. Fonda, was reared in Rochester and after attending the public schools became a student in Satterlee's Academy. He entered business life in connection with his father, in the hat and cap trade and later was with S. B. Roby & Company, dealers in saddlery and hardware, with whom he remained for two years. He then went to Fairport, where he was with the Bank of Fairport for a short time, after which he returned to this city and was with the Commercial National Bank for thirteen years. Subsequently he engaged in the manufacture of shoes for twelve pears under the firm style of Fonda, Kellogg & Snow, and in 1902 he became treasurer of the Mandeville & King Company and of the James Vick's Sons, both seedsmen. He is also vice president of the Vick & Hill Company, wholesale florists of Barnards, New York. Each change in his business connections has represented a forward step, bringing him a broader outlook and wider opportunities. He has utilized his advantages in excellent manner and has become recognized in business circles as one whose judgment is, sound, whose sagacity is far-reaching and whose energy is almost limitless. Mr. Fonda was married to Miss Hattie G. Metcalf, of Canandaigua, and has two children. Well known in Masonry, he is a life member of the Monroe commandery, K.T. His political allegiance is given to the republican party and he manifests a public-spirited interest in citizenship and in the welfare and progress of Rochester. He has a keen sense of humor and of fair play - qualities which make him a favorite and have made his justice and fairness in the business world one of his salient characteristics.]; [Private libraries in the 1870s - 1890s: These coexisted with the school library as Fairport's rapidly growing population drew the School Board's attention to school construction and away from focusing on its own library. The first private library (1880 or earlier and which they called the "Fairport Public Library") was that of Julia and Emma Dickinson and Elizabeth Dowd. This was in the Dickinson home at 10 East Church Street. It was relocated (date unknown) to 123 South Main Street where a cousin, Mrs. Buckland and, later, Mr. & Mrs. Charles D. Case were librarians. This library was open to the public, but it was not free. It closed in 1893 or 1894. Later, apparently both John H. Hardick and William T. Fonda operated private rental libraries in the Hawkins Block on the east side of South Main Street near the canal.]

[George W. Fondy appeared in the 1860 US Federal Census for Murray, Calloway Co., KY as a farmhand in the household of Asa Humphreys. His birthplace is listed as IL and vital records indicate he married Phebe Ann Humphreys (b. Puryear, Henry Co., TN) on 11-Jan-1863 in Jonesboro, Union Co., IL. It is probable that George is the son of Isaac V. Fondy and Mary Jane Stubblefield, daughter of Jeremiah Stubblefield of Lincoln Co., TN. George W. could have been named after 1) Col. George Stubblefield (b.1738) who served in the VA Militia during the Revolutionary War under General George Washington 2) George Stubblefield, a Baptist preacher and the first Stubblefield settler in (Warren Co.) TN around 1800 or 3) simply after president George Washington himself. George W. Fondy enlisted as a bugler in Company M of the 6th IL Cavalry in 1861. His residence was listed as Johnson Co., IL. He was mustered out of that unit and then enlisted in the 128th IL Infantry at Camp Butler, IL in 1862. His residence was listed as Vienna, IL (residence of his possible step-mother). We suspect that his name was spelled "Fonda" and he went in as a Corporal in the 128th Infantry because the Post Commander at Camp Butler at that time was John G. Fonda. George W. Fondy's Pension documents spell his name "Fondy" and lists him in the 128th Infantry; he died of pneumonia at Nashville General Hospital Number 8 and is buried at the Nashville National Cemetery, TN.]

He then practiced medicine with good success for a few years, until he became a confirmed consumptive. After consulting some of his brother colleagues they came to the conclusion and said that a very short time might close his usefulness. He then turned his attention to other reformed practices of medicine. [History of Saratoga County - Centennial Celebration of Burgoyne's Surrender at Saratoga - Oct. 16, 1877 - The second division consisted of the Masonic fraternity, Sir Townsend Fonda, R. E. Grand Commander Knights Templar]

[Death of Townsend Fondey - Citizens were startled last evening by the announcement of the sudden death of Townsend Fondey, at his residence No. 151 Washington avenue. He was taken seriously ill about a quarter after four o'clock, and in fifteen minutes life was extinct. For some weeks past Mr. Fondey had been threatened with a severe illness, and for some days, by the advice of his physician ceased from participation in his business. He grew slowly better, and on last Tuesday visited the store of Corning & Co., where he was partner, and daily since, gradually expending the hours devoted to business each day. Yesterday he remained at the store longer than usual, and when he went away was seemingly feeling well. He went home and dined at half-past two o'clock, being in excellent spirits. About four o'clock he complained of faintness, and died shortly afterwards. Dr. Balch, the family physician, pronouncing apoplexy to be the cause of death, while Dr. Jones ascribed it to heart disease. Townsend Fondey was born in Albany Dec 22, 1817. He was educated at the Albany academy, graduating with high honor from that institution. He then went to Cazenovia, Madison county, where he engaged in the mercantile establishment of Jacob Ten Eyck, remaining there some years. He then proceeded to Troy where he filled the responsible position as an accountant. In 1840 he left Troy and went to Breton where he engaged in the commission business until 1845, when he returned to Albany and in November 1847, entered the house of Erastus Corning & Co., as accountant. He remained with this house till the day of his death. Shortly after entering the employ of the firm Mr Fonday became the confidential clerk of Mr. Erastus Corning, and so much were his labors appreciated, that in 1866 when the firm was reorganized he went in as a partner with the present Erastus Corning, W. H. Nichols, J. S. Walker, and C. H Corning. The two gentlemen last named died in 1879, and the firm was again reorganized in 1881 when Mr. Fondey and Mr. Nichols became general partners, and Mr. Erastus Corning special partner. Mr. Fondey was a republican. The only elective position he ever held was that of alderman of the Thirteenth ward in 1872-3. He was vice-president and secretary for several years of the People's Gaslight company, and for many years a director of the Union National bank, and at the time of his death a trustee of the Albany Savings bank as well as vice-president of the New York State Relief association. He was connected with the Masonic order, being a member of Masters lodge No. 5. and a member of Temple chapter No. 5, R. A. M. He became a member of the Scottish Rite bodies in 1866, was the presiding officer of the Chapter of Rose Croix for five years, and of Albany Sovereign consistory for four years. At the session of the supreme council held in Boston in 1870 he was elected as sovereign grand inspector general and honorary member of the supreme council and the thirty-third degree was conferred upon him. He was one of the 150 who received the royal order of Scotland some years ago. Although brought up in the Dutch Reformed church, Mr. Fondey has for years been an Episcopalian, being at the time of his death a communicant of All Saints cathedral. At the age of twenty-five, in April, 1842, he married Ruth Hollister, of Troy, a niece of John L. Thompson, late of Troy, and the late United States Judge Smith Thompson. His wife and son and a daughter survive him. A large circle of friends will mourn his death, while Albany has lost a citizen of rare business qualities, and of unsullied integrity. Note: this connection to William John Fondey is uncertain since records indicate he was not married and may have died before 1824 - however, the census names bear a strong resemblance to the families of (cousins) John Isaac Fondey and Townsend Isaac Fondey - it is possible that William John Fondey had this one son (J.W.), who may have been born while his father served in the New York Militia during the War of 1812, which had battles in

To further complicate, this family looks to be the same, with the census taken in Mercer’s Bottom, Mason Co., VA (now WV), on the OH border. It could have something to do with the impending Civil War, in which WV broke off from Virginia in 1863 and declared themselves part of the South. The handwriting on the census page could read Fondey rather than Findy. It could also be that Thomas was a brother of J.W., both with wife's named Sarah.

[Mr. Wm. B. Fonday, died at Springfield, Illinois, on the 19th inst. Mr. Fonday was a highly esteemed citizen and well known throughout the State. Saint Paul Pioneer Democrat, Wednesday, February 26, 1862]

[William's mother, Lucinda Tanner was a descendant of his namesake, William Bradford of the Mayflower; according to some records found in Mercer County, IL, dated October 1st, 1856, 'William B. Fonday is the only living child of Stephen Fonday deceased of Genesee, Ontario County, NY.' The indenture also says that William B. Fonday is the spouse of Mary L. Fonday of Sangamon County; prior to his marriage, Wm. B. Fonday lived with his aunt and uncle Asa and Susan Eastman down the street from Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, IL. Also appearing nearby on Eighth Street in 1850 was a man named S. B. Opdycke, his son Thomas and daughter Charlotte. Stacy B. Opdycke and Wm B. Fondy in 1849 were partners in a Dry Goods and Grocery establishment. Mr. Opdycke traveled to New Orleans and the Eastern US procuring merchandise and trading; then an IL Legislator, Lincoln signed, with 54 others, the petition to Gov. Augustus C. French asking appointment of William B. Fonday as notary public in March 1850; W. B. Fonday was a Bank Commissioner in 1854, and helped end the 'Panic of 1854' by reassuring the public that their money was good; in June 1857, W. B. Fondy is listed as Secretary of the Sangamon Insurance Company. Asa Eastman and James A. Barret were on the Board of Directors; Wm. B. Fonday was an acquaintance of Lincoln, and they may have been friends, but politically, they were on opposite sides of the fence. William ran for IL State Treasurer in the same election (1858) in which Stephen Douglas beat Abraham Lincoln for US Senator of IL; the result of a split ticket which divided the Democratic party.]

[Died, Sunday, May 6, at 5 p.m., in Chicago, Mrs. Mary L. Merryman, aged 63 years. The news of Mrs. Merryman's death was received in this city last evening with surprise and sadness. She left for Chicago about a month ago and during her stay underwent a surgical operation. She had been in delicate health for some time and her constitution was not of sufficient vigor to stand the strain. Her sister, Mrs. Charles Ridgely, was summoned to her bedside and she sank until death came last evening. The name of Mrs. Merryman is a familiar one to Springfield people. She was the daughter of James W. Barret, who came to this city from Kentucky at an early date and the widow of the late Captain J. H. Merryman, who was for a long time connected with the Life Saving service on the coast of New Jersey. In 1852 she was married to William O. Fonday, who was an influential merchant in this city. A number of years later her husband died and she was married to Captain Merryman, about eight years ago. The latter died a short time afterward and Mrs. Merryman made her home with her sister, Mrs. Charles Ridgely on South Fourth street. She was recognized by all who knew her as a true Christian and a faithful friend. She had a large circle of friends in this city and where ever she was known she was loved and respected. She is survived by three brothers, W. T. Barret of Pekin, James T. Barret of Kentucky, and Richard Barret of Kansas City, Mo., and one sister, Mrs. Charles Ridgely of this city. The remains will be brought to this city for interment.

[George T. Fonda Hears Last Taps - Death of Distinguished Civil War Officer - Seattle Pioneer Leaves Many Friends - Lived Here Thirty-Six Years and for Quarter Century Kept the West Point Light - George Thompson Fonda, distinguished officer in the Union army during the civil war, keeper of the West Point light for nearly a quarter of a century and resident of Seattle for more than thirty-six years, died Sunday night at his home near Fort Lawton, in his 84th year. He had not been ill, but the infirmities of age had been creeping upon him during the past few years. He had not felt quite so well as usual for two or three days, and he closed his eyes and passed away like one falling into peaceful sleep. Mr. Fonda was the pioneer inhabitant of the Fort Lawton district. After he left the lighthouse service five years ago he built a cottage overlooking the sea, on a bluff north of the fort, where he could still see the flash of the beloved West Point beacon. Here with his wife he spent the happy evening of his long and useful life. All the older residents of the city knew Mr. Fonda well. His acquaintance among seafaring men naturally was large, and in the Grand Army, especially among survivors of Gen. Grant's Vicksburg campaign, he was greatly honored for his wartime achievements. Mr. Fonda was born at Fonda, N. Y. in 1830. When Fort Sumter was fired he sought to enlist in a Michigan regiment. Becoming impatient with the slowness in getting the state troops together he went with others to Illinois and then to Missouri, which was nearer to the front and where patriots were urgently needed. He was enrolled as a private in the Seventh Missouri infantry in June, 1861. In May, 1863, when Gen. Grant was in the hottest part of the campaign to open the Mississippi and split the Confederacy by means of the open river, Fonda was a first lieutenant and commander of the sappers and miners in Grant's army operating behind Vicksburg. He had been promoted a little time before for gallantry while serving in the ranks. County Auditor Byron Phelps, formerly an officer of the Third Illinois cavalry, who first saw Capt. Fonda at Vicksburg, and who was his neighbor at Fort Lawton, said yesterday: "Capt. Fonda was engineer in charge of all the building of bridges and pontoons across the streams behind Vicksburg and did marvelous work there. He was a magnificent figure of a man, full of energy, a splendid officer. No amount of labor could wear him down. I remember how he impressed me and others as we saw him on the banks of Black river, by his fine physique and his natural force as a leader of men. I knew him only slightly then, but I admired him greatly. He built a bridge across Black river in an incredibly short time, less than one day, using only debris, lumber, logs and cotton bales. The main body of Grant's army crossed the bridge the next day to attack Vicksburg. I was among the troops that rode over the Fonda bridge. Capt. Fonda's bridge building feats made him famous in Grant's army." Mr. Fonda served three years in the army and was offered a majorship when he retired. Mr. Fonda was married July 25, 1864, to Miss Cornelia Matilda Shultes, who survives him as do his two daughters, Dr. Fonda Nadeau, a practicing physician of Seattle, and Mrs. Flora Nadeau, wife of Ira A. Nadeau, manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. The funeral will take place today at 11 o'clock under the direction of Stevens post of the Grand Army. Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Tuesday, July 15, 1913]

[Seattle, Wash., June 11, 1910. Editor Register: My father, E. B. Fonda, was born January 7, 1833, on the old homestead in Fulton county, New York, near a small village known at that time as "Fonda's Bush," named for the family, but it is now known as Broadalbin. In Holland a forest was called a bush, and New York was at that time mostly forest. Father left home when quite a young man and learned his trade, that of engineer, in Meridian, Conn. He worked in New Britain several years. He came to Kansas in 1857, and was married in 1862, and remained in Kansas until 1882, when he returned to his old home in New York. A few years later he came back to Kansas and settled in Neodesha, where he spent the remainder of his life. The first Fondas who settled in the United States was Douw Fonda and a brother, who came from Amsterdam, Holland, to New York in 1642 and settled on grants of land obtained by them from the Dutch government. According to the history of the family, there were fortyfive of our family who were in the Revolutionary war, many of whom were prominent officers therein. No wonder the flag was dear to my father's heart. Douw Fonda, above mentioned, was the founder of Fonda, N. Y. Some of this old family has figured in every war since the Revolutionary. My father's brother, George T. Fonda, who is now 80 years of age and lives in Seattle, was First Lieutenant, under General Logan in the Civil war and through the general obtained his appointment as lighthousekeeper, which position he held for 24 years. The name has always been spelled Fonda. Belle Fonda]

[Presentiment - New York Times - August 2, 1883 - from the Utica Observer, July 1881 - In the year 1866, the late James S. Thorn who was the city editor of this paper, was lying on his death-bed slowly succumbing to the inroads of that fatal disease consumption. The intelligence was brought to the office that he could not possibly last more than a day or two longer. He was a man of such genial and loving qualities and had so tenderly entwined himself around the hearts of all his associates till no one could endure the thought of writing his obituary in advance of his death and yet it was quite important, if not imperative, that a proper memorial should be prepared, ready for insertion in the paper at a moments notice upon the receipt of the news of the death of our young associate. One after another declined to write the obituary, until it was finally determined that Abram Fonda, an editorial writer on the paper should perform the melancholy task. Mr Fonda accordingly began it, omitting the introduction and was engaged some time upon the work when the writer of this paragraph, who occupied a chair in front of Mr. Fonda’s table turned around and inquired how he was getting along. He responded that he was not progressing satisfactorily, that it was a harder task than he had anticipated and then went on with his work. Instantly as quick as thought could frame the expression there flashed through the brains of the writer these words. Old fellow, you’ll die before Jimmie does. And he did. That night after retiring Mr. Fonda arose for some purpose, went to an open window in his room, and fell headlong out of it to the sidewalk below. In the morning he was found laying upon the ground speechless and insensible. He died at nine o’clock in the forenoon of the day. Mr. Thorn survived until nearly noon. The hand that writes this wrote the introduction and close of the obituary of Mr. Thorn that Mr Fonda began, and also wrote the last tribute to the memory of the latter.]

He was born at Broadalbans (West Troy) NY, on December 8, 1829. He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A.I. Stacy, on March 27, 1926, at the age of 96 years, 3 months, and 19 days. His early days were spent in different parts of NY state. He attended Casnovia Seminary. During this time he was converted and united with the Congregational church of which he has always been a faithful member, but of late years has been prevented attendance by the infirmaries of age. Following his work at the seminary he taught school at Wilmert, NY. In 1852 he came to Monona, IA, where he engaged in farming. It was there that he became acquainted with Julia Anna Sheldon, whom he married at Westfort, NY, on January 10, 1861. They continued to live at Monona until the fall of 1865 when they moved to Stacyville (IA), near which place they lived and experienced the joys and hardships of the early pioneers. To them were born seven children, of which only three survive - Mrs. Charles E. Bishop, of Syracuse, IN; Mrs. Asa I. Stacy, of Osage (IA); and Frank M. Fonda, of Chicago. In 1864 they moved to Osage where in January, 1911, they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. In February of that year Mrs. Fonda died. Since Mrs. Fonda's death, Mr. Fonda has made his home with his children.] >> www.fonda.org <<

[A Despondent Farmer’s Suicide - The suicide of Garrett B. Fonda, residing midway between Hoosick Corners and Petersburgh junction, was briefly noticed in yesterday's second edition of the times. Coroner Green was summoned, and proceeded to the scene during the afternoon. Sheppard Fonda, a son of Garrett, was sent by his father yesterday morning with $30 the latter had received in his capacity of school tax collector to deliver that amount to A. Breese, another school official at Hoosick Corners. Sheppard returned about 12:30 o’clock yesterday afternoon. In response to an inquiry by the young man regarding the whereabouts of his father, a member of the family stated he had gone to the barn. Sheppard entered, and was astounded to find his father partially kneeling on a pile of hayseed, with a rope around his neck. The other end of the rope was fastened to an upper rung of a ladder leading into the loft. The cries of Sheppard attracted his mother and daughter, and the three untied the rope from the body. Dr. W. E. Putnam of Hoosick was immediately called, and pronounced life extinct. Several bruises were noticed on the face of the dead man, which it is stated were the results of a fall on the ice several days ago. A streak of coagulated blood across the face could not be accounted for. For some time past Fonda had been restless and despondent. To Mr. Babcock, a hotel proprietor at Hoosick Corners, Garrett said on one occasion: "My farm is heavily mortgaged and I can see no way of paying the debt. I sometimes feel like drowning myself." The deceased was the owner of 160 acres of land, and was overseer of highways and collector of school taxes for the district. A mortgage on his farm was lately foreclosed, and this increased his despondency. A married son resides in Bennington. Coroner Green will hold an inquest Friday afternoon at J. P.

[Personal Paragraphs - Mrs. Freedom Bishop and family of Cambridge, Nebraska, are visiting her sister, Mrs. Ralph G. Rosselle. Mrs. Bishop has also two brothers, Charles and Arthur Fonda, residing in this city. Gloversville NY Daily Leader, February 10, 1896;] [It Was a Most Agreeable Welcome Back To Her Old Home - Nine years ago Mrs. Freedom Bishop, with her husband, left Gloversville to establish a home in the west. Now the lady is back again to her Gloversville home, In reduced circumstances and surrounded by a family of six children. Life has not been a rosy one for Mrs. Bishop during the years of her residence in the west, where she lost her husband, and where her reduced circumstances finally induced the woman to give up the struggle there and return to her friends in the east. Mrs. Bishop and her children returned a few days ago, and through the intercession of friends is now established in a home on Rural avenue. Last night a pound party was held at her home, at which there were seventy-five guests, all of whom, except six are relatives of the lady, on her mother's side. An abundance of provisions and other articles needful in housekeeping were contributed by the visitors, and the lady's new career in her old home was thus started off under pleasant and auspicious circumstances. The latter sum was refused and the case was contested through the courts by the railroad company, and a decision has now been rendered awarding the full amount of the claim to Fonda. Immediately after the decision had been rendered, Fonda sent a dispatch informing his wife, Mrs. Mary Fonda, of this city, of his success, and this afternoon Mrs. Fonda started for St. Paul, Minn. [The town of Broadalbin was thrown in a state of excitement about 4 o'clock yesterday by the report that Orren Fonda had been accidentally shot and killed, or had shot himself while duck hunting on the pond at Van's Mills. Coroner Phillips of Gloversville was notified of the case by a telegram, and accompanied by a Leader representative immediately started for the scene of the fatality. Upon arriving there Coroner Phillips took charge of the body, which had been moved to the house of David Fairchild, located near where the accident happened. ... The theory that Fonda might have shot himself was quickly exploded by Corener Phillips, who examined the gun which Fonda had with him at the time of his death, and found that it had not been discharged. ... Fonda is a man about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and three small children. He resided about a mile west of Vail Mills, having moved to that place about a year ago from Batchellerville. The story of the affair as told by one of the men who were hunting with Fonda is as follows: Yesterday afternoon several wild ducks were seen in the pond at Vail Mills and a party of four started out, thinking they might be able to shoot some of them. Three of the men went in a boat while Fonda started to walk around the pond. He had gone quite a distance when he disappeared in the bushes which grew along the edge of the pond. The men in the boat had rowed within shooting distance of the ducks and one of their number shot at them with a rifle. A few seconds later Fonda was seen to stagger from the bushes in the direction the shot had been fired from and a stream of blood was flowing from his mouth. The men hastened to the spot, but before they arrived there Fonda fell, and when they reached him he was dead. Dr. Drury was immediately called and made an examination of the body and states that there is a doubt as to Fonda's death being caused by the bullet, for there is no hole in his face or body where it could have entered, and if he was shot the bullet must have entered his mouth. He was of the opinion that Fonda's death was caused by a hemorrhage of the lungs, as he has been troubled lor some time past with a serious lung difficulty. [San Mateo County Gazette: Redwood City, San Mateo County, California - Saturday Morning, January 7, 1860, Vol. 1 No.40 - New Warehouse - We are informed that the firm of Fonda & Gray, of San Francisco, have purchased land upon and in the neighborhood of the beautiful hill to the east of the county road, near Belmont, including an eligible site near the embarcadero, upon which they intend to erect a warehouse and other buildings for future use in business - with perhaps, the addition of country residences. [Oakland Tribune - 1907, July 10 - Charles P. Fonda - manufacturer's agent, Juror Foreman in Louis Glass case - March, 23, 1907 - Louis Glass, vice-president of Pacific States Telephone Co., was indicted of bribing a member of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors]

[Oakland Tribune - San Francisco, July 27, 1907 - Louis Glass Jury Stands Conviction, 8; Acquittal 4 - Reports from the Fairmont hotel are that the jury at this hour is engaged in a very vigorous discussion of the evidence. The main point of dispute, it is understood, is whether any of the officials of the Pacific States Telegraph Company other than Glass of any of the higher officials of the parent corporation, the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, displaced Glass in ordering the drawing by Auditor Zimmer of the checks on which the alleged bribe moneys was secured. A report which it is of course impossible to authenticate has it that four of the twelve jurors are standing out for acquittal and the the leader of the other eight is Foreman Fonda. So energetic is the discussion going on in the jury suite that the voices of the discontents are heard in the hallways outside. (...) The Glass jury came into court at 9:30 o'clock this morning... Clerk Welsh inquired: "Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?" "We have not" answered Foreman Fonda. "The sheriff has informed me," said Judge Lawlor, "that you desire further information. What is it?" "Your honor," replied Fonda, "we want a little information and to expedite the matter I have made a list. I would respectfully ask that the information desired be read deliberately, so that we shall not have to come back here again." (...) same paper, July 29 - After forty-seven hours of arduous and contentious work, and after a full deliberation of all the facts in the case, the jury which tried Vice-President Louis Glass with bribery... was dismissed yesterday afternoon... each member of the jury said in open court yesterday that a unanimous verdict by the twelve men was impossible. (...) The jury stood as follows: For Acquittal. ... Charles P. Fonda, 3725 Sacramento street ... Foreman Tells Why - Foreman Charles P. Fonda, speaking of the verdict, said: "I voted not guilty. It was simply a question of whether Glass paid over this money as charged. Five of us did not believe that the prosecution produced sufficiently convincing evidence..."

His art studies were begun at the School of Design in San Francisco in the mid-1880s followed by study in Paris at Academie Julian under Laurens and Benjamin Constant. Upon returning to California in 1896, he settled in San Francisco. He was professor of drawing and painting at the Mark Hopkins Institute until 1899. Fonda had a large studio in his home at 3011 Sacramento Street where he taught privately. His oil painting, House of the Four Winds, was bought by President McKinley. He began making painting excursions to the Monterey Peninsula and, after the 1906 disaster, he moved to Monterey. Painting mainly during sunrise and sunset hours, Fonda produced many luminous coastal scenes, landscapes, and views of the Monterey Peninsula. After an auto accident in 1914, his productivity declined. He died in Monterey on August 10, 1942. Hathorn of the Hathorn spring, who has been set down by all his friends for several years past as an inveterate and confirmed bachelor, was married Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at Louisville, Kentucky, to Miss Kate Fonda, a most charming young lady of that city. The bridal couple left at once for Cincinnati, where after a brief visit they will proceed to St. Louis. From the latter city they will probably cross the continent to San Francisco, and will probably reach Saratoga Springs about the middle of December. The bride has frequently visited this village, which will be her future home. They will receive the hearty congratulations of an extended circle of friends and acquaintances. [Edmund S. Fonda. Men of Vermont: An Illustrated Biographical History of Vermoneters and Sons of Vermont. Brattleboro, VT: Transcript Publishing Co., 1894, Ullery, Jacob G., comp. Fonda, Edmund S.,of Osage, Iowa, son of Stephen H. and Julia (Harwood) Fonda, was born June 3, 1839, at Rupert. Mr. Fonda was educated in the common schools and at Fort Edward (N. Y.) Institute. The usual experience of a farmer's son was that of Mr. Fonda until, in 1862, he became a book-keeper and salesman in the general store of F. Wells, Constantine, Mich., which position he resigned after two years, and entered into partnership with G. W. Waterson, of the same place, selling dry goods and groceries. He continued in the same business until April 1868, when he removed to his present home in Osage. In the fall of 1869 he sold out and engaged in real estate, and in 1875 became further engaged in the sale of farm machinery, a business he continues in at the present day. Mr. Fonda served as chairman of the railway committee of the Osage Board of Trade for five years, during the projecting and building of the Winona & Southwestern R. R., and was largely instrumental in getting the company to build to Osage. Educational matters have had a strong interest for him. He was engaged, previous to embarking in the mercantile business, in teaching district winter schools in Vermont, New York and Michigan. He has served many years on the city school board, and [p.65] as a trustee of the Cedar Valley Seminary has served several years, and is now president of the board. He is also president of the Mitchell County Agricultural Society, holding that honor for thirteen years. In politics he is Republican; has served for two years as member of state central committee. Has never sought office. Was elected mayor of the city of Osage, in 1889, receiving, without distinction of party, every vote cast but one. Was re-elected mayor in 1891, and declined a re-election in 1893. He had previously served as city councilman. In 1893 Mr. Fonda obtained a charter for himself and associates to organize the Farmers' National Bank of Osage, of which he is a director. He is now comfortably situated with a farm of nine hundred and ten acres, every acre of which is tillable, and which is situated but two and a half miles from Osage, valued at $45,000. Has a large implement trade and other interests. He married, August 18, 1864, in Constantine, Mich., Loretta E., daughter of Rulef and Charlotte A. Crego. They have three children: Lottie J., Fannie L., and Kate B.]

Fonda]; [Killed by the Empire State Express - The Hudson Register says that the Empire State Express killed Arthur Fonda, of that city, on Saturday at Stuyvesant. Fonda was a young man of twenty-one, has been employed in line work in the metropolis, and for four months past has been connected with the workers on the block and switch system of the New York General Road. Saturday a wire was being laid to operate a switch from Tower No.96. Fonda was walking north on the north-bound track and about 150 feet above the Stuyvesant station. A worker named Kelly walked ahead of him perhaps forty feet, going in the same direction. A freight train was passing south on the other track, and co-workers south of these men saw the Empire round the track and ran and shouted to Fonda when they realised that he seemed unaware of its approach. Kelly happened to turn and see the express just before it struck Fonda, and he threw a boot from his hand at Fonda to warn him. It did attract his attention and he turned... about, but it was too late, and the train struck and threw him a great distance. Deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. He had been a workman in the furnace of B. Arnold & Son. On Thursday morning last, while he was standing at the furnace door, a piece of sand was thrown at him, which he supposed was cast by a young man named John Fonda, who was also employed in the furnace. He went into the shop where they had some words, after which he took up a rammer, an instrument used for pounding sand, but put down again, and then struck at Fonda with his fist several times but hit him only once, clinched and threw him when he was taken off by another person. He got up and turned away, when Fonda seized a shovel, said 'I will split your brains,' made some motions to strike while Dody was standing with his back to him, and then gave a blow, hitting Dody with a shovel on the left side of the head, over the ear, knocking him down, and fracturing his skull so badly that he died on Saturday evening. Dody was a single man, aged about 30. Fonda is a minor, aged about 18. From the time the sand was thrown, until the fatal blow was given, only some two minutes elapsed. Fonda has been committed to prison to answer. Po'keepsie Telegraph 1849-06-12 Hudson River Chronicle] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Off For Mexico - Mr. Fonda ventures for Meeting of the Southwestern Tariff Committee From New Orleans. Mr. A. C. Fonda, assistant general freight agent of the Santa Fe, accompanied by Mrs. Fonda, left yesterday afternoon for New Orleans, where they will take passage this afternoon on the steamer City of Mexico for Vera Cruz, Mexico. Mr. Fonda is a member of the Southwestern tariff committee, and this committee will meet in New Orleans today and go on the City of Mexico to Vera Cruz. Meetings of the committee will be held on board the steamer and also in the City of Mexico after the party arrives there. A report having been circulated to the effect that the steamer City of Mexico will not sail from New Orleans until Monday and that the members of the Southwestern tariff committee would go to the City of Mexico by rail rather than by water. Mr. Fonda on Thursday telegraphed to New Orleans to find out if the reports were true. He was advised by wire that the City of Mexico would sail on Saturday, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Mr. Fonda states that the following Texas members of the committee have booked passage for this sailing: J. C. McCabe, general freight agent Chicago, Rock Island & Gulf Railway; W. C. Connor Jr., general freight agent Trinity & Brazos Valley; W. C. Preston, general freight agent Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railway; E. L. Sergeant, general freight agent Texas & Pacific Railway. Galveston Daily News, 1907-11-09]

[Part I: The House that Escaped Downtown - Mr. Amos C. Fonda acquired the property from G. L. Holt in about 1909. Although Fonda owned homes and property in Tulsa, he primarily resided in Texas. Judging from his property ownership, Mr. Fonda was financially quite well-off. Being prosperous, he provided for his never married sister, Isabel “Belle” Marie Fonda. Miss Fonda lived at 116 E. Fifth Street from 1910 until 1922 (Tulsa directories and newspaper articles show her at the address each year.) She had an active social life, attending book clubs, bible studies, recitals and hosting social gatherings in the home. The 1910 US census shows that Miss Fonda had three borders or "lodgers" who certainly would have helped with a bit of income. The 1920 Census shows her with seven lodgers, four women and three men. The women were teachers and men worked in oil, gas and accounting.

Downtown Tulsa was booming during this time. In the ten years between 1910 and 1920 the population swelled from 18,000 to 72,000. Tulsa's first high school had been built on 4th and Boston, just across the street from the Foursquare. (Perhaps this is where Miss Fonda's female lodgers taught.) The three story, gold domed building was Tulsa's only high school from 1906 through 1917. In 1917 a new high school building was erected at 6th and Cincinnati and still stands today as the Public Service Company of Oklahoma's (PSO) headquarters. The residential areas of Tulsa were spreading out in all directions from downtown. Even our neighborhood began to have some its first plated additions springing up. As a result of all these considerations, Fonda made the astute decision to sell the Foursquare and build an office building at 116 E. Fifth. In 1923 he applied for a permit to build a three-story brick building on the lot. The Sanborn firemaps indicate the three-story brick building was in place by 1924. Therefore, we can comfortably reason that the Foursquare was moved between 1923 and 1924.

Isabel moved to a large brick home next to 116 E. Fifth, (504 S. Cincinnati directly across from Trinity Church.) She never married. Mr. Fonda died in 1937 and, incidentally, his will listed 1125 S. Birmingham Avenue as one of his assets. Miss Fonda died at the age of 80 in 1940 in Dallas, Texas but death certificate lists her residence as Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Updated October 2022 653
[Died - Fonda - At this home in Whitewater, of paralysis, on Sunday, March 15, Lorenzo D. Fonda at the age of 63 years and two months. Mr. Fonda was born in the town of Fonda, N. Y., January 10, 1828. He learned the printing business and came west at an early age. In July, 1851, he married Miss Hattie Weeks at her home in Lyons of this county. For a time he conducted a paper in West Bend in this state. In 1872 he came to Whitewater and for eleven years was a valuable helper in the Register office, being foreman a portion of the time. As we pen this notice our mind reverts with sincere pleasure to those years of association. About eight years ago he suffered a slight stroke of paralysis which was repeated at intervals. Though suffering so seriously in health he continued to do such work as he could to the last. For several years he had charge of the east side school building, and a touching tribute to his genial, kindly nature was given by the children who contributed many rare and beautiful flowers to deck the casket. His last illness continued but three days and he was unconscious the entire time. Rev. A. J. Benjamin conducted the funeral on Tuesday afternoon, March 17. The burial was in Hillside cemetery. There were present the following relatives from abroad: D. D, Van Tyne and M. Ross and wives of Milwaukee, W. G. Weeks and Mrs. J. Harris, of Delavan, Miss Fanny Weeks, of Lyons. The surviving family consists of Mrs. Fonda, four sons, Earl V., of Sierra valley, Cal., Edward D., of Denver, Arthur S., of Milwaukee, Elmer E., of Whitewater, and one daughter, Hattie. All were present at the funeral but the two older sons.]

[Pennsylvania Biographical Sketches, 1868: Henry A. Fonda of Milton, President of the First National Bank of that place, and likewise one of its most enterprising and public spirited citizens, was born in the town of Fonda, New York, which took its name from one of his ancestors. After graduating from the district schools of his native place, he entered the Homer Academy at Homer, where he devoted two years to the study of the higher branches of an English education. The science of engineering possessed an attraction for him which he made no attempt to withstand, and at the age of seventeen he adopted it as a career, entering upon his labors as an assistant in an engineering car on the Utica and Syracuse Railroad. From this road he passed in a short time to the Erie, on which he held at first the position of rodman, but later that of Superintendent of Construction on the section between Corning and Hornellsville. In different capacities, some of them involving great responsibility, he remained with the Erie road about six years. Upon leaving it he engaged with the Canandaigua and Niagara Falls Railroad, as Superintendent of Construction and Repairs. After filling this post two years he removed to Pennsylvania and accepted the position of Superintendent of Construction on the Catawissa Railroad, then sixty-five miles in length. After being promoted to the position of Assistant Superintendent, and being advanced from that office to the responsible post of General Superintendent of the road, he closed his connection with it, then of five years' duration, to accept the office of General Superintendent of the Elmira and Williamsport Railroad, to the duties of which he devoted the ensuing three years. In 1864 he became Superintendent of the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg Railroad, then under the control of the Delaware and Western Railroad Company. After serving this corporation five years, he took a contract to build a railroad from Carbondale to Susquehanna. This contract completed, he took service with the Delaware and Hudson Railroad as Superintendent, and was placed in charge of all the lines of this large corporation from Carbondale to Whitehall and Rutland, Vermont. At the expiration of four years’ steady service under this company, he retired from active duty and took up his residence in Philadelphia, where he spent several years. In 1887 he removed to Milton, where he established a permanent residence. Having definitely relinquished engineering pursuits, he turned his attention to farming and stock-raising. He is now the owner of a large stock farm and fine residence on Cayuga Lake, near Aurora, New York, and also of five extensive stock farms in the vicinity of Milton. His barn on the largest farm at Cayuga Lake is one of the finest in the State. Mr. Fonda has paid special attention to the breeding of Hambletonian stock, and has raised many notable specimens of this strain. His success in his later departures as farmer and stock-raiser is extremely gratifying to him. In them he finds agreeable and interesting relaxation, which is both welcome and beneficial, after so many years of active and absorbing railroad work. Since 1888 Mr. Fonda has been President of the First National Bank of Milton, and he divides his time between his duties as a financier and his pleasures as a "gentleman farmer." His habits are those of a thorough business man, everything confided to his charge being attended to thoroughly and with the strictest regard for the interests of others, as well as respect for their rights. At a time when real estate in Chicago was low in value and on the rise, he invested largely in property in that city, and has reaped a rich reward as the result of his enterprise and sagacity in this field. After the disastrous conflagration which, in 1880, destroyed so large an amount of property in Milton, Mr. Fonda promptly loaned quite an amount of money to rebuild the place, and through this wise and timely action on his part it has rapidly recovered from the damaging blow it sustained, and is making rapid strides to a more prosperous and advanced condition. His public-spirited action in this and other matters has had a weighty influence upon the business interests of Milton, and has earned for him a reward in the general prosperity which gratifies him far more than any pecuniary advantage he may ulteriorly reap in consequence. Mr. Fonda started in life without means, and has reached his present financial independence and leading position as a citizen, solely through his own unaided enterprise and ability. So far from this fact operating to close his heart to the claims of his less fortunate and successful fellow-men, it seems to exert just the contrary effect, for it is a matter of public report that many struggling persons have been helped by his generosity, extended willingly, and from a sense of duty as a steward of wealth, rather than through any desire for notoriety or subsequent reward. Men gifted with such admirable qualities raise the standard of life and living, both for themselves and all who dwell within reach of their influence, and may justly be styled the pillars of the community--the strong supports of the higher ideas of duty and citizenship prevailing in a free and enlightened country. Every dollar of Mr. Fonda's wealth has been amassed by straightforward business operations. Disdaining sharp practices, and resolutely declining to avail himself of any mean advantages, he has, nevertheless, acquired means far in excess of many who descend to petty, if not more culpable methods. He lives in a manner commensurate with his ample fortune and social position, and not the least of his satisfactions is the consciousness that his success, with all that it implies and brings, is the outcome of an upright business life. His farms adjoining the town of Milton, containing in all seven hundred acres, are models, and upon them is to be found some of the finest stock in the State. In addition to his connection with the First National Bank, he is a Director in several other banks, and also of the Elmira and Williamsport Railroad Company. He has never held any political office, nor had any aspirations in that direction. Modest and retiring in disposition, he avoids rather than courts notoriety, although never withholding his name or influence from any enterprise having for its object the benefit of mankind. His charities are bestowed quietly, and to many he has been a true friend in times of panic and distress. Mr. Fonda married, on January 1, 1862, Miss Caroline Louisa Brown, daughter of Isaac Brown, a prominent merchant of Milton. His only child, a son, Lawrence B. Fonda, a young man of twenty-three, was educated at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, and has recently completed a tour around the world.

[Le Roy, Jan. 27 - Death came suddenly to Charles Fonda, aged 38 years, a native and lifelong resident of Le Roy. He was found dead at 1:30 p.m. yesterday in an outbuilding in the rear of F. O. Reddish & Co's medicine factory, where he was employed as shipping clerk. Mr. Fonda was ill with the grip last week and had not entirely recovered, but he returned to work on Monday. He attended to his duties as usual yesterday morning, but remarked several times to his fellow employees that he was feeling very ill. To one he mentioned the fact that his father died suddenly a few years ago, and that 12 of his relatives had died within a year. One more, he remarked, would make 13, an unlucky number. He went to the out building about 11:30 o'clock and at noon Mrs. Arthur Adams, a stenographer employed by the firm, noticed that he did not pass through the front office, on his way to dinner, as was his custom. When Mrs. Adams returned from dinner she noticed Fonda's hat lying on the floor in a back room and concluded that something was wrong. A search was instituted by Mrs. Adams's husband and the unfortunate man's body was found. Fonda was found in a sitting posture, with his head resting against a partition. He evidently had died instantly, as there were no signs of suffering upon his face and his limbs were not distorted. Coroner Stone ordered the remains removed to Steuber's undertaking rooms. As it seemed evident that death was caused by heart failure, the Coroner concluded that an inquest would not be necessary. Dr. Macpherson arrived before the Coroner was called, but he saw at once that the man was past medical aid. Mr. Fonda is survived by his mother, Mrs. Catherine Fonda of Le Roy; two brothers, Frank and Daniel Fonda of Le Roy, and three sisters, Mrs. John W. White and Miss Dorothy Fonda of Le Roy and Mrs. Alfred Grady of Buffalo. His brother, Adam Fonda, died a month ago yesterday from Bright's disease. His father dropped dead on the street 13 years ago. The storm was at its height when he alighted from an Elk Street car at Elk and Michigan streets. The distance from that point to the shipyard is more than a mile. Grady plowed through the banks of snow and buffeted the storm that had assumed all its fury near the waterfront. When he arrived at the carpenter shop he was gasping for breath. He married Eliza Jane DOCKSTADER 12 Oct 1882, in Mohawk, Montgomery Co., NY. She was the daughter of Jacob John DOCKSTADER and Cornelia WILLIAMS. Eliza Jane DOCKSTADER was born 8 Jan 1852, in Dockstader Homestead, Mohawk, Montgomery Co., NY, died 13 Aug 1931, in Fonda Farm, Mohawk, Montgomery Co., NY, buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Fonda, NY.

[After his twelfth birthday, he attended the district school near his home only during the winter and early spring of the three following years. He was needed as his father's helper on the Fonda Farm. Nevertheless his active brain spurred him to avail himself of the information contained in the newspapers and periodicals of his era. He never lost interest in current events whether at local, state, national or international level. Deeply interested in government, he did not choose to hold office but preferred to sponsor and participate in most projects designed to benefit the farmers of his community and county. Gifted mechanically, he was the first person in his area to own and operate a steam engine which moved under its own power and motivated such labor-saving devices as the threshing machine, rye-rubber, corn husker, and sawmill. Frequently a strong team of horses, widely known as "Dick", a bay and "Charlie", almost white, hauled a machine from farm to farm, not only in the immediate vicinity of the Fonda Farm, but in adjacent and rather distant ones. A staunch Republican, he was disqualified from military service during the C.W. because he had lost the sight of his left eye from an attack of diphtheria during the epidemic of 1860. Later, in 1889, while using his equipment to husk a neighbor's corn, he lost his left hand and] nearly died of septicemia. A second amputation removed the lower arm just below the elbow. Despite such handicaps, his was a useful life until early in his 83rd year. He and his wife made every effort to educate their children, assisting them through high school and college and as much as possible when each embarked upon his or her career. Both he and his wife died at Fonda Farm. They are buried, as were their parents, brothers and certain sisters in the Evergreen Cemetery, near Fonda, NY.

[Senior spotlight - Selena Schuyler takes her 99 years in stride - Fultonville - Selena Schuyler never expected to see 99, but she's making the best of it. "My mother and grandmother both died at 79, and I thought that was very old," she says from the depths of her easy chair at the Cloisterie Adult Home. Mrs. Schuyler marked her 99th birthday Jan. 25. She says she's leaving the celebration of her 100th birthday to someone else. She was born in 1885 on the farm of her grandfather, Dow Henry Fonda, across the Mohawk River on what is now Route 30A. The homestead, still standing, is situated on part of the original Dow Fonda patent purchased during the Revolutionary War. The building was owned by the Fonda family until 15 years ago. Mrs. Schuyler attended District School 5, which stood a little way beyond the farm, and the old Fonda High School, on the site of the present Kasson and Keller building on School Street. She met her husband, Earl Schuyler of nearby Sammonsville, at a church "donation" - a congregational gathering to raise funds to pay the pastor. They were married at the Fonda homestead June 21, 1911, and lived on the Schuyler dairy farm for many years. Mr. Schuyler died in 1956, and for the next 21 years Mrs. Schuyler took care of convalescents. After her sister retired as Fonda town librarian, Mrs. Schuyler lived with her on Mills Terrace for 11 years before moving to the Cloisterie in Fultonville. She is a charter (76-year) member of Caughnawaga Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and an 86-year member of the Fonda Reformed Church. Her main interests through the years have been housekeeping and needlework, including needlepoint, crewel embroidery, latchhook and crochet. She estimates she has completed 51 pieces of embroidery since 1980, but has only a few left. She does the work for her own enjoyment and the enjoyment of others, including her son and his wife, Thomas and Jeanette Lafon Schuyler of Albany, her grandson and three great-grandchildren. She also writes verses. "It's not refined enough to be classified as poetry," she says. Her most recent piece is about women as heroines. An excerpt follows: The word Woman suggests Home - That haven mankind seeks. - Here the woman becomes a wife - A Mother, in spite of all strife - In a hut, a cabin, a house - In a castle or lesser abode. Upon her great responsibilities lie... The Golden Age Sentinel, Amsterdam, Montgomery Co., NY; April 1984]

[The Water Power at Little Falls, Pt. 2 - an Address by John B. Rathbun and Benjamin and Acors Rathbun sold the same in 1862 to William B. Houghton. The Houghton estate owns in all 1-17 of the unpreferred water. Prior to the purchase of Loomis, Richard Ray Ward conveyed to Rodney Durkee the preferred right and the lot No. 8 on which he built a mill which is still standing. This is the third preferred right. The right of this priority has been transferred and is owned by the Herkimer County Electric Light & Power Company. There was in early times much litigation about the title of that lot. In 1849 the property was sold by the sheriff to Martin W. Priest who conveyed it in 1851 to Solomon and Acors Rathbun. Benjamin Rathbun sold it in 1866 together with the east part of lot 7 to Henry and D. Lansing, who sold in the same year one quarter of the interest in the property to Charles B. Fonda, and towards the latter part of the seventies, after many transactions forth and back between the Lansings and other partners, it was owned wholly by Charles B. Fonda. After Fonda's failure in 1881 the mill and privilege was sold under foreclosure and was owned by the National Herkimer County Bank. A few years ago it was purchased by James Van Allen & Company and is now occupied as a custom and grist mill and the original stone building of Durkee is leased to Becker & Company of Amsterdam, N.Y., who manufacture shoddy. There are two wheels for the grist mill under 18 foot head, both are 24 inch Camden Wheels and develop about 30 horsepower each. The wheel for the shoddy mill is a 38 inch Camden Wheel and develops 60 horsepower.]
C.B.S. Fonda, accused of forgery, suddenly departed from Little Falls in February, 1881. This was the cause of great excitement, for before his departure he had issued paper with forged signatures and borrowed money in Albany, Schenectady, Utica, Fonda and other places. It has been discovered that for the last two years he has been manager of a stage line at Aberlene, Texas, from which place he has fled to California, leaving a number of debts behind him. Glens Falls NY Daily Times 1883

C. B. S. Fonda's Case - Frank Watts, of Little Falls, who was at San Angelo, Texas, with C. B. S. Fonda, the forger, arrived home on Sunday. He brought with him Fonda's two children, and left them with their uncle, D. H. Fonda, of Fonda, Montgomery county. Watts says that Fonda went from Little Falls to Texas and for a time ran a stage line. He afterward embarked in the hotel business and was appointed deputy postmaster at San Angelo. His hotel was destroyed by a flood and he used government funds to rebuild it. The government authorities decided to combine the post-office at San Angelo with a neighboring office, and Fonda was to be appointed postmaster at $2,000 per year. An examination of his affairs disclosed the embezzlement. He was arrested and afterward released on $500 bail. His bondsmen paid the amount and it was supposed that nothing more would be done about it. About this time a resident of San Angelo received from Little Falls a photograph accompanied by the real name of Fonda, who was known in Texas as C. E. Cole. The fact was made known to Fonda. He evidently apprehended trouble from this source for he left San Angelo, probably for Mexico. Mrs. Fonda died on the night of his departure. She was buried there, and Watts, with the children, left for this state. Rome Daily Sentinel, Tuesday, November 20, 1883

Ten Eyck and family moved from IL to NE in 1878 for railroad work; Ten Eyck Hilton Fonda (1838-1923) served as a US Army telegrapher during the Civil War. Telegraphers served under the quartermaster and were mostly civilians. Although they were integral parts of the army and vitally important to the country, they were unfortunately not given the same status as soldiers. The job was perilous, and in the course of the war over three hundred telegraphers lost their lives in the line of duty. At midnight June 30, 1863, Fonda personally delivered the telegram transcription from Secretary of War Edwin Stanton to General George Meade of the Union Army warning him of the advancing Confederate Army under Robert E. Lee toward Gettysburg and commanding Meade to assume the offensive. Fonda is credited with delivering this important warning, which allowed the Union armies to prepare for the approaching Confederates. An Omaha, NE newspaper, during the fifty-year reunion of the battle of Gettysburg, named Fonda "the agent that began the conflict." Scope and Content Note One letter (July 4, 1863; 11 pages) documents Fonda's midnight ride to deliver Stanton's message to Meade. Fonda wrote: "I had orders to spare nothing, horseflesh and money was of no account if I would only deliver the message. . . . I reached [General Meade's headquarters] delivering the message to him in person taking a receipt time at 5:15. He gave me a fresh horse and an escort of 50 cavalry and I came back the same day."

Fonda, Dec. 16 - Word was received this Week by Harry Y. MacNeil of the death of his uncle, Ten Eyck Fonda, at his home in Omaha, Neb. which occurred last Saturday. Mr. Fonda was a former resident of this village, where he was born, the son of Garrett T. B. Fonda; and was for many years ticket agent at the local station. Mr. Fonda responded to the first call of President Lincoln for Civil war volunteers and enlisted, being assigned to telegraph service of the Army of the Potomac under General Meade, with whom he served throughout the war. Mr. Fonda was an honorary member of Fultonville lodge, No. 531, F. & A. M., havmg been made so a few years ago after having been an active member for 60 years. He was married to Miss Harriet MacNeil, sister of the late George MacNeil, and many years ago moved to Omaha, where he had since resided. He was prominent in the affairs of that city. Mr. Fonda is survived by his wife and three sons, Douw of New York, Hilton and Brace of Omaha, one daughter, Mrs. Oscar Garrison of Rochester; one sister, Mrs. H. B. Cushney of Springfield, Mass., who is quite ill, one half brother, Isaac Fonda, and his half sisters, the Misses Mary and Gertrude Fonda of Fonda. The funeral was at Omaha on Monday. [Miss Fonda, Relative of Founder Of Village, Notes 94th Birthday - Fonda - Miss Florence Fonda of 17 Montgomery Terrace, a descendent of the founder of the village and also related to actor Henry Fonda, is observing her 94th birthday today and enjoys recalling events of the past. She is a direct descendent of Douw Fonda, who was among the settlers who shortly after the turn of the 17th Century began to arrive in the Indian village of Caughnawaga, a site on the Mohawk River near the present Village of Fonda. Miss Fonda has at her home relics and mementos which belonged to her ancestor who, she said, "was scalped by Indians when he and other settlers came to this area from Italy." The noted Hollywood and Broadway actor, Henry Fonda, also is related to Miss Fonda, she said. He is her second cousin. Miss Fonda said that Henry Fonda's parents had been her family's neighbors before he was born. The actor was born at Grand Island, Neb. The Fonda family Bible, loaned by the actor, was displayed in the window of Homing's store in the village during the centennial celebration of the incorporation of the village held in July 1950. The village was incorporated in 1850. Miss Fonda was born Feb. 9, 1880, in Oriskany, Oneida County and has resided in Fonda since she was 5-years-old. Her father, Isaiah H. Fonda, was a railroad ticket agent at Oriskany and later worked as a freight agent at Fonda. Miss Fonda recalls with pleasure her first job doing promotion work for Knox Gelatine Corporation of Johnstown. She, along with other young girls, was hired by the founder of the company to distribute samples of Knox gelatine at New England and Pennsylvania homes. "It was a wonderful way to receive an education," Miss Fonda said of the two years she spent staying in various communities of the states to carry on the advertising work. "We visited many interesting places, including homes of famous people," she said. After World War I Miss Fonda worked as a stenographer for the former Gilbert's underwear factory in Little Falls. Her duties included preparing the payroll. She then worked for the former Glen Telehpone Company in Johnstown and then in Gloversville. Her last job, several years ago, was caring for an ill Gloversville woman. She did this for seven and a half years. "I made many interesting friends at my various jobs," Miss Fonda said. Today, handicapped by partial blindness, she lives alone and with some help from friends,} takes care of her own needs and home. She is a member of the Fonda Reformed Church. Miss Fonda's brother, Simeon Fonda, died some years ago. She has a nephew, Lauren Fonda, residing in Benson. Miss Fonda planned to celebrate her birthday quietly, "probably visiting with the neighbors," she said. Gloversville NY Leader Herald, February 9, 1974; [Miss Florence Fonda, 94, of 17 Montgomery Terr. died yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital, Amsterdam. She had been admitted Tuesday. Born in Oriskany, Miss Fonda moved to Florida in 1885 and had resided there since. He married (1) Elizabeth R. MCCLESTER 5 Jun 1851, in Mobile, Mobile Co., AL. Elizabeth R. MCCLESTER was born 1826, in Mittenague, MA, died 12 Nov 1853, in West Springfield, MA, buried in Meeting House Hill Cemetery, West Springfield, MA. He married (2) Camilla WELCH 1 Dec 1855, in Manhattan, NY. She was the daughter of Augustus WELCH and Mary Ann FUNDY. Camilla WELCH was born 2 Nov 1836, in New Orleans, LA, died 5 Oct 1859, in Mobile, AL, buried in Magnolia Cemetery, Mobile, AL. He married (3) Lydia Stickney WRAGG 31 Oct 1865, in Mobile, Mobile Co., AL. Lydia Stickney WRAGG was born 5 Apr 1840, in Mobile, AL, died Sep 1930, buried in Magnolia Cemetery, Mobile, AL.

[Charles Henry Fonde (1) was an artist, a draftsman, an inventor, and an engineer, and this in spite of being cross-eyed and with a crippled or missing right hand. His father, John Philip Fonde, died when he was a small boy, but Charles remembered him "all dressed up with sword clanking" as a member of the Columbia Guards. He also remembered being taken to hear the great men of the day while he sat quietly beside his father as he recorded the proceedings of Congress. According to a letter written by his daughter Elizabeth, Charles Henry left home at the age of 15 or 16 and joined a panorama that was fitted out on a Mississippi river boat. His job was to help with the painting and renewing of the scenes. He ended up in New Orleans, where it is believed that his uncle Charles lived and worked. Charles Henry found a job as a teacher of art at Mandeville College on Lake Pontchartrain. He was a very large and strong man (6'6") and must have looked older than his age at the time. When the school met financial reverses and he lost this job, Charles was about 20 years old and for a time he resided with some of the "most reputable creole families of the parish of St. Tammany, and spent a year amongst the sylvan retreats of Bayou Lacombe and Bonfouca" (from obituary). He later moved to Mobile, Alabama where he married his first wife, Elizabeth McClester and had his first son, Henry. He invented and patented a dredging machine designed to deepen river channels and improve harbors. (Dredging Machine, Patent No. 10.668, March 21, 1854). Fonde’s excavator or dredge was used by the city of Marseilles, France, to improve its harbor. It was also used in Nicaragua. The Civil War disrupted the income from his patent, and after the war was over he "went North only to find his patent rights invaded, and his original invention so disguised as to protect the plunderers, and after vain efforts to secure recognition of his rights, he returned to his family and the struggles of his early life." (Obituary). Ref: Ancestors of Charles Henry Fonde website]

[Elizabeth McClester died very young (age 27) of TB. We have two letters she wrote; one to her husband who she called "My dear Charley", and one to her brother, Henry. The one to her husband is dated April 25, 1853, only months before she died. In the letter she describes their son Henry as teething and asks Charley about the progress on his "machine" (probably the dredge he invented). She also speaks of years of loneliness and abuse before she met her husband (implying that she may have been orphaned at a young age): "for 14 long years I was at the mercy of strangers, first here then there, getting blows and cuffs, cross words and sour looks, with no one to care for me, no one to love me." Her brother Henry "acted nobly kindly to me and was the first that ever loved or cared for your Lizzie." She then described her love for husband: "And then I met with you and before I had an idea that you thought of me, I loved you, my Charley, a Woman never loves but once. Then came the thought that you would never love one like me. Then I was wretched, but when I found that my love was returned, I cannot describe my feelings....Oh, how happy I am with you and I feel there is years of happiness in store for us yet. You brought sunshine into my heart for I know you will always love your Lizzie." Ref: Ancestors of Charles Henry Fonde website]

   [Gun Victim's Rites Tuesday - Mrs. Cora Fonda Philips, 75, Had Been Ill; Brother, Nephew Survive - Fultonville, Jan. 30 - Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Mrs. Cora Fonda Philips, 75, who was found dead at her home here Saturday morning with a bullet-wound in her heart. Rev. Putman Cady of the Fonda Reformed Church will officiate at the services at the Dorn and Van Epps funeral home here, and the body will be placed in the vault at the Maple Avenue cemetery. Mrs. Philips' body was found by Special Investigator William J. Green of the sheriff's office, notified by Gordon S. Weeper of this village, who had become alarmed upon calling at the Philips home without getting an answer. Green said Mrs. Philips was lying in bed, a .22 caliber revolver beside her with one shell fired. Mrs. Philips had been in poor health for some time, and neighbors today recalled she had several times spoken of her decision to "end it all." Her husband, George Phillips, committed suicide a few years ago. It is thought the shooting occurred Thursday night, as the entry in the aged woman's diary for that day read, "Not feeling any too well today." Mrs. Raymond J. Van Alstyne of this village received a letter from Mrs. Phillips Friday morning. Dr. Malcolm Bouton, coroner, said an autopsy would be performed. Everything in the house was in order, and all doors were locked from the inside. Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Philips had lived alone. Survivors are a brother, William Fonda, Seattle, and a nephew, Edward Fonda of Gloversville. Mrs. Philips had resided here most of her life. Schenectady NY Gazette, Monday, January 31, 1938]

Neighbors hearing the report of a gun summoned aid, but Phillips was dead when he was reached. He had shot himself in the head with a single barrelled shot-gun. He was found sitting astride a chair in a smoke house in the rear of the home. Mr. Phillips had been in ill health for more than a year and that was ascribed as the reason for his act. Coroner O. Z. Bouton was called and he gave a verdict of suicide and ordered the body removed to the Welsh Funeral home to be prepared for burial. Funeral announcements are to be made later. Mr. Phillips was born in Gilbert Mills on November 8, 1859, the son of the late Clarence Phillips and Isabelle Chaten Phillips. He had been a resident of Fultonville for about 20 years and had lived in the same house for the last 15. He formerly was employed as a machinist in the Mohawk Silk Mills and also at the Gordon-Reyer mills. When a young man he attended MacGill college in Canada. This Triphena appears to be Edward and Catherine's 4th child, and I believe she must be the "Josephine Burwick" who is listed as the mother of Jacob and Zachariah Fonda (and wife of David Scott Fonda) on the Fonda side of our tree (I see some other family trees list David's wife's name as Josephine Burdick). Notes for Catherine M. FONDA and Charles WILCOX: [Marriages - Wilcox - Fonda - In Amsterdam, July 23, Mr. Charles Wilcox to Miss Kate Fonda, both of Fultonville. The Mohawk Register, Fort Plain NY, July 31, 1874] [An Elopement Suddenly Terminated - A sensation was created at the Union depot, yesterday afternoon, by the sudden termination of an elopement there. The eloping parties were Dr. A. L. Leach, a dentist, residing at Fultonville, Montgomery county, where it is said he has a family, and a young woman named Kate Fonda, whose parents reside but a short distance from Leach's office. Miss Fonda is but a little over seventeen years of age, and was at home from school enjoying her vacation. The dentist, it appears, succeeded in influencing the young woman to elope with him, and yesterday the couple took a Central train for this city, with the intention of proceeding South. It so happened, however, that an uncle of the young woman, Mr. Peter J. Fonda, who is largely engaged in the stone transportation business at Auriesville, in the same county, was on the train coming to this city on business. He happened to catch a glimpse of the pair, and at once suspected what was up. On the arrival of the train at the Union depot, in this city, Mr. Fonda called officer Walker, who, on the condition of affairs being explained, arrested the girl. The doctor, however, succeeded in making good his escape, a fact to be regretted. The officer conveyed his prisoner to the second district station house, where she was placed in charge of Sergt. Ryan. She was sent home last evening. Albany Express, Thursday, July 23, 1874.] [And now we are told that "the young girl scarce turned seventeen," Kate Fonda by name, who eloped with Leake, the Fonda dentist, isn't married to the fellow named Wilcox after all, but is summer resorting in Spraker's Basin, and at the same time "swearing that she will be the wife of no one but Leake," Well, well ! what next ! The Mohawk Register, Fort Plain NY, July 31, 1874] [There was quite an excitement in Gloversville last week, caused by a dentist named A. L. Leake starting off to marry a girl named Kate Fonda. Leake has been divorced, and so thought he could not marry in this state, and started with Miss Fonda for New Jersey.
They were stopped in Albany and taken back to Gloversville, where a warrant was issued, charging Leake with abducting a girl under fourteen. Kate insists she is seventeen, and while Leake was under arrest, she went and married another man. Saratoga Springs NY Sentinel 1874] [Quite an excitement was created on our streets yesterday afternoon by the arrest of Dr. A. L. Leake, who has figured in your columns twice this week, once as attempting to elope with a young girl, who was detained in your city, and again last evening in an explanatory note. He was arrested about three o'clock on a warrant issued in Fultonville at the instance of "Scott Fonda," the father of Kate Fonda, whom Dr. Leake was attempting to marry. The officer took this unfortunate marrying man just as he was entering the residence of Rev. Mr. Sexton of this village, and after handcuffing his prisoner used a good deal of unnecessary violence in taking him from place to place. The charge, we believe, was "attempted abduction," the prosecution claiming that Kate is not yet fourteen years old, while Kate herself claims to be seventeen and says she "will marry the Doctor anyway," and furthermore that "he must marry me." The accused was taken to Fonda on the evening train. It is said the girl has since married a teamster in Fultonville. Evening Journal, Albany NY, Saturday, July 25, 1874.]

[Independence, Iowa Fire - May 25, 1874 - The fire, which was the most destructive from a monetary standpoint, that had ever, up to that date, occurred in the history of Iowa, commenced at 2 o'clock, Monday morning, May 25th, in a frame building on Chatham Street, south of, and adjoining the Burr Block (about opposite to where the postoffice and barber shop is now located), and occupied by Mrs. Elis Brown, as a millinery store and residence.

A family by the name of Holt also had rooms in the second story... One particularly miraculous escape was that of Mr. Clarence Fonda, then a young boy. He had been sent to the west side of the river with a span of horses, to bring over the old fire engine. When he reached the bridge he found this impracticable on account of the wall of fire that rendered Main Street on the east side of the river a veritable avenue of flame, so he mounted one of the horses and imprudently attempted to run through the fiery furnace. As he came opposite the Wilcox Block, where the fire was raging the fiercest and the heat was most intense, it was noticed that the boy's clothes began smoking and the noble beast cringed in the scorching blast; the horse never faltered and bore him safely through, though both horse and boy were severely burned. A momentary halt and both would have undoubtedly succumbed. History of Buchanan County, Iowa, and its people, 1914, pages 575-577.

[Clarence Howard Fonda came with the rest of the family to St. Albans, Vt. in 1872. Clarence ran the Lime Quarry at what would be called Fonda or Fonda Junction. It was in the town of Swanton, Vt. about 3.9 miles from downtown St. Albans, not far but far enough if you are traveling by horse. It also gave Clarence the ability to have a separate place for his wife Mary Hall Fonda and son Howard Roswell Fonda. Mary Hall Fonda died giving birth to a daughter Mary Van Norden Fonda in Swanton, Vt (Fonda Junction) on 06/21/74. I don't know for sure but I suspect Mary and her brother Howard went to live with the rest of the family in St. Albans immediately. The rest of them lived at 43 N Main St. in St. Albans. The rest of family included: William A. and Thankful, Beecher and Frank, Gertrude and Blanche, Florence, Children: Marion and (Florence) Gertrude. It must have been crowded. There was a fire in 1895. By then W. B. Fonda had moved his mother and 2 sisters and himself to 221 N. Main St. (others had married) with individual apartments, I assume a common dining room and living room. There was also a billiard room and a ballroom. (House was divided in later years in to I think 4 homes in the area.) By 1906, W.B. moved to his wife's on Congress and Smith St. The orginal building may have been destroyed in the fire. 43 N. Main seems to be on the edge of the fire. By then my grandfather, Howard Roswell Fonda, had a job and was working downtown. He lived here for a time. When Mary V. Fonda got married she lived there with her family. The rest of the family seemed to use this house as a mail drop, because all the censuses have them all together until 1930. C. Howard had an ad for Lime Quarry ad. See attached. After he died in 1879, W.B. took over the lime quarry. (per Linda Taylor, granddaughter, Jan. 2012).]

[A Saratoga Merchant Shoots Himself - Saratoga, NY, Dec. 30 - Fernand W. Fonda, a well known merchant residing here, shot himself about two o'clock yesterday afternoon, the ball entering the upper part of his right breast, but missing the lungs. In the forenoon he transacted business as usual. No cause can be assigned for the shooting, which is supposed to have been accidental. It is not yet known whether the wound is likely to prove fatal. The Evening Telegram, New York, Wednesday, December 30, 1874]

[Ferdinand W. Fonda Dead - Native of Saratoga and One Time Member of Trustees - Ferdinand Wiggins Fonda peacefully passed away Saturday morning at his residence, 10 West 104th street, New York city. He was conscious and in full mental vigor till the last. He departed with charity in his heart for all and malice toward none, requesting that his love be sent to all his relatives and friends, expressing at the same time his faith in God, in Jesus Christ, and in life and reunion beyond the grave. The funeral services will be held in New York today. Temporary burial will be in Greenridge cemetery vault with burial in that cemetery later. He is survived by two sons, Capt. Ferdinand Walter Fonda, U. S. Army, retired, now residing at El Paso, Texas, and Murray Rawson Fonda of New York city. Mr. Fonda was born in Saratoga Springs, September 23. 1839. For many years he was, like his father, a leading merchant of this place. He was one of the pioneers in the oil industry in Pennsylvania and Kentucky, being a partner with Mr. Sherman in the famous Sherman well. He was at one time a member of the board of trustees of the village of Saratoga Springs and was actively instrumental in establishing the Loughberry water supply system. For many years he was an enthusiastic volunteer fireman, one of his duties being to ring the bell of the Presbyterian church opposite his home on Broadway in order to alarm the people and summon the fire-fighters to action. He devoted much time and money to advance this department of the village life. He has resided in New York city for the past twenty-five years and during the last ten years had been a regular visitor every season to Saratoga, which he considered the most beautiful place in America. He always believed that Saratoga should be developed along the combined lines of a health resort and recreation center. Even in Saratoga's darkest days, when the outlook was far from encouraging to many residents, he never lost faith in the future of what he considered the greatest Spa in the world. He always urged the health resort advocates and the sporting town enthusiasts to stop quarreling with each other, combine their forces and build up a greater and grander Saratoga, resting like an arch on the double foundations of their two ideals. From season to season in recent years he noted with great joy the successive improvements in and growing popularity of Saratoga. It may surprise some of his acquaintances to know that, had circumstances permitted him when a young man to devote himself to it, he would have given his life to the study of astronomy, for to him it always seemed that in the starry heavens God most fully manifested the majesty and power of the infinite and the eternal. [Two Cohoes Men Killed at Montcalm Landing - John Fonda and Richard Dwyer Struck by a Train Thursday Night - The mutilated bodies of John Fonda and Richard E. Dwyer, both of Cohoes, were found about seven Friday near Montcalm Landing, the bodies being found by a man from Fort Ann who was on a yachting trip on Lake Champlain. The body of Fonda, with skull fractured and one leg broken, was found in the water close to the railroad tracks and that of Dwyer, also with skull fractured and both legs broken, was on the other side of the tracks near the high board fence, near the Montcalm Landing hotel, that stands between the railroad and highway. The bodies were taken to John F. Gunning’s undertaking rooms in Ticonderoga, and in the afternoon Edgar Ashline, manager of the Wilcox Department store, in which both men were employed, and his assistant, Gilbert Roberts, accompanied by Undertaker A. G. Bovin came to Ticonderoga to take the bodies to Cohoes.

Fonda and Dwyer were on an excursion through Lake Champlain, given by the Cohoes Business Men's association. Preferring to go fishing, they left the excursion party at Montcalm Landing and rented a boat from George W. Stewart. They returned with the boat about 7:30 in the evening and Mr. Stewart, after handing them their fish from the boat, saw them start down the track toward the Montcalm station, about a quarter of a mile away. That was the last seen of them alive. It is supposed, however, that the men, while walking side by side between the rails, were struck by either the second section of the excursion train or the northbound passenger train due at Montcalm at 8:08. The two trains met at Montcalm, but neither engineer was aware that his engine had struck anybody. Fonda was 54 years of age and is survived by his wife and three children. Dwyer was 50

[The body of John Fonda of 215 Saratoga Street, Cohoes, was found in the water this morning near Montcalm Landing by several residents of that section, and nearby was the body of another man, Richard E. Dwyer of Cohoes. They had been struck last night by a train, possibly the second section of the Cohoes excursion. Mr. Fonda and Richard E. Dwyer of 6 Columbia Street, that city, went on the excursion of the Cohoes Business Men’s Association and Board of Trade, and got off to fish at the landing in Lake Champlain. When the train reached there last evening and their friends did not see them get on, it was thought they had missed the train and would return home later. This morning a telegram was received in this city stating that the body of Fonda had been identified by papers in his pockets. Edgar Ashline, Manager of the Wilcox Department Store at Cohoes, where both men were employed, and his assistant, Gilbert Robert in company with undertaker Arcade G. Boivin, went to Montcalm Landing this morning to bring the bodies back and complete identification. Fonda is married and is survived by a wife and three children. Of Near-Drowning Of James Beeze Of Burdett  Identity Made By Car Tabs - Efforts to locate a man who plunged into the icy waters of Lake Seneca Thursday night, April 16, and saved James Beeze, Jr., 11-year-old son of James Beeze of Burdett, have resulted in success. The man who performed the act is Alfred S. Fonda, Elmira machinist, who resides at 426 Herrick Street. Mr. Fonda after extricating the youth from the water went on his way without revealing his identity, saying that he did not desire any publicity for the act. He declared this morning that he had been hailed while returning from Burdett on the night in question and had taken the child from the water, after which he had driven home. (..) The grateful father instituted a search in order that he might give proper thanks to the rescuer. The identity of the hero was determined by the Start-Gazette through his automobile license number. Mr. Fonda is instructor of an auto class for women at the Elmira YWCA. Elmira NY Star Gazette, Thursday, April 23, 1931]

[One of the most Instructive and helpful of the many programs broadcast over WESG was that broadcast Tuesday afternoon When Alfred S. Fonda, safety first engineer affiliated with the National Safety Council, with headquarters in Chicago, gave a 15-minute talk on "Facts on Automobile Accidents."

Mr. Fonda is a well-known Elmiran, having been employed by the American-LaFrance & Foamite Corp., prior to becoming active in accident prevention work. He has also instructed classes in auto mechanics at the local YWCA. His work with school children especially has helped greatly in lessening the number injured in street accidents. He has been instrumental in organizing school traffic squads. During his talk, he pointed out any of the causes of accidents, such as mechanical defects in automobile mechanism, careless driving, children playing in the streets, carelessness of pedestrians and other factors. Then he pointed out by just careful observance of common rules of safety drivers of automobiles can avoid a great many of the accidents and cut the annual toll of human victims in half. [#20858224 Clifford I. Fonda - I did not find Clifford in Forest Park Cemetery when I looked for every inscription that I could find in that cemetery a few years ago. However, I just posted a photo of his inscription in Oakwood Cemetery, Troy. If you had found evidence that Clifford was buried in Forest Park, then he was probably moved out of Forest Park and into Oakwood Cemetery, where he now rests with his family members. There were many folks re-interred in other area cemeteries from Forest Park, which was supposed to be a grand place, but instead fell into ruin. Please move Clifford's memorial to Oakwood Cemetery, Troy. Thanks, Alice - May 01, 2017]

[George H. Fonda, Sr. - The Rev. Frank L. Squires, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle, conducted funeral services for George H. Fonda, Sr., on Saturday afternoon at the family residence, 214 Jay street. Mr. Fonda was in his sixty-fourth year. He was an employee of the Schenectady Railway Co. and had been a resident of Albany for the past thirty-five years. His wife, Rachel Countryman Fonda, his two sons, George Jr., and David, of Albany, and a sister, Mrs. Harvey Neach, of Schenectady, survive him. Burial took place in Mt. Pleasant cemetery, New Salem. Messrs. H. Neach, F. Sager, G. Barrett and H. J. Wittingham acted as pall-bearers. Arrangements were in charge of Zwack & Sons. The Times-Union, Albany, NY, Friday, October 2, 1925]

Note: George H. Fonda (1861-1925) had been previously shown as the son of Douw Henry Fonda (1830-1908) since they both lived in Canajoharie. However, they never appeared together on the same census record and the biographies for Douw make no mention of any children, but do mention his two wives. No 1870 or 1875 census records had been attributed to George, and in fact the census with Douw shows no children in those years. Isaac Fonda and Lucinda Smith had a son named George Fonda, born in 1861, who was listed in Sharon, Schoharie County in 1865, 1875 and 1880. He married Adella Plattts in 1883, but no records after that. Adella died in 1885 and George could have then married Rachel Countryman and had their first child, George H. Fonda, Jr. in 1888. This fills in the missing years on both ends. His obituary later found confirmed this by mentioning his sister, Mrs. Harvey Neach of Schenectady.

The table had for a centerpiece an oblong plat of pink roses surrounded by ferns and the candle shades and minor appointments were of the same shade. Instrumental and vocal music was enjoyed throughout the evening. [A. P. Fonda Dies Suddenly - He Passes Away In Agony From Heart Disease At The Coates - A Well Known Citizen of Kansas City, Prominent for Many Years - Something About His Life - His Famous Switch Enterprise - The Funeral - A. P. Fonda died suddenly of heart disease at the Coates hotel at 11 o'clock last night. He was well known as a real estate dealer and as the promoter of the Fonda Switch, a railway terminal on the levee, for which the franchise ordinance was pending in the city council many months. Mr. Fonda has been subject to indigestion and a year or two ago took a course of treatment for heart disease. Last night he attended an A. P. A. meeting at the corner of Sixteenth and Penn streets. Supper was served about 10 o'clock and Mr. Fonda ate oysters among other things. He began to feel badly and calling a carriage started for home. While on his way he stopped at a drug store and purchased some simple remedies and telephoned the family physician, Dr. J. D. Robinson, to meet him at his home, No. 211 Garfield avenue. He resumed his journey, but became worse so rapidly that he was forced to stop at the Coates house. Charles Davis, who was with him, led him into the lobby where he sat down, suffering fearful pain. He was soon removed to a bed in one of the sample rooms and Dr. E. T. Phillips who happened to be in the house, attended him, but help came too late and fifteen minutes after he entered the house he was dead. Mrs. Fonda was sent for and came accompanied by Dr. Robinson, but was too late to see her husband alive. Coroner Langsdale held a postmortem at Stine's undertaking establishment today and decided that an expansion of the aorta was the immediate cause of death. Mr. Fonda left two children, Guy, aged 15, and Enid, 7 years of age. Besides his realty, Mr. Fonda had a paving coal mine at Calhoun, Henry county. In this state and was a large owner in a silver mine in Colorado, which until the repeal of the Sherman law, yielded very large returns. He also owned considerable railway stock. Mr. Fonda was about ten years ago in the wholesale grocery business on Delaware street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, in partnership with the late Jarvis Johnson. He was subsequently in the wholesale commission business under the firm name of Fonda & Biddle, and also Fonda & Gump. Of late years he had been engaged in promoting large enterprises and in the pursuit of his occupation crossed the ocean many times and negotiated financial paper in London and continental Europe. He was very successful and amassed a large fortune. Mr. Fonda served in the federal army during the war and was said to have been the youngest captain in the service. After the war he represented the United States government for several years in special war department business in Europe and was much of his time in France. He grew tired of the army and returned to the United States, studied law and was admitted to the bar but abandoned this profession for business pursuits. He was a great lover of fast horses and at one time owned considerable racing stock. Arrangements for the funeral are being made today. It will probably take place Monday afternoon. Mr. Fonda was a member of the Kansas City chapter of Masons. His home, at 211 Garfield avenue, had recently been added to and rebuilt and was one of the most elegant in the city. He was highly esteemed as a friend and hundreds called today to offer condolence. 1893-11-18 Kansas City Star]

[Funeral of A. P. Fonda - The funeral of A. P. Fonda, who died suddenly at the Costes house late Friday night, will take place from the home of the deceased, at 211 Garfield avenue, tomorrow afternoon. Last evening the body was removed from Stine's undertaking rooms, where it was first taken to the family home. The funeral will be in charge of Kansas City chapter, Royal Arch Masons, of which Mr. Fonda was a member. Services will be held at the house just previous to the funeral by Rev. H. C. Stanton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Masonic services will be held at the cemetery. The interment will take place at Elmwood cemetery. Coroner Langsdale yesterday held an autopsy on Fonda's body. Death was found to have been caused by heart disease. Kansas City Times (Kansas City, MO), Sunday, November 19, 1893]

noon yesterday. He had been in the water at least a month. Authorities have not finally concluded just how he came to his death. Fonda was a chef of considerable ability and was employed by Mrs. Fitzsimons at the Grill in State st. when he disappeared. Mrs. Fitzsimmons and employees of the Grill do not believe he intended suicide the night previous to his disappearance. Fonda came here about the first of November from Syracuse in answer to an inquiry Mrs. Fitzsimmons made of the Wickes Employment Agency in Syracuse for a chef. (...) At noon yesterday barge canal workmen saw a bundle of clothing on a sandy bar in the center of the level opposite the button factory. (...) Dr. James E. Medden and Dr. Adolph Letellier preformed an autopsy yesterday afternoon. They found that death was directly due to drowning. The deep cut on the head might have been inflicted just prior to death, from its appearance. The body was removed to the vault in Restvale Cemetery and Coroner Follett began a search for the young man's relatives. [North Platte Man Senior Engineer on Nebraska Division - The current number of the Union Pacific Magazine contains a fine half-tone of J. H. Fonda of this city and the following article which the Tribune is glad to present to its readers. James Henry Fonda is the senior engineer on the Nebraska Division. He was born in Oswego County, New York, September 17, 1858. He entered the service of the Union Pacific R. R. as freight handler at Council Bluffs in November, 1875, under Capt. Spooror, general agent. At that time Major Boyer was general foreman. In March 1877, he transferred to the mechanical department at North Platte as a wiper. In August, 1878 he went to firing, and on July 1, 1882 was promoted to engineer. On February 9, 1898, he was assigned to a regular passenger run. He has been in that service for the last 25 years, and has made some of the fastest runs on record. He is still in service between North Platte and Grand Island. Mr. Fonda owns his home at North Platte, a modern one story bungalow. A son, F. M. Fonda, is an electrical engineer for the S. P. & S. at Vancouver, Wash. Another son Arthur H. is an operator for the O. S. L. at Salt Lake. Dr. J. E. Fonda, another son, is a dentist at Winnetka, Ill. A daughter, Mrs. D. H. Tarkington, lives at Wallace, Neb. She will be remembered as Miss Blanche Fonda, for several years in various departments of North Platte. Mr. Fonda has pulled some of the noted men of the country, E. H. Harrison, Jay Gould, John D. Rockefeller Jr., and many others. The North Platte semi-weekly

[Say Gas Company Liable - North Platte Couple Died of Asphyxiation; Heirs Sue - Executors of the estate of Nellie L Fonda, formerly of North Platte, asked the supreme court Friday, in a brief of 120 pages to overturn the action of the district court in dismissing their suit for $20,000 damages against the Northwestern Public Service company because of her death by asphyxiation Aug 17, 1934. Mrs. Fonda and her husband James H Fonda two years before had had a gas conversion burner installed in their old coal furnace. While the Fondas were off on a vacation their maid, the only occupant of the house was partly asphyxiated by gases from the furnace. Later, after the Fondas returned they, too, were overcome. This was Dec 20, 1933 and it is claimed that Mrs. Fonda’s death the following August was the result. The suit seeks to hold the company liable on the ground of negligent construction and inspection. The defense was that the Fondas were negligent in handling the furnace. Elmer H Smith, its superintendent, is a party defendant. Fonda was long in the service of the Union Pacific and the engineer who piloted all trains carrying the presidents of the United States. He had retired on a pension, living in a cottage. Fonda died three weeks after the asphyxiation. It was claimed that the company workmen failed to securely fasten the old cleanout plug; that this blew out under pressure of slight explosions that occur in such furnaces and allowed the gases to enter living rooms. The theory is that the company owed a duty to maintain the furnace in a safe condition. Lincoln Evening State Journal, 1937-07-02]
